VENEZUELA SAFE FROM BIG STICK.

Impetuous Action to Be Avoided by United States in Dealing with Claims Against Castro.

MUD DIRTY TO HANDLE.

Taint of Fraud Is So Strong in Demands That Intervention Might Be Taken as Act of Partisan.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Congress is not disposed to take any impetuous action against Venezuela. There is no doubt of the fact that President Castro has been more or less insolent and at times abusive. There also is no doubt that certain American corporations have been deprived of their property under color of court decisions.

Most people understand or believe that President Castro controls absolutely the judiciary of his country, and those in position to know say that the Venezuelan government undertook deliberately to "shake down" the asphalt trust.

There is abundant ground for financial claims against Venezuela. They are no more pressing now than they have been, however, and it is the belief of most of the men in congress that it would be extremely unwise at the present time, from a political standpoint if for no other reason, to provoke a naval demonstration against a South American republic for no other cause than to assert the financial and property rights of one of the most odious and corrupt corporations in the United States.

Mud a Dirty Thing to Handle.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Root have been entirely sincere in the prosecution of these claims. The corporations are American and are entitled to the full protection of the United States against the harassing exactions and robberies perpetrated if not in the name at least by the connivance of the republic of Venezuela and its dictator.

The one thing which troubles the members of congress, and particularly the senators, who are called upon to deal with the matter, is the fact that all the claims against Venezuela grow out of dealings with the asphalt trust.

There are two or three asphalt companies fighting against each other, and they make astounding allegations of corruption among themselves, so that it is difficult to see how the United States can intervene without becoming a party to this intensely domestic squabble.

The original asphalt trust long since went into bankruptcy and has been split up into fragments, each of which assumes to be "the original."

Scandals have followed the asphalt company's claims against Venezuela from the beginning.

It was asphalt which caused the removal of Minister Bowen, after a severe dressing down by Secretary Root, and it was asphalt which ultimately destroyed the official value of Assistant Secretary of State Loomis.

Pitch Lakes Seas of Trouble.

Every claim now being pressed actively against Venezuela, or, at least, every claim of any importance, is more or less closely related with the asphalt business and the celebrated pitch lakes of Venezuela.

It is no wonder that the members of congress shrink from jumping into this sea of asphalt. They have been inundated with briefs and papers from different parties to claims, some of them advocating instant armed intervention, and others declaring that President Castro had been entirely right in seizing the New York and Bermudez property and turning it over to its rivals.

The political managers in congress are particularly stirred up over the affair and say it would be suicide to appear to the people in case of an attempt at armed intervention for the sole purpose of collecting claims against a bankrupt South American republic for an asphalt trust which has levied toll upon every municipality in the United States and which ruined thousands upon thousands of its stockholders when it went into prearranged bankruptcy.

Summary of the Claims.

The actual claims against Venezuela have been roughly summarized as follows:

1. Indemnity of $25,000 for the expulsion of A. F. Jaurett from Venezuela.
2. For an arbitration to determine whether the contract rights of the Orinoco corporation have been destroyed or injured.
3. For reopening and resubmission to new arbitration of the entire claims of the Orinoco Steamship company already arbitrated.
4. For an international arbitration to investigate the rights and alleged losses of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company.
5. That the Venezuelan government shall either withdraw its opposition to the alleged right of the United States and Venezuela company to carry on its business under the Critchfield concession or that the rights of the company shall be determined and the damages fixed by arbitration.

There are some minor claims, of course, which are entirely separate from these, but all of the five principal cases are more or less concerned with the asphalt trust and its alleged wrongs at the hands of the government of Venezuela.

Jaurett Case Reviewed.

In the first place Jaurett was the editor of a semi-official newspaper in Caracas, and also an American press correspondent. He was employed as a literary agent by the asphalt trust, and claimed at one time that $5,000 was due him for this work.

Subsequently he attacked President Castro and was declared to be an undesirable inhabitant and was expelled from the country.

Venezuela's right to make expulsion is admitted by the state department, but it is contended that the method was unfair, and that Jaurett was deprived of his property and liberty to such an extent that he is entitled to damages.

Jaurett was a former officer of the French army who is said to have become a naturalized citizen of the United States.

The claim of the Orinoco corporation grows out of original concessions granted by President Gusman Blanco a quarter of a century ago to Horatio R. Hamilton to exploit the natural resources of the state of Bermudez.

Litigation, scandal, and intrigue have marked the history of this original concession, followed as it was by those of Fitzgerald and Turnbull a few years later.

TIE VOTES BEAT ANTI-BET BILLS.

Hughes Will Investigate Plot Against Measures in Which Women and a Poker Game Figure.

SENATOR IS SUSPECTED.

New York Governor May Call an Extra Session to Prevent Gambling on Racetracks.

Albany, N. Y., April 8.—[Special.]—After one of the hardest fought battles ever witnessed in state legislative circles, shortly after 5 o'clock this evening the two bills to prevent race track gambling were practically killed by the senate by a tie vote of 25 to 25.

The vote on the bill amending the penal code, making race track betting a felony, and a bill repealing the Percy-Gray betting law was the same.

Report Senator Is Kidnaped.

A spectacular and sensational feature was added by Senator Fancher, a republican of Cattaraugus, not being in his seat. As the time went by Senator Raines grew nervous.

Senator Fancher could not be found in his hotel or his club.

Instantly the air was charged with rumors that enemies of the Agnew-Hart bills had kidnaped him.

Messengers were dispatched to find him. Senator Raines declared there would be no vote taken until Senator Fancher appeared. Recess was taken at 2 o'clock, and shortly afterward Senator Fancher appeared, laughing and rubbing his eyes.

Hughes Will Investigate.

Gov. Hughes' friends tonight say methods which were employed to prevent Senator Fancher from attending the session and keep him from voting in favor of the bills will be investigated. Through this means the governor hopes to be able to obtain a clew to the methods used by enemies of the measures.

The plot to keep Senator Fancher from voting in favor of the bills shows how desperate the enemies of the bills were. Senator Fancher belongs to a group of senators who enjoy life in Albany.

For some time enemies of the anti-racetrack bills have been laboring to get him to come over to their side. A week ago when a vote on an amendment to the penal code bill was taken, until the last minute he was counted upon to vote against having the bill take effect immediately, but he disappointed the racetrack people.

Counted on His Vote.

Last night it looked as if the bills would have twenty-six votes if Senator Fancher remained in attendance at the session. Senator Cassidy's position was unknown, neither side being able to count on him for support.

When the senate convened this morning at 11 o'clock Senator Fancher was not in his seat. This attracted no attention until later in the morning, when it became noised about that Senator Fancher was "ducking" the vote on the bills. Senator Raines became worried and insisted that Sergeant at Arms Hotaling make every effort to find him. The sergeant at arms went to Senator Fancher's hotel and his club without finding any trace of him. While the sergeant at arms was searching for Fancher enemies of the Agnew-Hart bills were anxious to have the bills come to a vote without debate. But Senator Raines would not listen to this.

Say He Won $2,000 at Poker.

Friends of the missing senator were implored to locate him. Finally one friend recollected that about midnight Senator Fancher had received a telephone message. He was invited to go to a house in Clinton avenue which a few senators and senate clerks frequent in this city. Friends made a hurried search and found the senator at the house. He had spent the night, it is stated, in the company of three women and some men. They had entertained him by playing poker with him, and it is hinted that the senator had won $2,000.

Senator Fancher retired and when he woke up he looked at his watch. He found that he had plenty of time to get to the capitol, he thought. Senator Raines had secured a recess at 1:30 o'clock to hold for an hour, and he intended to find Senator Fancher if such a thing was possible.

Watch Was Set Back.

Senator Fancher looked at his watch when he reached the senate chamber and it showed the time to be 8:30 o'clock. The clock chamber showed that it was after 2 o'clock. His watch had been set back, and there is every indication that it had not been intended to let him get to the senate in time to register his vote for the bills.

A republican senator, who voted against the Hart bills today, is held responsible for the plan to prevent Senator Fancher from getting to the chamber.

To Gov. Hughes the defeat of the bills is a hard and severe blow. He indicated his disappointment in a short statement as soon as he was acquainted with the result of the vote.

He has labored incessantly to arouse public sentiment, and he has done all he could to bring the senators to his view.

Fight Not Ended, Says Hughes.

"It is impossible to believe," he said, "that the people will permit the plain mandate of the constitution to be ignored. The contest is not ended. It has only begun. It will continue until the will of the pepole has been obeyed."

It was Senator Grattan of Albany, acting under orders from William Barnes Jr., the Albany county republican boss, who defeated the bills. Had he not voted against them the bills would have passed by a comfortable majority, for then there would not have been more than two or three republican senators who would have voted in the negative.

While there is still danger of the bills being called up and passed before the legislature adjourns its regular session on April 23, the possibility is such a remote one that no fear is entertained of that event occurring.

Extra Session Expected.

Every one expects Gov. Hughes will call an extra session in an effort to secure the passage of legislation that will repeal the Percy-Gray law. Should it not be passed at this session the governor may order a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the late Senator Francho's death in the hope of getting the necessary twenty-six votes for the bill.

Never have the senators had so much pressure brought to bear upon them to vote for or

EXPERT WITNESSES IN PERIL

Grand Jury on Trail of Many Lawyers and Doctors.

PERJURY IN DAMAGE SUITS?

City Attorney Gives Evidence and Expects Indictments.

Evidence against dishonest doctors and lawyers, whom City Attorney Caverly charges with conspiring to mulct the city out of heavy damages in alleged personal injury suits, was laid before the grand jury yesterday.

Sufficient evidence to indict a west side physician was submitted to the jurors, but his name is withheld, for fear he may leave the city, if warned of the indictment.

Other evidence was presented against an attorney and a "runner"—one who gets damage cases for lawyers—and it is expected indictments also will be returned against both.

This is only the beginning of a crusade against crooked lawyers and doctors, whom the city attorney asserts have mulcted the city out of thousands of dollars in the last few years. Evidence also will be given to the grand jury against persons who claimed damages for personal injuries after being "schooled" by conspirators.

Caverly Predicts Indictments.

"Fake damage suits, in which the city has been mulcted out of large sums of money, are serious matters with which we have to contend," said Mr. Caverly last night. "Investigators from my office conferred with State's Attorney Healy today, after which they went before the grand jury and gave evidence in some cases that recently were brought to my attention. The cases are of the most flagrant nature, and I have no doubt that indictments will be returned against several persons for conspiracy and perjury.

"One case is that of a west side doctor who is well known in his neighborhood and has a large practice. He committed perjury in a personal injury case, and I think we will be able to prove it.

"Although the jury that tried the case returned a verdict absolving the city of blame, the state's attorney intends to prosecute the doctor for his part in the conspiracy.

Other Scalps in Danger.

"It is an easy matter for two or three persons to get together and manufacture a damage case against the city. All that is required is a defective sidewalk. Then it is easy to find a victim, a conscienceless doctor, and a 'runner'—the man who takes the case to some lawyer. In some instances the lawyer is an innocent victim of the conspiracy. This is how the thing is worked.

"The 'runner' is the man who frames up the matter. First of all he must find somebody who will become the victim of an alleged accident. After schooling the victim in the art of lying and sticking to it, the 'runner' then takes his pupil to the scene of the accident.

"Two or three boards are out of a sidewalk somewhere, and this is the spot selected by the 'runner' for his pupil to fall into.

"On the day following the alleged accident the 'runner' goes to the scene and talks with people living in the vicinity as to the defective condition of the sidewalk. In this way these people are dragged into the conspiracy as innocent victims.

"The crooked doctor testifies that he has been the physician in the plaintiffs' family for years, and that the 'victim' was in good health prior to such a date, but that now he is a confirmed invalid."

EARLE WEDS HIS SOUL MATE

New York Artist and Affinity Married in Italy.

HIS WIFE GETS A DIVORCE.

Will Not Return to Monroe, Where Mob Attacked Him.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—Disclosure was made in this city tonight that Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Pinney Earle have been divorced by the courts of France and that Mr. Earle has been married in Italy to Miss Julia Kuttner, whom he has often described as his "soul mate."

Bride's Brother Talks.

The bride's brother at his home, 217 West Seventy-eighth street, said tonight that his sister expects soon to present her husband with an heir and that Mr. and Mrs. Earle will be remarried under some form of ceremony in this city, where they intend to live.

It was said Mr. Earle will not return to his country place, Quaker Hill, in Monroe, where he was attacked by a mob last September.

Earle's presence is necessary in this city to claim a bequest of $50,000 left by his grandmother.

Accompanied by her child, a boy 4 years old, the first Mrs. Earle is in Paris with members of her family. She is a daughter of W. C. Fischbacker, a publisher, who lives in Paris. She obtained a decree of divorce from her husband in that city two weeks ago. After the divorce was granted Mr. Earle went into Italy, where he and Miss Kuttner were married.

Met in Settlement Work.

Mr. Earle, who is a son of the late Gen. Ferdinand Pinney Earle, was married to his first wife in 1903.

While engaged in settlement work in New York he met Miss Kuttner and a climax in his domestic affairs was reached when they prepared a letter in which they set forth that they were "soulmates."

Mr. and Mrs. Earle agreed to part and the latter went home to France.

EXPRESS EMPLOYE ADMITS $1,000 SHORTAGE IN BOOKS.

Robert E. A. Munse Surrenders Himself to Police and Says He Spent Money Drinking and on Women.

Robert E. A. Munse, who says he was cashier for the Wells-Fargo Express company in Chicago, walked into detective headquarters yesterday morning and surrendered himself with the remark: "I am $1,000 short in my accounts.

An investigation is said to have revealed that auditors for the Wells-Fargo company had found a shortage in Munse's books and that the amount was about $1,000.

Munse told the police he had been stealing for several months and that he had spent the money on women and in drinking. He said he knew his shortage would be discovered when the books were examined and preferred to give himself up rather than wait for a warrant to be served.

COURT ERASES MARK OF CAIN

Wipes Out the Stigma Placed on Slayer 26 Years Ago.

THREE MEN GUARD SECRET.

Justice Talks of Old Crime, but Shields "Culprit's" Whereabouts.

Kingston, N. Y., April 8.—In some western city, the name of which is scrupulously guarded, lives a prominent and respected citizen from whom the Supreme court of New York today removed the stigma of an indictment which was returned twenty-six years ago, and charged John Taylor with the death of Thomas Murray.

The present home of Taylor and the name under which he has since lived, married, and risen to the head of a big mercantile establishment are known to but three men here and his secret will be kept.

Taylor's identity was made known by him to the court after a search for him which covered two continents and took several years had been abandoned.

Throwing himself upon the mercy of the prosecutor, Taylor invited an inquiry into his life for the last quarter of a century. This was made and it proved so satisfactory that former Supreme Court Justice Clearwater, who as district attorney obtained the indictment against Taylor, declared that it would be gross injustice to reveal the man's new name.

Justice Explains Act.

Today Justice W. C. Howard of Troy, sitting in the Supreme court, dismissed the indictment against Taylor after it had been shown that all possible witnesses against the defendant were dead. Justice Clearwater, who personally investigated the case, and the present district attorney, W. A. Cunningham, seconded the action of the court.

Only Justice Howard, Mr. Clearwater, and Mr. Cunningham have knowledge of the facts in the case.

Story of the Tragedy.

The killing of Murray and the subsequent pursuit of Taylor created great interest. Murray was killed at Port Ewen, Ulster county, on an election day, when there had been a riot at the polls. Taylor and Murray were unfriendly for various reasons.

They belonged to opposing political parties and loved the same girl. On election day they quarreled at the polling place and then fought on the street.

A brick with which Murray's skull was cracked is still in the office of the district attorney. Several days later Murray died and Taylor fled.

In 1882 a grand jury indicted Taylor for manslaughter in the first degree, and a search for him was instituted. He was traced to Pennsylvania, where it was alleged he had allied himself with the Mollie Maguires.

He escaped from the country, but was traced to the home of his mother in Ireland. He was apprehended, but again escaped. Later he returned to America and settled in the west.

WIDOW SAYS SHE SEEKS DEATH.

Swallows Headache Powder Three Weeks After Her Second Marriage.

Mrs. Louise Hodson, 338 West Ohio street, was taken severely ill in the office of the Berieter Express company, Wabash avenue and Jackson boulevard, last night after she had swallowed a powder. When a physician asked Mrs. Hodson what she had taken she replied: "A headache powder. I want to die." She was taken to St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Hodson was married three weeks ago, and her husband is employed at Joliet, Ill. Her first husband died some time ago.

INTERURBAN CAR GRINDS UP WOMEN

Four Mourners Returning from a Funeral Scattered Along the Third Rail Route at Bellwood.

DRIVER HURT; EXPIRES.

Carriage Struck Squarely and Pushed Along Till It and Contents Are in Fragments.

Four women were instantly killed and one man fatally injured when a west bound Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric car struck a carriage two miles west of Maywood at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The man, who was driver of the carriage, died four hours later in the Maywood Union hospital without recovering consciousness.

The carriage was returning to Chicago from Oak Ridge cemetery, where the burial of Charles A. Otto, a salesman, who lived at 640 Fulton street, had taken place. The women victims were relatives of the Otto family.

The accident occurred at the end of West Madison street, at the intersection of the railway's right of way and the Butterfield road in Bellwood. The carriage, a covered vehicle, had partly crossed the tracks when the west bound car, running at a high speed, struck it. The driver was thrown from his seat to the side of the track and sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries. The four women were ground literally to pieces under the wheels of the car.

The Dead.

DRESSEL, MRS. CHARLES A., age 38, wife of clerk for Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co.; lived at 709 North Lawndale avenue.; left one child.

NEWMAN, FRANK, driver for Axtell Livery company, 416 West Randolph street; lived at 420 West Monroe street; died in Maywood Union hospital at 9:30 o'clock. Wife survives him.

POTTHOFF, MRS. JULIUS, 38 years old, wife of switchman for Northwestern railroad; lived in Hamlin avenue; five children survive her.

ROHLOFF, MRS. FRED, aged 65; left husband (who has retired from business) and six grown children; residence, 373 Hastings street.

ROHLOFF, MRS. PAUL C., aged 38, wife of a clerk at 700 South Oakley avenue; resided at 637 Loomis street.

The Injured.

OLSON, JOHN, motorman of car; face, hands, and arms cut severely by broken glass in front of the car; spine injured when thrown against back of platform by shock; taken home; condition serious.

At the place where the accident occurred the interurban tracks curve sharply to the south. No trees or houses, however, interfere with the view of the right of way in either direction from the road.

Two Carriages Linger Behind.

The carriage which was struck by the car was one of the last two of the returning funeral cortége. These two had lingered behind the others and the occupants had stopped for refreshments at a roadhouse near the cemetery.

The occupants of the other carriage, which was ahead, did not know at once just what had happened, and so the manner in which the accident occurred was learned from chance spectators. Marshal F. W. Rode of Bellewood, who from a distance saw the accident, told how it happened.

"The rig was being driven slowly towards Chicago," said he. "It turned from Butterfield road to Madison street toward the railway crossing. A moment later the interurban car swung around the curve. The horses had passed the tracks and the body of the vehicle was directly in front of the car when the collision occurred. For a moment there was a blur of dust and I noticed some one lying beside the right of way, the horses, apparently uninjured, were still in the road, and the car was running down the track pushing the wrecked body of the vehicle in front of it. It stopped quickly, but not until the carriage had been ground up beneath the wheels. I hurried at once to the place."

Reaches Scene of Wreck.

Mr. Rode was the first person to reach the scene of the accident. He was quickly joined by Druggist T. H. Rowlands of Bellwood and Dr. W. C. Lovejoy.

Newman was found to be still living and was taken to a drug store and later was removed to the hospital.

The few passengers on the car were panic stricken, but did not leave their seats. Motorman Olson was badly hurt, but no one else in the car was injured.

Marshal Rode at once proceeded west on the track to find the fate of the occupants of the carriage. For a distance of 500 feet from the crossing to where the car remained standing parts of the bodies of the four women were found scattered along the sides of the tracks. The rails for the whole distance were covered with blood.

To one side a head would be found. On the other side a foot, a hand, or a finger. The bodies of the women were cut into hundreds of pieces; their clothing torn to shreds.

Human Fragments in Baskets.

So badly mutilated were the bodies that for a time no effort was made to identify them. Policeman L. H. Sweeney of the Maywood station, with Capt. J. A. Kamphouse, arrived at the crossing shortly after the accident. Policeman Sweeney secured from nearby houses several market baskets, and in these the pieces of bodies were placed.

Crowds attracted by the accident quickly left when they viewed the grewsome sight. From Wheaton a man presumably connected with the electric road telephoned Senne & Grube, the undertakers at 600 West Lake street, Maywood, and told them of the accident. Ambulances were sent at once to the crossing and the bodies were taken into the suburb. Several persons at Maywood attempted the identification, but there was no chance of this, even if they had known the women, because of the condition of the bodies.

Return to Seek Missing Ones.

In this carriage ahead were Edward J. Ruhnke and Mrs. Fred J. Rohloff, son and daughter of the oldest of the women killed. When they arrived at home and the others did not appear they gave the alarm to other relatives.

Soon five men of the families journeyed to Maywood to make certain of their suspicions that the missing women had been killed.

They were not shown the fragments of bodies, but were able to make identifications by the hats and pieces of clothing picked up at the scene of the accident.

The relatives who went to Maywood were Fred Peters, 637 Loomis street, a brother of Mrs. Paul Rohloff; Fred Rohloff, son of the elder Mrs. Rohloff and brother of Mrs. Dressel; Paul Rohloff, husband of Mrs. Paul Rohloff; J. H. Carstens, 921 Spaulding avenue, son-in-law of the elder Mrs. Rohloff; and finally Julius Potthoff, husband of Mrs. Potthoff.

Potthoff Is Overcome.

Potthoff was crying when he reached the undertaking establishment and started to enter the room in which fragments of the bodies had been placed. A policeman caught him by the arm and requested him to stay outside.

"I will go in! You shan't stop me!" cried the agonized man.

Finally he did get in, but was hurried out again. Then he collapsed and was taken to the Maywood Union hospital.

Potthoff had attended the funeral of Otto, who was a brother-in-law of Mrs. F. J. Rohloff, but had hurried back to the city by street car to his work as a switchman before the carriages started back. When he got back to Chicago he learned of the accident in a way similar to that of the other relatives. With the exception of Potthoff, none of the relatives of the persons killed succeeded in entering the morgue.

Women in State of Collapse.

Mr. Carstens, a relative of three of the women who were killed, said the news of the accident reached the family in the city through Mrs. F. J. Rohloff and her brother, Mr. Runke, who were riding in the carriage ahead of the one struck by the train.

"Both of them were in such a state of grief and collapse over the fatalities that we had difficulty in understanding what had happened," he said.

"I gathered from Mrs. Rohloff that when she heard the crash of the collision and her carriage stopped, she got out and went back. She saw two women's hats and remembered no more after that until she reached home.

"Runke's story is much the same. He, too, went back to assist, but was overcome by the terrible shock."

Driver Stopped, Then Started.

"Motorman Olson, who suffered severe injuries, is an old and experienced motorman and has been employed by the road almost since it started," said B. E. Merwin, superintendent of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago company, later. "Olson first saw the carriages at the crossing when he was about 500 feet east of it. He was going at about fifty miles an hour before. He slowed down and whistled for the crossing. The driver of the carriage which was struck stopped his team and evidently decided not to cross in front of the train. When he saw this Olson again put on the power. When the car was within 200 or 250 feet of the crossing it seems that the driver took a notion to pass in front of the train. Olson quickly applied the brakes and reversed the power, but it was too late to avoid striking the carriage.

Team Runs Away Unhurt.

"The driver started to whip up the horses and Olson pressed on the sand tube, thus stopping the speed of the car a great deal. The heavy car struck the carriage in the center and tore off the whiffletrees and pole, and the team ran away and was caught in Maywood. The carriage was ground beneath the heavy car and its occupants strewn along the tracks. When the car was finally stopped Conductor Simpson hurried to the front, where he found Olson bleeding from innumerable cuts on the face and hands. His hands were still on the brakes and he was pinioned against the wall of the car, which was badly wrecked. He was extricated by the conductor and several passengers.

"From what I can learn it was the stupidity of the driver of the carriage that caused the accident. He hesitated and then started across the tracks after Olson had again put on the power.

"The fire which was started soon after the wreck was caused by a tire getting caught in between the girder and third rail which caused a short circuit.

"All the wreckage was taken by the undertakers and they have charge of it. Our company notified the Maywood police of the accident and we did all in our power to assist the persons in the wreck."

Funeral in Union Park Church.

The funeral of Mr. Otto, which ended in the death of five persons, started at 10 o'clock in the morning from his late home and was in charge of members of the Union Park Masonic lodge. The carriages were driven first to the Union Park Congregational church, Ashland avenue and Washington boulevard, where services were held by the Rev. Frank Newell White, pastor of the church, who was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Keller. Then the body was taken to Oak Ridge, West Twelfth street and St. Charles avenue, Bellwood.

ASKS FOR MORE CARE ON "L."

Patron of the South Side Road in Letter Complains of Employes' Inattention.

A patron of the South Side Elevated road has written to the manager of the line complaining that the motorman must have known that there was something wrong with the car that was wrecked long before the accident. He said that he found that the track showed that something had been dragging after Indiana avenue was passed. His letter in part follows:

"One of the injured men stated that he quit reading his paper because of a queer movement of the car. Why didn't the guard and motorman notice this?

"If more care is not exercised by your men you will have a bad accident at the curve on Sixty-third street. This curve is entirely too sharp and some of the men hit it at a speed of from ten to twelve miles an hour, whereas four miles an hour is too fast.

"Another thing I want to protest against is the locking of the doors on the rear end of the trains north bound."

The writer says that he does not want to enter a general complaint, as he believes most of the employés are careful.

FARWELL AFTER SALOON MEN WHO OPENED PLACES TUESDAY

President of Law and Order League Writes Letter to Mayor Demanding Revocation of Five Licenses.

In a letter to Mayor Busse yesterday Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, demanded the revocation of the licenses of five saloons in the loop district that he found open during election hours last Tuesday. The saloons are:

Morrison Hotel buffet, Madison and Clark streets.
Fred Potthast, 63 Van Buren street.
McGinty & O'Brien, 87 Jackson boulevard.
M. D. Flanigan, 85 Dearborn street.
Meyer Saloon and Restaurant, 47 Van Buren street.

The letter reached the city hall after Mayor Busse had gone for the day, but he said he would have the complaint investigated today.

The licenses of Arthur Ware for saloons at 238 West Lake street and at 16 North Green street were revoked by the mayor during the day. The revocation followed a report from Inspector McCann that on March 28 Alexander Czniihan had been robbed in the saloon at 238 West Lake street. Assistant Chief Schuettler recommended the revocation.

W. L. Mulvihill, secretary of the Englewood Law and Order league, secured warrants for the arrest of five saloon keepers on the charge of keeping open Tuesday. The list included E. W. Ryan, 711 West Seventy-ninth street; Peter McCarthy, 6858 Green street; Barney Coffey, 6358 Halsted street; John R. Reilly, 1532 West Fifty-third street, and L. Hamilton, 5756 State street.

DENEEN RAKED BY YATES' FIRST GUN.

Governor Bitterly Attacked by Predecessor in Opening Campaign Speech.

ASYLUM QUIZ IS WEAPON.

Tax Levy, Increased Expenses, and Idle Money in State Criticised.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Woodstock, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Richard Yates tonight, in the city hall of Woodstock, opened his campaign for reëlection as chief executive of the state. It was the first of 300 meetings to be held throughout the state before Aug. 8.

Mr. Yates arrived in town accompanied by a staff of political lieutenants headed by Speaker Edward Shurtleff of the Illinois house of representatives. Mr. Shurtleff presided at the meeting, and among the men who sat on the platform back of Yates were State Senator Len Small, David Frank, County Judge D. T. Smiley, G. S. Rushton, Henry Dobler, United States Marshal L. T. Hoy, Representative Guy Bush, and Circuit Judge Donnelly.

Mr. Yates had a 10,000 word set speech and a trunkful of documents to back up his assertions. Judging from the breezy start he made and the freedom with which he toyed with such words as "canting hypocrites," "sham reform," and "shameless inefficiency," as applied to Deneen and his administration, some fur will fly before election.

Says He Heads Reform.

He admitted frankly he thought he had made a "pretty good governor," but that "he had made some mistakes during his term in office and would make a better governor now."

The hall was filled to the brim, and when Mr. Yates asked the people what they thought of him as captain of the ship again, he received encouraging applause.

As the chief reason why he should again be made governor, the speaker said he was on the top of a swell of tremendous protest against the present administration. He confessed he had expected better things of Gov. Deneen, but declared the last half of the present administration had been too shameless and extravagant to admit any excuses.

Makes Charge of Graft.

Gov. Deneen was attacked for allowing a big tax levy, for increased expenses in all departments of the state government, and for "failing utterly in his sham promises of reform and retrenchment." Mr. Yates read figures of comparative expenses and showed that $3,000,000 has been lying in the state treasury most of the time. He added:

"I charge that there is only one reason for this, and that is to give some state treasurer a chance to loan out part of this money for himself."

The former governor claimed credit for first urging a direct primary law, and said Deneen had violated its spirit and was forced into action only by popular sentiment.

The investigation of the state institutions by the legislative committee furnished a choice morsel for Mr. Yates. "The committee," he said, "has pricked an imposing bubble. Inhumanity and inefficiency on the part of Deneen appointees in the institutions which care for our helpless ones have been shown to exist in a shameless degree.

"The only answer to these charges," he continued, "is that the state legislature has not provided enough money, and that is no answer at all."

Mr. Yates charged an elaborate spy system exists among the employés of the state institutions, holding up the Dr. Hook case as a vicious example.

He then went out of his way to criticise Rabbi Emil Hirsch of the board of charities. In this connection he said: "We always have thought that this man was as the sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal, but we know it now."

"Fake Reform" Attack Basis.

Mr. Yates opened his attack on Gov. Deneen by charging extravagance to what he called an administration of "fake reform." He produced figures to show that legislative appropriations had grown from $11,178,000 in the fortieth general assembly in the first half of Gov. Tanner's term, to $20,058,000 by the forty-fifth assembly in the last half of Gov. Deneen's term showed the appropriations had increased $4,169,000 in two years.

He said that if there had been anything to show for this increased cost in government the expenditure would not be regretted, but added that there was nothing to show. He said the extravagance in the maintenance of the executive mansion and the executive office was but an illustration of "this present sham reform administration." He showed that the expenses of the mansion in 1903 were $12,000, and that in 1907 they were $28,000.

He showed further the increased cost of running various state departments, producing statements from the auditor of public accounts in substantiation. In 1903 the payments to the "rabbit shepherds" or deputy game wardens were $31,085. In 1907 they were $157,137.

Calls "Back Taxes" a Dodge.

In discussing these and other figures which were read to make good the charge of extravagance, Mr. Yates said:

"The people have heard much about 'saving the people's money,' 'causing officials to disgorge illegal fees,' 'returning money to the state,' compelling the 'Illinois Central to pay up its back taxes,' etc. Under cover of all this the state has had, during the last few years, the most expensive administration it ever had. It has not only been the most expensive but the most extravagant. I have some figures to submit to you, the people, you who are about to employ a new general manager, to supervise and manage your, the people's, business, so far as Illinois is concerned, for four more years. And I insist now, and I shall continue to insist, after I have given you these figures, that the much promised 'retrenchment,' or economy, which you heard so much of in 1904, before election, has, like everything else promised, proved to be a sham retrenchment, a fraud retrenchment, a farce retrenchment.

Assails "Newspaper Trust."

"And all this fooling of the people is the more wicked because the Chicago newspaper trust and its candidate rode into power with a constant, persistent, consistent, insidious intimation that it had discovered some new kind of honesty, some brand of honesty better than that heretofore kept on hand—better than the Dick Oglesby and John M. Palmer honesty of the fathers and of our great and noble dead. So much was said and hinted about this new kind of honesty and probity and integrity that many people were really confused and misled, and went about wondering if, after all, the old kind wasn't out of date, a little fly bitten, so to speak, a little moth eaten, as it were.

"Well, I present to you the new kind. It may be honest honesty, but it's costly; it may be honest integrity, but it is more expensive than the old article; it may be honest probity, but somehow it seems to take a good deal out of the people's pockets to maintain this new and wonderful thing.

"In every department of the state government expenses have been increased to a material extent. Had it not been for the great increase in such items of receipts as the fees from different departments, such as the insurance department and secretary of state, and particularly the increase in value of taxable property, which went up from $999,000,000 in 1901 to $1,251,000,000 in 1907, the tax rate under the present administration would be greatly in excess of what it has been heretofore.

Claims Taxes Are Higher.

"As it is, the tax rate is in excess of what it was under the previous administration. Under the present administration the tax rate has been as follows:

1905—50 cent on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1906—50 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1907—50 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1908—50 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.

Under the preceding administration, the rate was as follows:

1901—50 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1902—40 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1903—52 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.
1904—54 cents on the $100 of equalized valuation.

"The total for the four years of the present administration is 200 cents, while the total for the four years of my administration was 196 cents; that is to say, the average tax rate levied under the Deneen administration was 50 cents, while that of the Yates administration was 49 cents.

"It should be observed that while Yates levied 52 cents in his third year, he had only $1,063,000,000 of taxable property—equalized valuation—to levy it upon, while in his third year, 1907, Deneen could well afford to keep his tax rate down to 50 cents, because he had $1,251,000,000 to levy on. This is almost a quarter more than Yates had. In Yates' first year he had only $999,000,000 of property to tax, while Deneen had in his first year $1,096,000,000, nearly $100,000,000 more. Yet Deneen taxed no less. His rate was 50 cents."

Denies Primary Law Credit.

The former governor then took up other "fake reforms," as he called them, discussing first the primary law which he praised, but credit for which he denied to Deneen. He said:

"In view of the fact that some gentlemen throughout the state have posed as the apostles of primary reform legislation, it is not improper for me to say that I have the honor of being the first governor of Illinois to have recommended a state wide direct primary law.

"The ink had scarcely dried on the primary law of 1906 when a man from Morgan county, who had received a fair plurality of all the votes cast at the general state wide primary election on the 4th day of August, 1906, was deprived of the nomination for state treasurer by the present administration. It is quite true, as probably will be asserted, that this man did not have the majority of the delegates in the convention of 1906, and it is quite true under the peculiar provisions of the law existing at that time the delegates could be taken from him on the second ballot (because instructed for only one ballot) and the nomination given to another—to a man who did not receive either a plurality of the delegates or a plurality of the votes.

"In the next place, fellow citizens, I come to the questions of humanity in our state institutions, and that brings up the question of civil service reform and the sham article which the present sham reform machine has perpetrated.

"There was in existence (unpassed) a good sweeping civil service reform measure. It was the bill prepared by a "civil service commission" appointed by me. The members of that commission were: Edgar A. Bancroft, president of the Civil Service Reform club of Chicago; Zina R. Carter, Edward J. Murphy, William E. Taylor, John H. Hamlin, and William Jayne. They prepared this sweeping bill and sent it to the general assembly with a special message recommending its adoption. It did not pass, and everybody waited for a better one to happen.

List of Men Exempted.

"But what really happened? Why, the legislature of 1905, at that time completely subservient, and ready to do anything in the world the governor asked (except Speaker Shurtleff and a few others), promptly passed a civil service law different from the bill prepared by my commission. This Deneen law covers only the charitable institutions. The secretary of state is exempt and can appoint as he pleases. The auditor is exempt. The auditor general is exempt. The superintendent of schools is exempt.

"And so are the following appointees of the governor: The adjutant general, the superintendent of insurance, the state architect, the chief grain inspector, the state veterinarian, the state game commissioner, and all his appointees (formerly gleefully called 'rabbit shepherds'), the board of health, the board of pharmacy, the charity board, civil service board, pardon board, live stock board, arbitration board, railroad and warehouse board, mining board, labor bureau, free employment agencies, pure food commissioner, fish commissioners, food inspectors, factory inspectors, court of claims, board of architects, the West Chicago park commission, the Lincoln park commission, the northern penitentiary commission, the southern penitentiary commission, the Pontiac reformatory commission, etc.

"In fact, under the present civil service reform administration, only the seven insane asylums, and ten homes and schools, purely charitable, are under civil service reform, and thirty, more or less, departments, bureaus, boards, etc., are without it. Approximately 2,000 little places are covered, while over 1,000 big places are not. Reform with a vengeance, isn't it?

Brings Up Asylum Inquiry.

"And never before, within my recollection, has such inefficiency prevailed in our charitable schools and asylums as to induce a republican house of representatives to order an investigation by an investigating committee of the house. There have been newspaper attacks, and even now and then some complaining speech on the floor of one house or the other of the general assembly, but never before was the situation so grave that the whole house of representatives should deem it necessary to order an investigation.

"As this investigation has proceeded, nonpartisan, because carried on by a committee composed of three republicans and three democrats, and the whole state has heard from day to day the long calendar of abuses, the only answers have been 'unfair investigation' and 'more money.'

In closing the former governor said that the state employés who under him had been attacked as unfit still were retained in office.

TAFT IN CHICAGO TWO HOURS.

Arrives from Omaha in Evening and Leaves Later for Cincinnati to Make a Speech.

Secretary Taft, returning from his speechmaking tour, spent a little over two hours in Chicago last night. He said he was glad that Chicago and Illinois had gone republican. That was as near an expression concerning politics as he would venture.

Mr. Taft arrived at the Northwestern railroad station on his way from Omaha at 9:15 o'clock. President John V. Farwell Jr. and E. B. Butler of the Commercial club met him as he left the train.

When Mr. Taft got into the motor car at the depot the suggestion was made that he might like to attend some theater during the two hours at his disposal. He said no; he'd go down to the train and rest. So the two machines went to the Illinois Central station, where the secretary got into one of the cars of the Big Four train that was to leave at 11:30 for Cincinnati. This is Mr. Taft's old home, and he'll speak there tonight before the Phœnix club.

Names Receiver for Printing Firm.

The Chicago Title and Trust company was appointed receiver yesterday for the firm of C. M. Robertson & Co., printers, by Judge Bethea. The establishment is said to owe $20,447.67 with assets amounting to $15,600.

1,053 TOWNSHIPS VOTE OUT SALOON.

Returns from Tuesday's Election in 84 Counties Show Big Gain for Drys.

242 DISTRICTS STAY WET.

Battle to Be Fought Over Again; Contests Likely Where Vote Was Close.

Revised returns from the widely scattered battlefields on which the saloon and anti-saloon forces met in a combat of votes on Tuesday, show that 1,053 townships were carried by the dry forces in the eighty-four counties which voted, while the "wets" were victorious in 242 townships.

The result of the election means that after Dec. 7, 1908, thirty counties in Illinois will be without a saloon, in addition to the seven counties which cast out the "demon rum" last November.

In the eighty-four counties which voted on Tuesday, 1,150 saloons were voted out of existence. Excluding those in Chicago, 4,290 will remain in business in the eighty-four counties.

The rout of these is the declared aim of the anti-saloon forces, and plans are already under way with this end in view.

The liquor interests, however, are not sleeping on their victory where obtained, but are preparing to regain the territory taken from them.

Official returns on the "dry" and "wet" vote in the counties that voted will not be available for a week. Returns from twenty-four counties show a "dry" majority of 28,161. The prohibitionists claim the complete vote will show a majority of 100,000.

Aurora Fight Not Over.

Drys in Aurora, while disappointed at their defeat, declared yesterday they were not discouraged. The fight, they said, would be kept up until the saloon was driven out.

In Rockford, where the war was bitter and the result a decisive victory for the drys, the liquor men conferred on the situation and decided to make the best of the matter and not demand a recount of the vote.

They will begin at once a campaign for the restoration of their saloons as soon as the law permits.

In several cases where the result was close contests are planned. A petition for a recount in Sterling, Whitehouse county, which went wet by one vote, has been drawn and will be filed in a few days. The temperance forces are planning for a recount in Rock Falls, in the same county, where the drys lost the fight by eight votes.

DRYS PLAN FUTURE CAMPAIGNS.

Chairman Alonzo E. Wilson Talks of Candidates for State and National Offices.

The leaders of the prohibition forces in Chicago were much encouraged by late returns from the election yesterday. They ventured to make some informal announcements of presidential and gubernatorial possibilities. Some prophesied that the forthcoming conventions, state and national, will be affairs of a good deal of red fire and oratorical display.

Alonzo E. Wilson, chairman of the state prohibition committee, said that when the prohibition state convention meets at Springfield on May 6 and 7 it is probable that E. W. Chafin of Chicago will be nominated for governor. Eight years ago Mr. Chafin was candidate for governor of Wisconsin on the prohibition ticket, and four years ago, on the same ticket, was candidate for attorney general of Illinois.

Seaborn Wright of Rome, Ga., a democrat, is looked upon as promising timber for the presidential candidate on the prohibition ticket. When the national convention meets in Columbus, O., July 15 it is anticipated that a strong campaign will be made for him. Mr. Wright has spent about twenty years in the Georgia legislature and has been a leader in temperance legislation in Georgia.

Wilson Issues Statement.

Chairman Wilson issued the following post-election statement:

"Later election returns indicate that there are at least thirty-five counties now dry in Illinois, and it is claimed that several more will be added to the dry column as soon as complete returns are in. In a number of counties all of the townships were carried by no license forces with the exception of one township, while some have two wet towns.

"Thirteen counties that went all dry gave a majority of 16,000 for prohibition, while four counties which went partially dry gave a dry majority of 3,000. It is probable that the "dry" majority down the state, including the elections in November, will be more than 75,000.

"The prohibition tide is rising, and this question will be a paramount one in the fall campaign. The prohibitionists will contend for a state prohibition law, and believe that at least twenty-five prohibitionists will be elected to the next legislature. The demand of the United Societies and the Personal Liberty league to repeal the Sunday closing law and modify the local option law will help us in this regard."

Wets Also Encouraged.

The leaders of the organization, in direct opposition to the claims of the prohibitionists, professed to be satisfied by the result of the election.

John Koelling, president of the United Societies, said:

"It is a good thing that some of the communities in the state have gone dry. They will return to the wet column fast enough when the people who live in them realize the loss of revenue.

"We are going to keep up this fight without exaggerations such as the other side usually makes free with. The local option law is not really local option when a township can say what a big town within its confines must do."

3 WISCONSIN VOTES FOR TAFT.

Secretary Breaks Into Solid Delegation Hoped For by La Follette—Democrats All for Bryan.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 8.—[Special.]—Senator La Follette may not be given the solid vote of the Wisconsin delegation to the republican national convention at Chicago. It now appears as if Taft will get two and possibly three delegates.

The Eighth district seems to have so strongly favored the candidacy of C. M. Paine of Oshkosh as to assure his selection as a Taft delegate. The Tenth district is even more promising for the anti-La Follette forces. Walter Alexander seems to be 1,000 in the lead, while T. W. Brazeau, his running mate, is 300 ahead of the La Follette men.

Following is a list of republican delegates elected who are favorable to La Follette:

DELEGATES AT LARGE.

W. C. Brunder,	H. A. Cooper,
A. Peterson,	I. Stephenson.

DISTRICT DELEGATES.

4 FOR TAFT IN OLD DOMINION.

Virginia Republicans in State Convention Pass Resolutions Indorsing Roosevelt Administration.

Lynchburg, Va., April 8.—The Virginia republican state convention here tonight selected four delegates to the Chicago convention, adopted resolutions reaffirming republican principles, indorsing the Roosevelt administration, and instructing the delegates for William H. Taft.

TAFT HAS CHANCE AT 2 DELEGATES.

Republicans of Tenth District Elected Uninstructed Representatives.

NINTH INDORSES CANNON.

Vote in the Former May Be for the Illinois Candidate on First Ballot.

Two uninstructed and uncertain republican national delegates were elected yesterday afternoon in the Tenth congressional district convention, and two firmly instructed Cannon delegates were elected in the Ninth district convention.

The uncertain delegates are James Pease of the Twenty-fifth ward and Rollin A. Keyes of Evanston. The Cannon delegates are Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell of the Twenty-first ward and State's Attorney John J. Healy of the Twenty-fifth.

James Pease, who controlled the Tenth district convention, has declared himself for Secretary William H. Taft, and no resolutions of instruction were presented to the congressional delegates. Mr. Pease said afterwards that he "would not be surprised if the delegates voted for Cannon on the first ballot, but that ultimately they would line up with the majority in the convention."

Tenth Indorses Foss.

Mr. Cannon already has lost the two delegates from the First district and the action in the Tenth indicates that he will have these two only for a complimentary vote. The convention elected John D. Pope of Waukegan and Carleton Prouty of Winnetka as alternates and adopted resolutions indorsing Congressman George E. Foss for renomination at the primaries Aug. 8, calling attention to his services in building up the American navy.

Mayor Busse selected the two delegates from the Ninth district and presented the resolutions instructing them for Mr. Cannon. No doubt was left as to the position of this district as to the speaker's candidacy, the resolutions reading:

Whereas, We believe that Joseph G. Cannon is eminently qualified in every way to be the national standard bearer of the republican party in the coming campaign.

Resolved, That we pledge our delegates and alternates to the national convention, which is to be held in this city June 16, 1908, to cast their votes for Joseph G. Cannon and to use every honorable means to insure his nomination.

Healy Is Cannon Delegate.

Sheriff Christopher Strassheim and Charles Burmeister were elected as alternates. The Pease territory has been regarded as anti-Cannon territory, and Mr. Healy, coming from the Twenty-fifth ward, may be assumed personally to be more in favor of Taft than the speaker. Whatever his personal preferences may be, he will be an instructed Cannon delegate, and probably is entirely willing to be such or he would not have accepted the place.

Mayor Busse has declared himself as friendly to Mr. Healy, making such a statement because of the opposition which the state's attorney has aroused by his prosecution of the Sunday closing cases. The selection of Healy as a national delegate in a way makes good the mayor's declaration.

Oneida Election Gave 85 Votes to Each Candidate and Dollar Tossed Up Decided It.

Oneida, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—The municipal election here resulted in a tie and was decided by the flip of a coin.

The candidates were W. T. Glenn and A. G. Miller. The former has held the mayor's office for several terms.

When the votes were counted each had eighty-five. There was a recanvass, and no change having been found a dollar was tossed up and Miller won.

END C. & N. W. CASE; VERDICT $765,000.

Jurymen Place Value on Station Site, Thereby Terminating Record Battle.

LAND HOLDERS MURMUR.

Appeals Believed Likely, as Their Valuations Were Cut by 50 Per Cent.

One of the longest and most intricate civil cases ever tried in Cook county—the Chicago and Northwestern railroad condemnation suit—ended in Judge Chytraus' court yesterday, with a verdict assessing $765,000 damages against the railroad for the property on which the new station is to be built. The case began Sept. 3, and preparations for the battle extended over a year and a quarter. The jury, which was quartered in the Alexandria hotel, deliberated seventeen days, and returned a verdict of thirty-five typewritten pages. The values on the property involved —the blocks between Madison and Kinzie and Clinton and Canal streets—were placed by the jury at a figure 20 per cent higher than the highest value offered by the railroad company and 50 per cent lower than the price asked by the property owners. Officials of the road expressed themselves as satisfied with the verdict.

Only First Step; Landmarks Go.

The result of this suit is the first step only in the work of clearing the way for the new station. Some of the property owners hit by the decision are expected to appeal. There are two suits pending for the approaches along Austin avenue and the cut across the river at Kinzie and Clinton streets.

The property which must be vacated is known as the "machinery district." Several big firms will find new locations. Among these are the J. T. Ryerson & Sons company at Clinton and Lake streets, the H. M. Hooker Glass company, and the Raymond Lead company. The Ryerson company is building a huge new house at Fifteenth street and Ogden avenue. Old landmarks, such as the Gault house and the Barnes house, also will go.

Beginning of the Battle.

The railroad company has been planning this move since the fall of 1906. The ordinance was passed in November of that year and early in the spring of 1907 the condemnation case arose. Since that time General Attorney W. S. Kies has been at work preparing the suit. N. G. Moore served as senior counsel and F. H. Scott was active in the case.

In the strip of property comprehended in the suit there originally were about eighty parcels of land. About thirty were purchased by the road before the petition was filed. More than 500 different parties claimed rights in the parcels left.

Eight pieces were settled out of court before the case began. More purchases were made after the first four weeks of the case and when the jury got down to a consideration of the case it only had fourteen pieces to consider. The arguments took eleven days. The case was given to the jury March 22, having occupied 134 court days.

Values Placed on Property.

The property affected and the value placed on it by the jury is as follows:

42-49 Canal street—Fee and five story building owned by the Chicago Mechanics' institute, $61,444.

51-53 Canal street—Four story brick building and fee, owned by William R. Tapper and William E. Mortimer as trustees of the estate of George Tapper, $77,341. A five year lease to building owned by B. F. Gump company, $2,068; moving expenses, $130.

Canal street—Three year lease to one floor owned by George Gruendel, $198; moving expenses, $217.

Canal street—Fee owned by George W. Shaw, $5,000. Ninety-nine year lease and six story building owned by Eli B. Felsenthal and [illegible], $62,272. Ten year lease of building owned by Chicago Belting company, $372; moving expenses, $1,075.

Corner West Madison and Canal streets (known as the Grand Central hotel)—Fee, owned by the board of education, $60,444.

Ninety-nine year lease and six story brick building owned by Dr. Harry Brown, $64,555.

Five year lease to hotel owned by Henry A. Allen, 1 cent; moving expenses, $3,484.

West Madison and Canal streets—Two year lease to saloon property owned by Harry D. Wiles, 1 cent.

Tenants Get Two Cents.

West Madison street—Fee and two story brick building owned by board of education, $60,264, leases held by tenants, 2 cents.

19-21 Canal street—Fee owned by Lucetta A. Tascott, $40,000. Building was recently destroyed by fire.

Ninety-nine year lease owned by McComber & Whyte, $8,087.

Five year sublease owned by the McComber & Whyte Rope company, 1 cent.

Clinton street—New two story building and ninety-nine year lease owned by Horace A. Stucker, $47,990.

Five year sublease owned by the H. A. Stocker Machine company, 1 cent.

West Randolph street—Fee and four story brick building owned by Cornelius Quinlan, $56,175. The building was erected in 1855 and is a landmark of the west side.

West Randolph street—Three and four story brick buildings owned by Maria Leonard Bates, [illegible].

Widow to Receive Share.

West Randolph street—The Barnes house. Dower interest in the estate of William Andrews Chatterton. The divorce of Chatterton was reversed by the Supreme court after his death, giving his widow a dower interest in the estate. The jury appraised the value of the property at [illegible].

Mrs. Chatterton's interests will be computed by the Southampton actuarial tables and on this valuation, it will probably amount to about $4,000, according to the estimate of the railroad company.

14-16 North Canal street—Fee and remains of six story building destroyed by fire, owned by James J. McCarthy, $56,010. One cent was awarded for a sublease.

West Lake street—Fee and four story brick building owned by Simeon P. Leonard, $26,801. Improvements, $450.

West Lake street—Fee and four story building owned by Maria Leonard Bates, $26,801. Improvements, $4,000.

The buildings at 51 and 53 West Lake street are both occupied by the Raymond Lead company, and had been improved by that company.

North Clinton street—Fee and two story building owned by Otto Westerholm, $11,558.

Canal street—Five year lease to part of premises owned by David J. Granger, 1 cent. Moving expenses, $433.

Moving Not Overlooked.

North Canal street—Three year lease to part of premises owned by H. B. Smith Machine company, $381. Moving expenses, $7.

Three year lease to part of premises owned by H. P. Gale, $650. Moving expenses, $16. Fee of infinitesimal strip of land left by error in survey, owner unknown, $1.

West Lake street—Three year lease to store owned by Joseph Caretti & Co., $770. Moving expenses, [illegible]. Three year lease to upper stories owned by Joseph Taussid, $455. Moving expenses, [illegible].

The verdict also awards nominal damages of 1 cent to the owners of 150 leases which expire May 1, 1908, and who, by stipulation, were allowed to retain possession of the property until that time.

Following are the members of the $60 per day jury that returned the verdict:

DEFENDS MRS. HART M'KEE

LAUDS TRAITS OF CLIENT.

Styles Attempt to Impugn Mutual Friend as Disgraceful.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, April 8.—When the hearing of Mrs. A. Hart McKee's suit for divorce was resumed this morning Maitre Barboux addressed the court in behalf of Mrs. McKee. He denied the allegation of the other side that she was guilty of intrigue with Marquis Guglielmi, saying there was not the slightest proof of anything of the kind.

He charged Maitre Labori, counsel for McKee, with attenuating at later sessions of the court charges he made earlier in the case. He defended Miss Lawlor, the family friend of the McKees, in her refusal to help McKee toward a reconciliation and scored Alliotti as a man unworthy of confidence.

M. Barboux referred to the occasion on which McKee scolded his wife at bridge. She refused to occupy the same room with him that night and left next day. Her reason for both steps was her health. She then was suffering and the first thing she did when she reached Paris was to consult doctors, who sent her to a private hospital for three weeks.

Attacks McKee's Efforts.

Meanwhile McKee went in an automobile with the Marquis Guglielmi to Vichy. Labori himself, said Barboux, was embarrassed by the definite accusation brought against Mrs. McKee as regards Guglielmi, and later tried to replace it by mere insinuations and suspicions.

Another disgraceful act was McKee's attempt to impugn Miss Lawlor, a woman of unblemished character, whom he charged with assisting his wife's intrigues with Guglielmi. McKee reached Paris between 6 and 7 in the morning, forced his way past a servant into Miss Lawlor's bedroom, searched it and the servant's room for his wife, frightening Miss Lawlor so much that she was removed to the Hotel Maurice.

M. Barboux pointed out that there were four cases before the court, one in which Mme. McKee demanded a divorce, two against her and her father, Col. Baxter, by McKee for defamation of character, and one by McKee for divorce. A bluff had been introduced into the case in the American way. Americans were a great people and have many special virtues, but when they are seeking to make the most of their own character or destroy the character of an adversary it must be remembered that they resemble the Gascons of France.

Woman's Sincerity Perfect.

M. Barboux said he found madam's sincerity, when instructing him in the case, so perfect, her explanations so clear, her looks, her manner of speaking, and her disposition the best that an advocate could desire. There absolutely is no proof of intrigue between her and Marquis Guglielmi, who is McKee's own friend.

On the night of a fishing excursion, when McKee fell into the water and returned to the house to change his trousers, he said he saw his wife and the marquis coming from some thick bushes. Yet neither her dress nor her hat showed signs of having been disarranged by the branches.

Miss Lawlor wrote letters to Alliotti, who is a friend of the McKees, and Alliotti had supplied copies of them from memory. Those copies had been produced only as late as March 8, when Miss Lawlor was in America and it was impossible to consult her as to their correctness, which M. Barboux said he doubted. Miss Lawlor's action has been due entirely to her desire to prevent trouble to everybody after the rupture, while McKee was "metaphorically throwing himself at his wife's feet, promising amendment."

The court will hand down its decision on April 19.

CHARGES HIT CHICAGO LAWYERS

Members of Bar Association Accuse Five Attorneys Before the Supreme Court.

Disbarment proceedings were commenced in the Supreme court yesterday against Michael Mahoney, George J. Monroe, Frederick Kingsland, Frederick C. Struckmeyer, and Daniel Weber. The charges were filed by State's Attorney Healy, acting for the Chicago Bar association.

Mahoney, Monroe, Kingsland, and Struckmeyer are accused of defrauding the estate of Ann Collins of $265. They are charged with conspiring with Thomas P. Daniels, alias Cameron, who is said to have pretended to be ready to loan money for charitable purposes. Then the lawyers would charge for their investigation a large sum.

Weber is charged with taking money from Charles Kreiger to pay his taxes and failing to return the receipts.

GOULD DIGS UP SAGAN'S PAST

Paris Police Asked to Give Record of Prince's Career.

SAID TO LIVE BY HIS WITS.

Life Reported That of Rounder; Debts Put at $6,000,000.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—It became known today that George J. Gould has applied to the chief of police of Paris for the record of Prince Helie de Sagan.

The French constabulary has on file the life history of every one of note within its jurisdiction, and Mr. Gould's intention obviously is to obtain a list of all of Helie's debaucheries and escapades and lay them before his sister that she may not be deceived as to the character of the man who is aspiring to her hand.

It is known that Helie's gambling debts are enormous, while his numerous liaisons have cost him immense sums. It is rumored that he owes $6,000,000.

Every acre of land the family owns is mortgaged heavily. For the last few years it is said the prince has been living by his wits, principally following the occupation of a racetrack tout.

Father's Repute Worse than His.

His family has been reduced to extremities. Helie's father, 80 years old, whose reputation is worse than that of his son, is living in an obscure quarter of Paris, supported by the charity of his friends.

Captain Donald P. Todd, personal agent for George Gould, has been working up the case against the prince and it is expected an unexpurgated report will be submitted to Mme. Gould within a few days.

Prince Helie is making desperate efforts to recoup himself with Mme. Gould. He spent practically all the afternoon and evening in her apartments at the St. Regis, only leaving for an hour or two to dine and change to evening dress.

Earlier in the day Mrs. George Gould and her daughter Marjorie called upon Mme. Gould.

Laughs Gould's Move to Scorn.

When told tonight of George Gould's latest move against him the prince only laughed.

"George Gould may do as he pleases," he said. "Look as he will for anything in my past, he will find nothing serious.

"I am at ease as to anything he may bring against me. He can be as aggressive as he chooses. His aggression will not affect me in the slightest."

The prince added that the date of his departure for home, originally fixed for Friday, is still unsettled.

"As for Mme. Gould," he said, "while her relations with her family are amicable now, I wouldn't be at all surprised if she packed up and sailed for France with her children at any time."

RICH YOUTH WED WAITRESS? WOODLAWN AMAZED AT STORY

Friends of E. B. Goodwin Say He Married Violet Corbin, or Kennedy—Latter and Young Man's Mother Deny It.

Is Edward B. Goodwin, the 19 year old son of a wealthy south side family, married to a pretty waitress ten years older than himself? This is the question that Woodlawn society is asking.

"Yes, Goodwin is married, was married about three months ago, and is keeping house on the south side," said Arthur D. Sanders, general manager of the Federal company, for which young Goodwin sells plumbing supplies.

"Yes, we heard a month ago that Ed Goodwin had married Miss Kennedy, who used to keep house for his parents while they were in Europe," said Mr. G. Isaacson, 6430 Minerva avenue, a neighbor of the family.

"Yes, Mrs. Violet Corbin, or Miss Kennedy, as she was also known, who used to work here as a waitress, was married a short time ago to a Mr. Goodwin," said the manager of King's restaurant.

When Mrs. Goodwin Sr. was called up she said that her son was out of town on business, but that he was not married.

"Why, the idea!" she said. "Mrs. Corbin was in to see me yesterday and denied it."

DOCTOR TAKEN AS SLAYER

St. Louis Medico Accused of Killing Man in the Street.

SONG TURNED INTO DIRGE.

Crime Follows Joining of Voices in Early Morning Chorus.

St. Louis, Mo., April 8.—[Special.]—Dr. Englehardt Voerster Jr., former chief physician at the city dispensary, and one of the best known physicians in St. Louis, was arrested late tonight on the charge of murdering Reese Bell, a paper hanger, who was shot to death early Sunday morning while escorting a woman and her two daughters home from a dance.

Bell and his companions were walking in Choteau avenue and were overtaken at Dolman street by a man and woman.

Bell and the three women with him were singing, when the woman with the man believed to be Voerster joined in the vocal exercises.

Her escort, angered at this, told the entire party to "shut up," adding that the singing was "rotten." Bell replied it had been spoiled by the entrance of the newcomers. Without warning the stranger fired, the bullet entering Bell's brain.

The slayer fled, followed closely by his woman companion. The trio with Bell screamed for help, but the assailant escaped before the police arrived.

Detectives working on the case ran down many clews before arresting Voerster, and his being taken into custody tonight was a surprise to his friends. He is the son of a former coroner of St. Louis county, and his circle of acquaintance is wide.

PROMINENT ACTRESS NAMED IN MRS. VANDERBILT PLEA?

Referee in Marital Troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Holds No Hearing, Is Silent.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—No hearing was held today by David McClure, referee in the suit for divorce brought by Ellen French Vanderbilt against her husband, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

Mr. McClure would not say whether he expected to hold any more hearings or whether he is ready to frame his report for submission to the Supreme court.

There was a story current today connecting the name of a well known actress with the charges made by Mrs. Vanderbilt. The actress is quoted as admitting that she knew Vanderbilt, but ridiculing any charges that would be available in the suit.

MARLOWE ILL; QUIET ON SUIT

Actress Cancels Engagement to $1,500 House in Ithaca, N. Y.

HIDES SELF IN PRIVATE CAR.

Manager Says She'll Answer Imputation at Proper Time.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 8.—[Special.]—When she learned today she had been named as corespondent in the divorce action brought by Mrs. Clara von Herrmann against Karl Stephen von Herrmann, Julia Marlowe became ill and canceled her engagement to appear in "Gloria" at the Lyceum theater here this evening.

The house was sold out and the manager will have to refund in the neighborhood of $1,500.

Miss Marlowe reached the city at 2:30 p. m. in a private car. As soon as she arrived the New York papers were brought to her and she read for the first time the story of the divorce case.

It affected her deeply, and by nightfall she had determined not to keep her engagement. She retired to her car, would see no one, and refused to make a statement. Her manager stated Miss Marlowe would make answer in the proper time.

JANITOR'S DAUGHTER WINNER IN $750,000 MARITAL SUIT.

Mother-in-Law Makes Concessions to Son's Wife and Settles Milwaukee Case, Long in Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 8.—The $750,000 Lonstorf case, on trial in the Circuit court of Milwaukee county for years, was today taken from a jury in Judge Tarrant's court and dismissed upon stipulation by attorneys for all parties.

It is said Mrs. Margaret Lonstorf, principal defendant, has agreed to care for the complainant daughter-in-law as long as she lives in addition to making large monetary concessions.

The suit grew out of the charge that the Lonstorf family entered into a conspiracy to alienate the affections of Otto Lonstorf from his wife, who was Emma Sturm, daughter of a janitor.

It was alleged that he deserted her and that as a result she became insane. She was taken to the county asylum at Wauwatosa and cared for at public expense.

It is said nothing was done for her by the Lonstorf family. Otto Lonstorf later left the city and his wife became a hopeless invalid.

Friends investigated and a suit for damages was instituted.

DRASTIC REFORM FOR ASYLUM ILLS.

Complete Reorganization Will Be Urged by Legislative Committee.

PLAN IN SHAPE OF BILL.

Board of Control Instead of Seventeen Sets of Trustees Feature of Report.

Complete reorganization of the system of dispensing charity and governing penal institutions in Illinois is to be the modest recommendation of the legislative asylum investigating committee, whose final report now is in the process of construction.

Along with this recommendation is to be a bill providing for the various details of the plan formulated in this report, and the legislature will be given an opportunity to solve the asylum ills by passing this bill when it reconvenes May 5.

Some of the recommendations which will be included in this report will be:

Substitution of a board of control, to be made up of five salaried commissioners, for the seventeen sets of trustees who now manage the affairs of the state's institutions.

One central purchasing point where bids will be received for foods and supplies for all of the state institutions. Experts will be hired to safeguard the interests of the state in driving these food bargains.

Abolishment of the solitary and other severe means of punishing and disciplining prisoners in penal institutions.

Various changes in application of civil service and extension of the merit system to every office in every institution.

Will "Reprove" Governor.

Work on the report was begun by members of the committee as soon as they arrived in Chicago yesterday from Chester. It is expected that the legislators, smarting under the severe criticism of Gov. Deneen, also will have some heated statements to make in reply. Although they did not care to discuss this point at length, one of the members of the committee admitted that "the governor would come in for a few words of reproof."

One case which will be mentioned is that of Virgene Jessup, who was declared to have been gnawed by rats while an inmate of the Asylum for Feeble Minded Children at Lincoln. After Gov. Deneen's statement of denial of this case was made public the committee immediately sought out and heard other witnesses, who apparently corroborated the "rat gnawing" story.

Visit St. Charles Home.

Because of the lack of time in which to complete the investigation, the committee yesterday formed itself into two separate working bodies. One of these bodies, headed by Representative John P. McGoorty, made a hurried trip to the St. Charles Home for Boys. The legislators appeared at the home early in the morning, armed with a great stock of communications, anonymous and otherwise, in which were charges of all sorts of brutalities.

One of the most extravagant of these stories related to a cinder path in which, according to the informant of the committee, boys who were so unfortunate as to be discovered in endeavoring to escape from the school, were compelled to run bare footed. A guard was supposed to furnish the required incentive by "tickling" the youth's legs with a rawhide whip. However, this charge was not substantiated during the day.

Supt. Hart was questioned about the supposed brutality and he declared that in no case had attendants been permitted to misuse the boys confined there. There are 350 boys in the home who have been consigned to the institution by juvenile courts.

Chairman Hill and the entire committee expect to spend another week, beginning Friday morning, in visiting Kankakee, Jacksonville, and the insane asylum at Bartonville. After that trip is completed the energy of the investigating body will be devoted to the work of consuming and digesting the tons of typewritten testimony now in their possession.

HARRISON FIGHTS SULLIVAN'S PLAN.

Chicago Democracy Prepares to Be Ripped Up Back in Ward Conventions.

TWO DELEGATIONS SURE.

Both Leaders Protest That They Are Serving Bryan in the Battle.

The local democracy is prepared to be all ripped up the back tonight when the thirty-five ward mass conventions will be held for the selection of state convention delegates.

Carter H. Harrison and Roger C. Sullivan, as leaders of two opposing Bryan factions—Mr. Sullivan says he is for Bryan, and it would be impolite to doubt it—will go to the mat with their respective factions and two contesting Chicago delegations will be sent to Springfield April 23.

Everything is in readiness for a repetition of the "train robbery" which Mr. Bryan described feelingly to the national convention of 1904 when Mr. Harrison, owning the discourtesy of Mr. Sullivan, got into the convention only as a guest.

Mr. Harrison has no desire to be merely a "guest" of the Denver convention, and his dislike for the place assigned him again this year by Mr. Sullivan is one of the causes for the monumental struggle which will be started tonight.

Others Dislike "Guest" Position.

The position of "guest" does not look good to Robert E. Burke, or Edgar L. Masters, or William Prentiss, or any of the others who are ardent Bryan men, but who are not scheduled as delegates in Mr. Sullivan's program of events. To avert the evil which Mr. Sullivan has cooked up for them, they are prepared to break up his program in any manner in which they may be able.

All the fine points of their plan of attack were decided upon yesterday afternoon at a meeting at the Briggs house, attended by representatives from all the wards. The members of the Bryan league in each ward were given postal card notices which they filled in with the proper names and mailed out to the voters at night.

By these notices the strictly honest Bryan democrats are requested to meet at halls which are designated for each ward and to be in attendance at 7:30 o'clock. The chairman of each of these Bryan ward meetings will have a formal protest against the conduct of the Sullivan democrats.

Call Conventions at 8 O'Clock.

The regular ward mass conventions, which have been called by the county central committee, are scheduled for 8 o'clock. When this hour arrives the protesting Bryanites, headed by their presiding officers bearing the formal protests, will march to the hall designed for the regular convention.

It is the hope of the Harrisonites they will find the halls so packed by Sullivanites that they will be unable even to project their voices through the doorways. They do not want to get inside. They merely want to perfect their "record" and be able to show that they tried to attend the conventions and could not.

If they cannot get inside they will about face and march back to their own meeting places, where they will hold conventions of their own and elect state delegates of their own. If they can get inside they will wait until some high handed outrage has been committed, until they have been denied the right of free speech, or the right to vote, or until they have been thrown out into outer darkness.

When this happens they will return in a perfectly happy frame of mind to their own places of assemblage and then proceed to elect contesting delegates.

Two Delegations Are Certain.

Their plan makes it certain that there will be two contesting delegations from every ward in Chicago. They are not looking for fair play in the regularly called conventions. They don't want it. They want to be abused, denied their rights, and thrown out. They want ground for a contest before the credentials committee of the state convention in Springfield.

When democrats meet in this frame of mind the results are apt to be uncertain. The protestants may be merely shooed away or their separation from the regulars may be brought about in other ways. In one or two wards the probabilities point to other ways.

Reports given to the Harrisonites at their meeting indicate that in many cases the hope that the protestants will not be able to get inside the halls will be fulfilled. One Harrisoner, speaking for the Twenty-seventh ward, gave it as his conservative estimate that the meeting place selected for this "mass convention" might hold a hundred men if it were hard pushed.

As Edgar L. Masters says, "this is going it too raw."

Makes List in Sullivan's Office.

The Harrisoners also learned that George Brennan had been seen in Roger Sullivan's office carefully preparing a list of the delegates who are to be elected in the different wards. He is alleged to have been discovered taking the names of the delegates to the Peoria convention from a book, striking out those of men who have died, moved out of town, or out of politics, and substituting for them the names of other men who can be depended on as equally trustworthy as were the Peoria delegates when Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Bryan had a difference of opinion regarding Mr. Sullivan's availability as a national committeeman.

Johnson Talks of Campaign.

Gov. John A. Johnson was in Chicago in the morning on his way south and discussed his presidential candidacy briefly. He said that he gladly would support Bryan if the latter were nominated, and that his own candidacy was not hostile to the Nebraskan.

"It is merely a question of availability," he said. "My friends are conducting my campaign with a view to spreading such information as will enable the democrats to judge of my own availability."

DEMOCRATIC STATE DELEGATES.

KEWANEE, Ill.—Henry county delegates to the democratic state convention favor Bryan and oppose Roger Sullivan for national committeeman. The delegates are: J. W. Olson, J. M. Ryan, R. W. Fleming, L. D. Quinn, Dante Stann, J. J. Ryan, H. L. Weaver.

WOODSTOCK, Ill.—The McHenry county democratic central committee selected seven delegates to the state convention. They are Sullivan men.

MONTICELLO, Ill.—Piatt county's seven delegates to the state democratic convention favor Bryan.

CARMI, Ill.—The White county democratic central committee elected the following delegates to the state convention: Arthur W. Charles, John Helm, C. D. Kurrendal, Chauncey Conger, J. A. Vaughan, James D. Bryant, Al Barnes, Edward Orr, G. A. Aldridge, Fred W. Stinnet, A. J. Crawford, Claude M. Barnes, Newton, Browne, and Jessup Grisson. They were uninstructed.

ROCKFORD, Ill.—The Winnebago county democratic central committee elected these delegates to the state convention instructed for Bryan: O. M. Williams, C. H. Woolsey, J. W. Brown, James H. Corcoran, Charles Fitzpatrick, and William H. Heffran.

RYAN IN CITY COURT COMEDY

"Met" Official and Lawyers Do Funny Turns in Suit.

THOS. F. TRIES TO TESTIFY.

But Counsel Says So Much He Can't Get Chance.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—Thomas F. Ryan spent today in the Fifth Municipal court in Harlem as a witness in a $500 damage suit brought at the instance of the William F. King committee against the directors and others interested in the management of the Metropolitan Street railway company.

Several other men whose time is supposed to be fairly valuable, including H. H. Vreeland, former president of the road, and Douglas Robinson, one of its receivers, "Wednesdayed" in the courtroom.

Mr. Ryan lost his temper once or twice, but on the whole he endured the performance with better grace than did his counsel, Delancey Nicoll and John B. Stanchfield. He wound up the day by the declaration that he would spend a month on the stand if necessary. He was promptly assured that his presence would be required again tomorrow morning, but counsel for the plaintiffs hope to let him off by noon.

Call Suit Fishing Trip.

The complainants in the action are Emanuel Weil and Minnie Weil, the former being the owner of ten and the latter of three shares of stock of the Metropolitan Street railway company. The plaintiffs allege that the reports issued by the company in 1905 and 1906 were fraudulent in that they did not disclose the real condition of the company, and that, having been influenced by these reports to hold their stock, they have sustained a loss.

Mr. Ryan's counsel characterized the suit as a simon pure fishing expedition on the part of King and the minority stockholders' committee for evidence on which other actions might be based.

The day was taken up largely by the wranglings among the lawyers, who occasionally recollected Mr. Ryan was on the stand when he butted in and asked to be allowed to answer a question.

Ryan Loses Temper on Stand.

Once during his examination Mr. Ryan exclaimed:

"You want information, don't you?" Then he added: "If you will come down to those reports I will give you some."

Lawyer Kremer said he would establish his case in his own way.

"You'd like to keep me here till next month," said the witness, flushing. "Come down here to these reports."

"I ask that the witness and his lawyers be admonished not to instruct the plaintiffs' counsel how to conduct this case," said Lawyer Kremer.

"I know what I am fighting," said Mr. Ryan with emphasis. Then, turning to the justice, he added: "I submit—I ask your honor—I think I am entitled to tell about these reports."

"You will have abundant opportunity later," said Lawyer Kremer.

"You ask me now," said the witness, banging his fist on the arm of the chair. "Ask me how these reports were begun."

Says He'll Stick a Month.

Mr. Nicoll wanted to know how long they intended to keep Mr. Ryan on the witness stand.

"Two days anyway," replied Attorney Kremer.

"Listen to that," shouted Mr. Nicoll. "Your honor, I think you are beginning to see through this case."

"I will stay here a month now," chimed in Mr. Ryan with a good natured smile.

ASK A WRIT AGAINST STRIKES.

Brase & Southard, Automatic Sprinkler Installers, Complain of Building Trades Council.

An injunction restraining the Associated Building Trades council from interfering with the business of Brase & Southard, installers of automatic sprinklers, was issued yesterday by Judge Barnes in the Superior court. The complaining company set up that the officers of the associated building trades were calling strikes wherever it sent its men to work and were doing other things to hinder it from installing its devices. It was also represented that the complainant's business was being injured by the defendants boycotting firms with which it had dealings.

DIRECTORS QUIT NEW YORK LIFE.

Former President Orr and Clarence H. Mackay Resign from Board.

BARS TIGHTS, WINS SUIT.

Actress Discharged for Refusal to Wear Fleshings Gets Verdict for Damages.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
New York, April 8.

Two New York Life Insurance Directors Quit.

Alexander E. Orr, who for many years was a director and for a time president of the New York Life Insurance company, retired as a director of the company at the annual meeting today. Mr. Orr gave his advanced age and the state of his health as the reason for his withdrawal. The resignation of Clarence H. Mackay as a director also was received at the meeting.

William R. Innis of this city and Rowland G. Hazard of Peacedale, R. I., were elected to fill the vacancies on the board caused by the resignations. There were no so-called independent nominations this year and ten members of the old board were reëlected without opposition. They are John E. Andrus of Yonkers, N. Y.; Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati, Thomas P. Fowler of New York, A. Barton Hepburn of New York, Granger A. Hollister of Rochester, Woodbury Langdon of New York, Robert J. Lowery of Atlanta, Ga.; Henry C. Mortimer of New York, William B. Plunkett of Adams, Mass., and Elbridge G. Snow of New York.

Actress Who Barred Tights Gets Damages.

A verdict of $4,700 was awarded by a jury in the Supreme court today to Henrietta Lee Morrison, an actress, who was discharged by a theatrical manager because she refused to appear on the stage in tights. The plaintiff is known on the stage as Henrietta Lee, and the defendants are Hurtig & Seamon, proprietors of a Harlem burlesque theater.

Miss Lee and her husband, Charles P. Morrison, were engaged by Hurtig & Seamon for a season in a musical comedy under a contract which provided that they were to receive $8,950. At the end of three months the manager directed Miss Lee to make certain changes in her costume which would necessitate her appearance on the stage in tights. When she refused to make the changes directed she and her husband were discharged. They brought suit for a breach of contract, and a jury, after fifteen minutes' deliberation, awarded them damages to the full amount sued for, minus the amount they earned after their discharge.

Osborne Denies Bridal Tour with Miss Maloney.

Herbert Osborne, whose marriage to Helen Maloney, daughter of the Standard Oil man, today denied the statement he made in letter to Justice Boyd of Mamaroneck, which has been brought to light since steps have been taken to annul the marriage in order that Miss Maloney might be free to marry Samuel Clarkson, with whom she eloped some months ago. It was alleged that the marriage never was consummated and upon this point hangs the decision of the court before which the proceedings were begun.

The letter was dated Pittsburg, Feb. 1, 1906, and told of the honeymoon trip of Osborne and his wife following their marriage by Justice Boyd on Dec. 28, 1905.

"The statements in that letter are false," Osborne said. "The letter was written by me to throw Justice Boyd off the track regarding my identity. Helen Maloney never was in Pittsburg to my knowledge and the implication conveyed is entirely without foundation."

N. Y. U. Juniors Are Expelled for Three Days.

The junior class of New York university is on an enforced vacation for the remainder of the week. Eighty students, composing the class, were suspended today for three days as an outcome of their own demand that the class as a whole, and not its president, A. A. Young, captain of the varsity crew, be punished for hazing Henry Bloch, a freshman.

The organist played Chopin's funeral march as a processional into the chapel this morning and the exercises opened with the singing of "God Be with You Till We Meet Again." Prof. William E. Waters, recorder of the faculty, read the decision in an apologetic tone.

10,000 Men, 4,000 Horses in This Job of Moving.

Sightseers in lower Manhattan accustomed to seeing "the biggest" skyscraper going up every little while will witness the greatest job of moving ever undertaken. It is the moving of a small city of tenants into the new Hudson Terminal buildings of the McAdoo Hudson river tunnel system, and is to be done on so large a scale that special arrangements have been made with the police to take charge of street traffic in that locality while the work is going on.

Between 9,000 and 10,000 men will be engaged, and 4,000 horses used to pull 2,000 vans.

The Hudson Terminal buildings will house over 10,000 tenants and have about twenty-seven acres of floor space.

GIRL SEES "BLACK HAND" ACT

Gives Clew to Shots Fired in the Window of Jewelry Store.

SUSPECT TWO IN THE PLOT.

Failure to Meet Demand for Money Followed by Attempt to Kill.

Inspector Backus and Capt. Danner believe they have a clew that will lead to the arrest of at least two of the Italian conspirators who have been writing threatening "Black Hand" letters to their countrymen for the purpose of extortion.

The police are working on information furnished by a girl who saw the suspects discharge two loads of buckshot into the jewelry store of Antonio Lumia, 49 Gault court. Lumia was threatened with the abduction of his son a week ago if he did not place $800 where the conspirators could get it.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning Lumia's neighbors were aroused by the discharge of a double barreled shotgun, the crash of glass, and then a return fire of a dozen shots from two revolvers in the hands of the jeweler, who has been sleeping in a rear room with firearms handy ever since the first threats were made. Lumia, however, was too late to get a good look at the fleeing men and was unable to give the police a description.

Advised Not to Pay Money.

The police do not take the "Black Hand" seriously and advised Lumia against turning over any money.

The same kind of shot were fired into the house of Antonio Sanphilipo, 140 Gault court, about a week ago. Similar shot were found at the home of Felipe Mericci and his son, Michael, 69 Gault court, after they were arrested for slaying Joseph Concillo on the night of Feb. 2. However, the police are unable to establish any connection between these three affairs.

Michael Banasade, 56 Gault court, told the police that one of the men who fired into Lumia's store shot at him also, and pointed to a bullet in the window sill of his house as evidence. But the police say he is mistaken and that it was one of the bullets fired by Lumia that lodged in the sill.

Denies It's Black Hand.

"There is no Black Hand in Chicago," said Detective Bernacchi. "I have worked on hundreds of these cases and am positive that the robbers are friends of the victims who act as go-betweens to pass the money to a mythical third party. Much money has been paid, but the victims will not tell whom they settle with. If they did we would get the whole gang and break up the conspiracy."

Attempt to Frighten Witness.

An attempt to frighten a witness for the prosecution in the case of Augustino Greco, accused of murder, was revealed yesterday in Judge Pinckney's court. Rosario Palermo, who witnessed the killing of Ferdinand Marieliano, Dec. 15, 1907, told the court that a woman, apparently young, but heavily muffled in a shawl, had visited him Sunday night and told him that if Greco received more than two years in prison he would be killed. Palermo lives at 484 Jefferson street.

Greco is charged with shooting Marieliano and then dressing the body and hiding it in a snow bank.

Says She Deposited $600.

M. H. Mossler, owner of a clothing store at 138 Madison street, asked the police last night to find Miss Florence Brand, 791 North Spaulding avenue, who left his store in the afternoon to go to a bank to deposit $600. The young woman was found at her home and said she had deposited the money.

JURORS DISCOVER 'PLOT' TO CONVICT

Find That Evidence in Daley Murder Trial Had Been Tampered With.

POLICE ARE SUSPECTED.

Verdict of Guilty Returned and Punishment Is Fixed at 14 Years in Prison.

The returning of a verdict yesterday afternoon finding Harry Daley guilty of the murder of George Seeberger, an aged merchant, was attended with charges by the jurors that members of the police department had tampered with articles in evidence in order to obtain a conviction.

The fact that Daley also is indicted for the killing of Robert Mackaneny, a member of the police department, who was shot at Sixty-third and State streets last winter, gave strength in the jurors' minds to the suspicion that the evidence had been tampered with.

The jury had been kept out since Monday afternoon, although several reports were sent in to the court that an agreement was impossible. Daley's punishment was fixed at fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Morris P. Peck, 760 Racine avenue, the twelfth juryman, who held out alone for a verdict of not guilty against his eleven fellow jurors for twenty-four hours, explained the charge against the police.

Jurors Explain Charges.

"In his address to us Assistant State's Attorney Barbour laid great stress on the fact that two of the cartridges in Daley's revolver when he was arrested revealed marks of having failed to discharge," said Peck. "He declared that fact showed that Daley had tried to kill the two officers who arrested him, and used it to indicate his general character as a bad man.

"We discovered by the use of a microscope in the jury room that the pin of the revolver never had hit the cartridges and that the indentations had been made with some other instrument. That led us to believe that the police had deliberately tampered with the cartridges in order to convict Daley."

Peck was corroborated in his statements by Henry T. West, 4356 Lake avenue, foreman of the jury, and the other jurors.

Assistant State's Attorney Day, who received the verdict for the prosecution in the absence of Mr. Barbour, who was busy with another case, requested that nothing be done in the matter until Mr. Barbour and Mr. Healy could be notified.

Story of the Murder.

George Seeberger, for whose murder Daley was on trial, was shot in his store at Fifty-second and State streets Aug. 10, 1907, by Daley and James Murphy, who entered the store to rob him. Murphy was captured after he ran a few blocks and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Daley fled and was not arrested until last January.

Some time after his arrest Daley was identified as the man who killed Policeman Mackaneny. He denied the charge and also the Seeberger murder.

Two Handbook Men Fined.

Two men accused of operating handbooks were arraigned before Judge Crowe yesterday and fined $25 and costs each. The defendants were John Newton, arrested at 125 Clark street, and G. L. Gray, arrested at 244 Lake street.

MOB'S FOOD MARCH WINS COUNTY AID.

Bread Promised 400 Aliens Who Besiege Building with Demand for Work.

FOOTBALL MAN PLANS IT.

Ivan Doseff of Chicago University Says Colonies of Bulgarians Suffer.

Relief in the shape of provisions will be provided by the county agent today in aid of the 400 hungry Bulgarians who marched to the city hall and the county building yesterday morning and demanded work. The jobless mob of aliens reached the city hall at 10 o'clock in the morning under the leadership of Nickolas Dimoff, who massed his "army" in front of the Washington street entrance.

Dimoff first entered the county building in search of President Busse of the county board, but he was turned back by watchmen, who told the Bulgarian that President Busse was out of the city. The leader of the mob then tried to enter the city hall in an effort to find Mayor Busse. He was stopped at the entrance by Police Capt. Gibbons, who warned Dimoff to pilot the jobless mob back to their quarters.

The appearance of the mob caused some excitement, and at first it was believed "Dr." Ben L. Reitman had a hand in the affair. An order was sent in for a squad of mounted police, which kept the aliens separated as much as possible.

There was no disorder, however, the crowd obeying implicitly the orders of Dimoff, who was the only one of them who could speak English.

Football Player Is Captain.

As they marched away the men huddled together, shivering in the cold wind, from which their thin, coarse garments of Bulgarian make ill protected them. Dimoff took the crowd back to their quarters at 110 South Green street and neighboring houses, where several hundred jobless Bulgarians are huddled together in small rooms. Investigation at these houses revealed that Ivan Doseff, a graduate of the University of Chicago, is the instigator of the plan to march on the city hall. Doseff, who is a Bulgarian and last year played left tackle on the University of Chicago football eleven, said he sent the mob to the city hall in order to "call public attention" to the distressing condition of his countrymen.

Dimoff is Doseff's "first lieutenant" in the handling of the crowd. None of the jobless Bulgarians has been in the United States more than six months, and in that time not one of them has had a job. Doseff said their little stock of money now is gone and the immigrants are on the verge of starvation.

Doseff Receives Promise of Aid.

After the mob returned to the west side from their fruitless march downtown, Doseff went to the county agent's office at 168 South Clinton street and begged that something be done.

"The men have no work and no money and I can't feed them any longer," said Doseff. "Any kind of aid will do. The men will pay it back when they get work."

Assistant County Agent Victor Young promised to send a quantity of provisions and bed clothing to each of the "colonies" in distress.

"I also have conferred with Supt. Kingsley of the Chicago Relief and Aid society," said Mr. Young. "Supt. Kingsley will look after their wants in other ways, as soon as he has had time to investigate actual conditions."

Whole Colonies Destitute.

In addition to the Green street "colonies," where there are more than 400 jobless Bulgarians, several hundred additional aliens are housed at 141 West Adams street, 55 South Morgan street, 155 and 164 West Fourteenth street, and 129 Dekoven street. In each place the men are absolutely destitute.

The largest colony is at 110 South Green street, where Doseff has conducted a combination Christian association and employment office on the "settlement house" plan. The house is a rickety old frame building and the rooms absolutely are devoid of furniture, except a small room occupied by Doseff.

There was no fire in the house and the men have nothing but their bags and satchels to sit on. At night they slept on the floor with a bag or satchel for pillow. Several of the men walked around, munching hard, dry crusts of bread.

"They have had nothing to eat but bread and thin coffee for three weeks," said Doseff. "It's awful. I don't know what's going to become of them. I can't feed them any longer. I owe $50 for bread and $60 for rent of this house. All the money I have is $125."

Doseff Blames Agents.

Doseff said irresponsible Bulgarian "employment agents" and steamship ticket agents are responsible for bringing the men over from the old country. More than 90 per cent of the men have wives and children dependent upon them in Bulgaria. Several of them mortgaged their small properties to get money for their passage tickets.

Doseff said he will visit the immigration officers today to see if some of the men can be sent back to their homes in Bulgaria. He said several railroad companies had promised them work, but so far none had made good.

FLOODED WITH MERCHANDISE; FORGER'S JOKE ON VICTIM.

Stolen Checks Pay for Silk Hosiery, Millinery, Flowers, Etc., Sent to Harlo R. Grant.

Harlo R. Grant, 965 West Madison street, is accumulating a miscellaneous lot of merchandise which he did not order, but which is coming to him nevertheless, and for which he really has no need. He is advertising in the newspapers in order to stop the flood.

So far Mr. Grant has received the following:

One lot assorted cut flowers, price $25.
Nine pairs silk hose for Mrs. Grant, $1.50 per, $13.50.
One picture hat in box for Mrs. Grant, $9.
One box cigars for self, $7.
One jardiniere, $24.

Mr. Grant strongly suspects that this sudden attention on the part of dealers in various wares is due to the solicitous efforts of a young man who called at his office Monday afternoon with a railway advertising scheme and asked for figures on some printing.

Early yesterday the first installment of the goods arrived. It was the flowers. They were brought in person by the Ogden avenue florist who sold them, and he also brought a check for $25 on the First National bank, Mr. Grant's name being forged to the check.

Mr. Grant then discovered his pass book, showing a considerable balance at the First National bank, had disappeared from his desk, and his thoughts reverted to the young man with the advertising scheme.

A dealer named Schermerhorn sent the cigars and the bill for $7 in the morning. The $24 jardiniere next arrived from a Michigan avenue Jap. Other items were being delivered when a reporter for THE TRIBUNE called to make inquiries, the following advertisement having attracted his attention:

GRANTS MUSICIAN $5 FEE

Mrs. Dora McDonald Must Pay Hans Biedermann for Work.

TOOK CRITIC FIFTY HOURS.

College Director Given Ten Cents an Hour for Labor on Song.

What amount of money a musician should receive for fifty hours spent in transposing the music of a love song by Mrs. Dora McDonald from "C" major to "A" minor and inserting "pp," "ff," "Ped.," and crescendo and diminuendo marks in the proper places was a question Judge Lantry was called upon to decide yesterday.

After hearing the testimony of Mrs. McDonald, the musician Hans Biedermann, experts, and others, and the reading of the poem which gained notoriety when the widow of the late gambling king, "Mike" McDonald, was arrested for the murder of Webster Guerin, the court announced $5 a fitting recompense.

Two years ago Mrs. McDonald wrote some verses entitled "I Will Atone." She decided to set them to music and received the promise of a prominent vaudeville actress to sing them. McDonald asked Hans Biedermann, director of a musical college, to his home, and the musician pronounced the air "catching," the words good but a little out of rhyme, and advised changing the music to a minor key.

Musician Tells of Work.

Biedermann said that he had been asked to do the work for Mrs. McDonald in the latter part of 1905.

"The first time I met her," he said, "was at her house, when I was called there. She showed me some of the songs that she had written and I found that they contained some poor rhyme and rhythm. I found that the key was too high. She played it in C major and I found it necessary to change it to A.

"About two weeks later I called again with the work I had done for her. I had been invited there for luncheon. I sang the song for her and Mrs. McDonald was much pleased.

"'O, isn't it beautiful!' she exclaimed. 'Isn't it just too sweet for anything?'

"She said that she was going to have the song sung by some great opera singer."

Mrs. McDonald Testifies.

Only once did Mrs. McDonald show any feeling, and that was when Mr. Biedermann's attorney asked her if Biedermann had not been summoned to the McDonald home for the express purpose of looking over the song.

"You had Mr. Biedermann come to your home to see the song, did you not?" asked the attorney.

"I beg your pardon," said Mrs. McDonald. "I did not know he was coming until he was introduced by my husband. I did not send for him."

Several of Mrs. McDonald's witnesses asserted that they were connected with music publishing houses, and that the work done by Biedermann was not worth more than from $3 to $5. It was upon the testimony of these witnesses that the verdict was found.

In giving his opinion, Judge Lantry said that some work had been done by Biedermann and that the plaintiff was entitled to some consideration for his labor. He expressed the opinion that it was necessary for Biedermann to spend fifty hours on the work, and that $5 would be a just finding for the plaintiff.

KEEP PLEDGE AND BREAK IT

Policemen Accomplish This Feat by Signing Two Documents.

TRIAL BOARD LEARNS TRICK

Patrick Berry Discharged from the Service as a Result.

The value and convenience of signing two separate pledges to abstain from indulgence in alcoholic liquors were demonstrated yesterday in one of the hearings before the police trial board. The members of the civil service commission often have sought to account for the prevalence of double pledges in the police department, but never had a satisfactory explanation been offered.

Patrick Barry, a patrol wagon driver at the Desplaines street station, was on trial on charges of intoxication and making a false official report. In proof of his total abstinence from the use of liquor Barry submitted documentary evidence in the shape of a pledge he had signed some time ago. Inspector McCann also produced a pledge Barry had given him personally.

"Why were two pledges required?" asked Commissioner McKinley.

Can Break One Pledge, Keep Other.

"I caught Barry drinking some time ago," explained the inspector. "I found he had signed two pledges. Barry excused his condition by explaining that he had signed two pledges and thought it would do no harm to break one of them."

"Thereby keeping the other one intact," observed Mr. McKinley.

Sergeant Burns and other witnesses related how Barry gave the excuse that his wife was sick in order to go on a drunk, and how he would do "fancy driving with one hand" to the great danger of pedestrians in crowded streets. Several times during this testimony Barry rose and stood respectfully beside his chair.

"What are you standing for?" demanded Inspector McCann.

"I couldn't remain sitting in the presence of such lies as them," replied Barry.

The commission concluded that Barry was under the influence of liquor even during the hearing and discharged him from the service.

Doesn't Need Whisky Bottle.

William J. Walsh, a probationary blacksmith helper in the construction branch of the police department, also was discharged on charges of intoxication and incapacity.

Thomas J. Coyle, a patrolman at the Sheffield avenue station, was discharged on charges of neglect of duty. It was shown he was unfit for service, his mind having been weakened by drink to such an extent that he had "whisky fits."

NEW COUNCIL LIST TAKEN TO WOODS.

Nominating Committee Goes to West Baden to Tackle Its Problem.

DEMOCRATS ARE TOO FEW

Difficult for This Reason to Divide Places on Nonpartisan Basis.

The nominating committee which is to select the standing committees of the new council took to the wilderness last evening. It fled to West Baden, which is as near wilderness as can be reached in a day's ride from Chicago and still present the ordinary comforts of life.

It was a case of simply having to get away to some place where it could work out its trouble without too many more added in the way of undesired advice.

Ordinarily the committee waits for the official canvass before escaping. This trip it felt it had no time to spare. It has too many troubles before it. The first thing it will have to do is to determine how the representation on committees is to be divided up between the democratic and republican aldermen. In the past the places have been split as evenly as possible, under the nonpartisanship arrangement, but this year there are not democrats enough to go around.

A count made of the twenty-six democrats who will sit in the next council showed only eleven of enough experience and other qualifications to be put on the important committees or given chairmanships of more than minor committees. As there are twenty-six committees with thirteen members each and a place on finance is counted as equivalent to a chairmanship of another committee, the arithmetical problem is easily stated. It could be solved by putting Ald. Coughlin on finance or making Ald. Powers chairman of local transportation or Ald. Cullerton head of gas, oil, and electric light, but these are not the lines on which the nominating committee is working.

List of Available Democrats.

The available democrats for major positions are practically reduced to Ald. Richert, Egan, Scully, Zimmer, Dever, Finn, Reinberg, Connery, O'Connell, Kohout, Nolan, More trouble arises here in the fact that, aside from Ald. Egan, who is just entering on his second year, they are all now well supplied with honors.

Richert is chairman of the building committee and a member of judiciary, Scully is on finance and gas, oil, and electric light, Zimmer is on finance and local transportation and chairman of schools, Dever is chairman of judiciary and on local transportation, Reinberg is on finance, judiciary, and gas, oil, and electric light. Connery is on health and judiciary. O'Connell is on finance, gas, oil, and electric light, and license. Kohout is on finance and judiciary. Nolan is chairman of police. Finn is on finance and local transportation and chairman of streets and alleys west.

There is no trouble about the republicans. There are more of them than can be found places for. So the first question before the nominating committee will be whether places are to be equally divided between the two parties or apportioned according to their membership in the council.

Young to Quit Light Committee.

Ald. Young has announced that he does not care to serve longer as either chairman or a member of gas, oil, and electric light. He said he had served three years, and he thought that was enough. This leaves vacant an important chairmanship, and the names most talked of for it are Ald. Foell and Ald. Snow. Ald. O'Connell is also talked of. The thing which may decide the matter is that Ald. Foell is now entering his second term with no chairmanship, and Ald. Snow has made his special committee on compensation one of the most important ones in the council.

Preliminary Meeting Held.

The nominating committee is composed of Ald. Bennett, Beilfuss, and Taylor, republicans, and Ald. O'Connell, Reinberg, and Scully, democrats. It had a preliminary meeting during the day and decided to take the first train it could get to West Baden. It expects to be able to report to the council meeting next Monday night.

LIES, SAYS SUSPECTED SLAYER.

Gladys St. Clair and Negro Accuser Brought Face to Face in Healy's Office.

John Edwards, the negro convict from Joliet, who charges that George R. Porter, a real estate broker, was poisoned last year, and Gladys St. Clair, arrested in connection with the death, were brought face to face in the office of State's Attorney Healy yesterday. Each declared that the other lied. It will be decided this morning whether an order shall be asked authorizing the exhumation of the body.

Edwards was brought to Chicago from Joliet in the afternoon. He reasserted his original charges that Porter was poisoned by the woman, who several times interrupted him in his story of statements that she had made to him. Finally she walked over to where Edwards was sitting.

"John Edwards, you lied about me," she said. "I never said I drugged the beer that Mr. Porter drank, nor did I say I robbed him. You lied."

The officials, though they have not determined the matter finally, are inclined to believe the woman.

RECORDS LOOSE; GRAFT EASY

Merit Board Finds Books Worst Thing in Water Office.

NEW SYSTEM IS ORDERED.

Hearing of Charges Against Suspended Meter Setters Ended.

A searching investigation of the system of accounting throughout the meter division of the water bureau will be undertaken this morning by the civil service commission. The inquiry will be preliminary to installing an entirely new system of recording meter readings and accounting for city property.

The hearing of the charges of negligence and inefficiency against the twenty-eight suspended meter setters and laborers was concluded in the forenoon. While the merit board reserved its decision the members made no secret of their belief that the most alarming feature of the revelations was the system itself under which the meter division was operated. The methods of accounting and mechanical administration employed not only were slipshod but susceptible of graft operations.

The records are in such a chaotic state that Supt. McCourt has been unable to find the reports of meter readers tallying with the entries on the books. There is no telling whether the rate takers reported the readings honestly or dishonestly. The entries of the readings in the books of the division show in many instances only one-tenth of the actual amount of water used by large corporations. Either the rate taker made a false report or the bookkeeper made a false entry.

Man Who Could Tell Is Missing.

The official who probably could throw most light on these perplexities is Chief Clerk John Lambin, who disappeared a few days before the water bureau scandal came to light and has not been heard from since.

Another matter for inquiry is the audit that is supposed to be given to the books of each department once a year. The merit board wants to know how it happened that these audits did not disclose the frauds on the city. If it appears practicable the board may order a special audit as preliminary to the installation of the new system of accounting being worked out by Deputy Public Works Commissioner Redieske and Supt. McCourt.

Witnesses before the commission in the morning testified to the mysterious disappearance of city property worth thousands of dollars, the incompetency of employés.

Hundreds of Meters Stolen.

Foreman M. W. Coghlan said that in all the time he has been at the shop he has seen but six receipts returned for meters which had been repaired and returned to property owners.

"The selling of these meters by city employés to junk dealers became such an abuse that I issued special orders against it on several occasions," said Foreman Coghlan. "Hundreds of these meters disappeared every year, but it was extremely difficult to trace them. We knew that city employés were selling them to junk dealers, but we could not prove it, as the men would not squeal on one another."

SCHOOLING CUT TOO SHORT, SAYS HARVARD PRESIDENT.

Dr. Eliot Addresses Twentieth Century Club on "Continuous Education for Men and Women."

America's system of abbreviated schooling for children was strongly condemned by President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university in an address on "Continuous Education of Men and Women" at a meeting of the Twentieth Century club in the rooms of the Fortnightly last night. President Eliot was presented to his audience as "the dean of college presidents" by Franklin H. Head.

"One of the greatest evils of the American system of education, if we may be said to have a system, is the large number of children who finish their schooling at the age of 14," said President Eliot. "We variously think that the period of education should terminate at this age, or at 18, at the end of the high school, or at 22, at the close of college, or even at 25, when the graduate school has closed. But the greatest failure of our system is the limited period of child education.

"It is the fashion now to say that our schools train for life and not for college. The grade school trains for life and not for the high school, the high school trains for life and not for college, and the college trains for life and not for the graduate school, by this doctrine. But what is needed is the continuous education which lasts all through life."

THROUGH ROUTE ESTABLISHED.

Cars to Run Between Hooker and Sixty-ninth in Halsted Street—City Gets $672,369.

The establishment of a temporary through route was announced by the board of supervising engineers yesterday. The route will be known as No. 24 and will be operated in Halsted street between Hooker and Sixty-ninth streets.

The board announced that the operation of route No. 8, from Diversey boulevard to Sixty-third street and Jackson Park avenue by way of Halsted street and Sixty-third streeet, would be impossible at present because of obstructions in the tracks.

The city received its first money under the terms of the street car ordinances yesterday. The Chicago City company sent in a check for $672,369.44 for the city's share for the first year.

WOMAN'S PARASOL SPEARS ELLIOTT.

Angry Wife of Man Who Paid Him $5 Seeks to Get Back the Sum.

MAKES SCENE IN OFFICE.

Before and After Umbrella Onslaught She Freely Expresses Opinion.

Eugene M. Elliott, head of the Elliott system of employment and advertising, more familiarly known as the "$5,000,000 Arizona corporation," was umbrella thrashed and tongue lashed by an irate wife of one of his alleged victims in his office in the Monadnock block yesterday morning.

The scene was the result of Elliott's refusal to refund $5 paid by the woman's husband, W. P. Fay, 2921 Indiana avenue, an accountant in the Lakota hotel, on the promise that he would get a position paying $150 monthly.

Mrs. Fay, who is a large, athletic looking woman, went to the offices of the Elliott system, accompanied by a representative of the Bolen-Stewart law firm. When she entered the outer offices of the concern she carried a gold headed umbrella and a fire in her eye that bodes no good to the object of her search, Elliott.

She was met at the door by an employé who courteously asked her business.

"I want to see Mr. Elliott," replied Mrs. Fay, "and I want to see him and no one else." Then she brushed the employé aside and strode the length of the suite, peering into several private offices, all the while shouting loudly, "I want to see Elliott."

Elliott Appears.

Soon a door opened and a small blonde, sharp featured man emerged and inquired the cause of the disturbance. Without waiting a second Mrs. Fay sprang toward him and, shouting at the top of her voice, "I'm looking for Elliott, the head of this concern," confronted him.

"My name is Elliott," replied the small man with affected coolness. He beckoned Mrs. Fay and her escort into his private office.

"Now, madam, what can I do for you?" he asked in the same affected cool tone.

"Well, my name is Mrs. W. P. Fay, and you can return to me immediately $5 my husband paid into your employment agency on the pretext of getting a good position," replied Mrs. Fay, her voice rising in pitch at each word.

Threatens Him with Violence.

Then, while Elliott sat making heroic efforts to appear unperturbed, the woman kept up a running fire of abuse, closing with "But you see before you one woman that you will not overreach, even if I have to use this umbrella on you."

"You have abused me enough; there's the door," replied Elliott.

Instead of heeding the command, however, Mrs. Fay arose from her chair and stepped close to Elliott.

"Are you going to give me that $5?" again she demanded, in tones louder than before.

"No, I'm not, and the sooner you know it the better for you," Elliott replied.

"The best thing that you can do is to go to the lawyers who sent you here and have them try to——"

Jabs Him with Umbrella.

Without waiting for him to quite finish the sentence, the woman wheeled the umbrella around in her hand and sharply thrust it into Elliott's side, all the while boring and pressing on the handle, and hissing imprecations. The head of the "$5,000,000 corporation" winced, but never said a word.

Before he had recovered from the surprise of the proceeding the woman and her companion hastened out of the private office. All the way through the suite and long after she had reached the corridors Mrs. Fay still shouted imprecations on the head of Elliott and expressed her opinion of his concern without mincing words.

At the loud sound of the woman's voice doors of offices in all directions opened and heads were stuck out. Unabashed, the incensed woman repeated her opinion of the employment agent, reciting the experiences of herself and husband.

Mrs. Fay later went to the offices of Bolen & Stewart, the lawyers who are prosecuting various suits against Elliott, in the interest of the Illinois Employment bureau. There she told of her husband's experience with the company. It was similar to that of others. He responded to an advertisement for a position paying $150 a month. Before the firm could consider his application, however, he was told that he would have to purchase five shares of stock in the Arizona corporation. After he had paid the money Fay was then sent to several places, but instead of being offered the salary advertised by the Elliott concern he was offered $50 a month.

More Suits Against Elliott.

Six additional suits to recover sums of $5 paid by alleged victims will be tried before Judge Wells in the Municipal court today. The plaintiffs are Ignatius Barnard, 5815 Prairie avenue; Helje Bering, 1699 Humboldt boulevard; Henry Bahrenburg, 483 Robey street; John S. Kelly, 5525 Emerald avenue; Harry Strain, 174 First street, Batavia; John Mulqueen, 5259 Union avenue.

To Give Commencement Banquet.

A commencement banquet will be given by students of the Zymotechnic institute, known as the "school of brewing," in the Francis room of the Congress hotel Friday evening. The program includes several interesting addresses on the liquor question.

ROOSEVELT HITS JIM CROW LAW.

Blacks Who Ride on Trains in South to Fare as Well as Whites.

BOARD'S ORDER IGNORED.

Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Line Draws Fire for Disobeying Rule.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has taken up the shibboleth of equal rights on behalf of the negro of the south who travels on railway trains and who encounters the Jim Crow car law in a way that affects his sensibilities.

He has ordered that certain railroads of the south be brought to time and made to observe the laws in regard to giving all persons who purchase first class tickets and ride on same equal though separate accommodations.

The case which has aroused the president's ire and which has caused him to issue what might be classed as a pronunciamento declaring that persons of color in states where the Jim Crow car law flourishes shall be given accommodations equal to those received by their white brothers on railway trains is known as the Georgia Edwards complaint against the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway company.

There are other cases of the same nature pending, but the Georgia Edwards case, wherein the railway mentioned refused to obey an order of the interstate commerce commission, has given the first opportunity for the delivering of a blow from the White house on behalf of the southern negro and his trials over the Jim Crow law.

Woman's Complaint Upheld.

Georgia Edwards is a woman of the negro race and resides at Chattanooga, Tenn. She rode from Chattanooga to Dalton, Ga., a distance of thirty-eight miles, over the defendant's line of railway. She sat first in a coach set aside for the use of white people and was forcibly removed to the section reserved for the members of her race.

She not only objected to the removal, but also to the accommodations provided for herself and other colored passengers. This resulted in a complaint to the interstate commerce commission, which was submitted June 11, 1907, and decided by the commission two weeks later.

The commission brushed aside the complaint as to the segregation of the races with the statement that it was a reasonable regulation of interstate traffic and permissible under the act to regulate commerce.

From the record, however, the commission discovered that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road provided certain accommodations for its white passengers paying first class fare which were not provided for colored passengers paying the same rate.

It was accordingly ordered that on or before the first day of October, 1907, the road in question should furnish equal accommodations for white and negro passengers.

Road Ignores Order.

The order was reported to have been ignored and an agent of the interstate commerce commission was sent south to investigate. He returned with the report that the order had not been obeyed.

Attorney John H. Marble, who assists Commissioner Lane in looking after the prosecutions carried on by the interstate commerce commission, compiled a report which was sent to the president, which resulted in the letter to the attorney general ordering the enforcement of the law.

No doubt the president has also received complaints from negro Methodist bishops who traveled in the south last winter to arrange for the details of the conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church to be held in May at Norfolk.

These bishops returned from their journey feeling deeply outraged over the accommodations they claim they were forced to endure on certain southern railways. They filed a complaint with the interstate commerce commission.

The roads and car companies complained of have all filed briefs stating that equal service and accommodations have been furnished blacks and whites alike.

TABLES SHIP SUBSIDY BILL.

House Committee, by Vote of 8 to 7, Goes on Record in Opposition to Mail Measure.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—By a vote of 8 to 7 the house committee on postoffices and post roads today virtually tabled the ocean mail subsidy bill.

The bill as introduced in the house raised second class mail vessels—carrying United States mails to South America, the Philippines, Japan, China, and Australasia—to the schedule of pay for first class vessels, an increase from $2 to $4 a mile. The bill passed by the senate similarly raised the pay for second class and third class vessels, an extreme increase, from $1 to $4.

In the house committee, after vigorous debate, a motion to substitute the house bill for the senate bill failed by the vote stated. It is now understood that the committee will take no further action on either bill.

VENEZUELA SAFE FROM BIG STICK.

noco corporation was Mr. Rudolph Dolge, who at one time was American consular agent at Caracas and who figured extensively in the dispute between Minister Bowen and Assistant Secretary Loomis, his testimony having been largely favorable to the latter.

Arbitration Award Attacked.

The third claim in the list is in behalf of the Orinoco Steamship company. That company was the direct successor of the rights granted under the concession to Fitzgerald and Turnbull.

These rights subsequently were vacated by the Venezuelan government by means of one of its usual arbitrary decrees. The steamship company filed claims aggregating $1,401,558.

An agreement was concluded five years ago for the arbitration of all such claims against the republic of Venezuela. As the result of that arbitration the steamship company was awarded $28,224, or about 2 per cent of its total claim.

That arbitration was signed, sealed, completed, and accepted years ago.

The Orinoco Steamship company claim has been pressed by Mr. R. Morgan Olcott, who is closely related to Mr. James Van Vechten Olcott, now congressman from New York, and former district attorney of that city.

The United States is now put in the position of demanding the reopening of a case already arbitrated, it having been alleged that there was fraud and collusion in the arbitration itself.

Asphalt Trust Aided Rebellion.

In the fourth claim there is to be found the principal one against the republic of Venezuela. This grows out of the seizure of the property in the asphalt lake of the New York and Bermudez company, which operated under a twenty-five year concession dated in 1883 and subsequent mining titles.

The New York and Bermudez company operated under the Hamilton concession, and in July, 1904, the Venezuelan government filed suit to cancel the concession for alleged nonfulfillment of certain parts of the contract.

The proceedings clearly were arbitrary and possibly unjust. A receiver was placed in possession of the property with the aid of government gunboats and soldiers.

The employés of the company were arrested, its property was seized, and its laborers were compelled to work at the point of the bayonet.

Unfortunately the trust undertook to drive Gen. Castro from the government. It has been proved guilty of having participated in what is known as the Matos rebellion, and the officers of the trust admitted that they paid over $100,000 to this revolutionary personage, but alleged that it was blackmail to which they were compelled to submit unwillingly.

Critchfield Claim Questioned.

The fifth claim, which is that of the United States and Venezuela company, refers to an asphalt mine located in the district of Maracaibo. The title to this mine comes through a grant by the Venezuelan government to one Pedro Guzman, who transferred his rights to George W. Critchfield, and that gentleman transferred the title and a contract for the building of a railroad to the United States and Venezuela company.

It is admitted that this concession and contract failed to secure the approval of the Venezuelan congress, as required by the constitution of that country.

It is claimed by the United States, however, that an omnibus resolution of the Venezuelan congress approving all of the executive's acts during this provisional presidency was sufficient to ratify the Critchfield contract.

Congress Balks Because of Frauds.

President Castro has been arbitrary, unjust, and foolishly defiant. Congress would like to get after him if it knew how to do it, but it is holding back on the proposition that an army should be sent to Venezuela or ships dispatched to its ports merely for the purpose of enforcing dubious claims for property under concessions which have been tainted with scandal and fraud since the day they were granted.

HOUSE ASKS LIGHT ON PAPER TRUST.

Adopts Both Resolutions Offered by Speaker Cannon on the Subject.

PAYNE HITS DEMOCRATS.

Says Attack on Tariff on Wood Pulp Is "Cheap Talk" of Cowards.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—The house today passed the two resolutions introduced by Speaker Cannon calling for certain information regarding the so-called paper trust.

One of these resolutions directs the attorney general to inform the house what steps have been taken to investigate and prosecute the International Paper Company of New York and other corporations or combinations engaged in the manufacture of wood pulp or print paper. The other directs the secretary of commerce and labor to inform the house what steps have been taken by the bureau of corporations towards investigating the alleged "paper trust."

After Mr. Clayton of Alabama denounced the paper trust as a "criminal trade conspiracy" and Mr. Williams called attention to the facility with which the resolutions had been reported because they had been offered by the speaker, Mr. Payne, chairman of the committee on ways and means, got the floor.

"Does anyone suppose," he said, "that by the passing of a bill putting wood pulp or paper on the free list in the twinkling of an eye you can transfer the industry from the United States to Canada or that under those circumstances the Canadian parliament will not impose an extra export duty on pulp logs?

Calls Attack on Tax "Cheap Talk."

"If that were done," he inquired, "when would you get your relief? Where would you get your cheaper paper? Where in the name of common sense would you benefit anybody in this country?"

Mr. Payne said he knew there was some "cheap talk" about taxing intelligence, but he asked, "why not hear this subject as intelligent men, and not go into hysterics over the matter?"

Addressing the democrats, Mr. Payne said the difficulty was that the democrats felt there were too many votes behind the newspaper people of the country, "who, under a protection which comes not from the tariff, but from localities that have a monopoly of the newspaper business of the United States, try to rush congress into the idea without investigation, without looking into the facts, and without determining whether you will deprive 38,000 people of the means of livelihood and force the removal of the tax."

Another Blow to Filibusters.

The house passed a new rule enabling the speaker to declare a recess at 5 o'clock every day for the remainder of the week without a roll call. Notwithstanding the rigid rules already in force, the democrats forced five roll calls on the rule.

Mr. Dalzell reported another rule, which the republicans put through by sheer force of numbers. It provided that hereafter a general appropriation bill that has been considered and amended in committee of whole house shall be put on its passage under suspension of the rules and that a majority and not a two-thirds vote shall carry the bill through.

The object of the rule is to prevent the democrats securing roll calls on motions, forcing votes on amendments.

WILL SETTLE MAIL CONTRACT.

Question of Wagon or Tunnel Service in Chicago to Be Decided on Friday.

Washington, D. C., April 8.—[Special.]—Second Assistant Postmaster General McCleary will endeavor on Friday next to settle the controversy over the carrying of United States mails through Chicago and between stations and the Chicago postoffice.

The company operating the Chicago tunnel has requested the postoffice department to renew its mail carrying contract, but has placed its bid at such a figure that the postoffice authorities are disinclined to give it immediate acceptance. The existing contract has been at the rate of $172,600 a year. The tunnel company has mentioned a renewal figure of more than $400,000, giving out at the same time a statement that it is impossible to obtain remuneration under the old contract for services rendered. The second assistant postmaster general has authority from congress to renew the contract at an equitable figure. He considers the bid of the tunnel company too high, and is considering a plan to use screen wagons in the place of the tunnel service.

Bids for screen wagon service in Chicago were opened yesterday. The screen wagon people and representatives of the tunnel company will gather in Gen. McCleary's office on Friday, and the postoffice authorities say a settlement of the contract will be effected.

ELECTRICITY FROM CANAL WILL LIGHT LINCOLN PARK.

North Side Boulevards Also Included in New Contract Between Board and Sanitary District.

Lincoln park and the north side boulevards are to be lighted with electricity generated by the Chicago drainage channel. The Lincoln park board met yesterday and decided to enter into a contract with the sanitary district for the necessary power. It is expected the park will be ready to use the electrical current by Sept. 1.

The contract will continue for fifteen years. The park will use 600 horse power of electricity daily, and later when the new addition to the park is completed this amount will be increased to 1,200 horse power.

It is estimated the new arrangement will save the park about $6,000 a year. In the past the park and boulevards have been lighted by gas and electricity.

At the meeting of the trustees of the sanitary district during the day arrangements were made for taking over certain lines of the Edison Electric Light company whereby the lines of the district could enter Berwyn and adjacent suburbs at a small cost and by a short route.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—No. 18.

The Neighborhood of Your Advertising.

By Herbert Kaufman.

Circulation is a commodity which must be bought with the same common sense used in selecting potatoes, cloth and real estate. It can be measured and weighed—it is merchandise with a provable value. It varies just as much as the grocer's green stuff, the tailor's fabrics and the lots of the real estate man.

Your cook refuses to accept green and rotten tomatoes at the price of perfect ones. She does not count the number of vegetables that are delivered to her, but those that she can use. When your wife selects a piece of cloth she first makes sure that it will serve the purpose she has in view. When you buy a piece of property you consider the neighborhood as well as the ground. Just so when you buy advertising you must find out how much of the circulation you can use. You must consider the neighborhoods where your copy will be read with the same thoughtfulness that you devoted to selecting the spot where your goods are sold.

A dealer in precious stones would be foolish to open up in a tenement district, and equally short-sighted to tell about his jewelry in a newspaper largely distributed there. Out of ten thousand men and women who might see what he had to say not ten of them could afford to buy his goods. These ten thousand readers would be mass without muscle. He could make them willing to do business with him, but their incomes wouldn't let them become customers.

One of the greatest mistakes in publicity is to drop your lines where the fish can't take your bait.

Circulation is, as you see, a very interesting subject, but very few people know anything about it. It would surprise you to know that this ignorance often extends to the business offices of newspapers. I have known publishers to continually mistake the class of their readers and have met hundreds of them who had the most fantastic ideas upon the figures of their circulation.

While I would not be so harsh as to accuse them of anything more than being mistaken, none the less their tendency to infect others with this misinformation renders it extremely advisable for you to become a member of the Missouri society—and "be shown."

You don't want a circulation statement. You don't understand the tricks in their making. Circulation statements, usually sworn to, are dust to blind the eyes of the advertiser to a newspaper's delinquencies in producing results. Make the newspaper which carries your advertisement show you the list of its advertisers. The supreme test of the advertising value of a newspaper is—does it carry the bulk of the advertising? A newspaper which prints the most advertising, month after month, year after year, is always the best medium. This is true in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, as well as in Chicago.

PLAN TO BROADEN FACTORY SECTION.

Proposed That Railroads Divide Terminal Lines and Build Spur Tracks.

WOULD END CONGESTION.

Central Passenger Association in Session to Discuss Granting Excursion Rates.

A movement to widen the scope of Chicago's manufacturing district and to relieve existing conditions of serious congestion which have handicapped the railroads in moving home products has been started by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Last week officials of the association and of the Northwestern railroad inspected the road's Chicago terminals with the view of mapping out a new manufacturing district.

The plan is to divide the terminal lines into industrial sections and to build a spur for each section to a distance of several blocks from the main tracks. Thus the necessity of locating large manufacturing plants on the main lines or of building individual side tracks will be done away with and manufacturing sites will be increased in number and at the same time made less expensive to new concerns of the smaller sort which at present cannot locate their plants on the main lines.

Railroad Men Favor Plan.

By this plan the association expects to afford to the more remote plants equal transportation facilities with the older and more centrally located plants. Officials of the Northwestern favor the plan, or, at least, an experiment along the lines laid down by the commerce association. If the plan proves successful in bringing new industries to Chicago it will be laid before other railroads for consideration. If for no other reason than affording relief from traffic congestion along the main lines, the plan will meet favor with railroad men.

Following the initial inspection trip another tour will be made next week and definite plans for building spurs and plotting manufacturing sites will be made. Both railroad and commercial men declare that in some such arrangement lies Chicago's industrial future, and as adjacent sites in the manufacturing district now are almost wholly occupied and new plants cannot come to the railroads, it is proposed to have the railroads go to them.

Discuss Excursion Rates.

The Central Passenger association began its monthly meeting yesterday in Chicago by considering summer excursion rates and low fares for the republican national convention in June. The question of summer excursion rates to Canadian resorts first was taken up. The old rates probably will prevail. Convention rates were discussed, but no agreement was reached. The meeting will be continued today, and it is probable that similar action to that of the Western Passenger association will be taken. This will mean that the association will report in favor of the 2 cent rate, or will fail to approve of the 1½ cent basis, and will leave the individaul roads to make their own rates.

General Managers Meet.

The General Managers' association of the American Railway association began its annual convention at the Auditorium hotel in the morning. The convention started with an executive session in the rooms of Chairman J. E. Hurley, general manager of the Santa Fé. The purpose of the meeting is to consider transportation questions, including rates, demurrage charges, and terminals. Following the morning session a conference was held with executive officers of the Order of Railway Conductors and the engineers', trainmen's, and firemen's unions, which are in Chicago to meet the railroad men for a discussion of the new sixteen hour day law. The conference was short and not productive of results. Another joint meeting will be held today.

$20,000 FINE FOR REBATES.

Federal Court Punishes Stearns Salt and Lumber Company for Taking Favors from Railroad.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 8.—Judge Knappen in the United States District court today sentenced the Stearns Salt and Lumber company of Ludington, Mich., to pay a fine of $20,000 for accepting rebates from the Père Marquette railroad on lumber shipments.

The Stearns company was indicted by the March grand jury in twenty counts. Two weeks ago the company entered a plea of guilty.

Clemency was asked on the ground that the rebates were accepted for the company by clerks without the knowledge of the company itself.

Santa Fe Admits Oil Rebate.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 8.—That the Santa Fé gave rebates of almost $38,000 to the Associated Oil company last summer on freight paid for shipments of oil in 1906 was admitted today by Edward Chambers, assistant freight traffic manager, in the hearing before the state railroad commission. This is the refund referred to in a message by President Roosevelt to congress in January, in which the president quoted a portion of Mr. Chambers' letter authorizing a refund.

DISCUSS BANK RESERVE PLAN

George E. Roberts and Charles G. Dawes Give Their Views.

BOTH OVERLOOK ONE FACT.

Controversy Hinges on Proposed Amendment to the Aldrich Bill.

In the controversy between the national banks and Charles G. Dawes over the Aldrich bill reserve amendment the following was received from George E. Roberts of the Commercial National yesterday:

"Mr. Dawes states:

This is what he (Mr. Roberts) should have said in reference to the sum of	$295,433,703
Under the Aldrich bill of this reserve there may be carried in securities (one-third)	$ 98,477,901
There must be carried in lawful money	196,955,802
	$295,433,703
As a matter of fact the controller's statement shows that on Feb. 14 the cash in the nonreserve cities was	$232,752,937
Subtracting the Aldrich bill lawful money requirements	196,955,802
Leaves an excess of	$ 35,797,135

"The above statement is correct except that Mr. Dawes does not explain how with a surplus of $35,797,135 he is going to purchase the $98,477,901 of bonds which he has substituted for cash in the reserves. For both classes of banks the excess of cash, after the full bond substitution, is $52,992,073, but there are $134,999,880 of bonds to be paid for. The central reserve cities must face drafts on them for this amount. Just when, how and where this money would reappear in commerce are matters of conjecture only.

"If the balances of the country banker in the central reserve cities were actually reduced as the bill intends, his liability to command accommodations there, as from time to time needed, would be reduced correspondingly.

Sees Only Minimum Effects.

"All the figures based on the February statement show the minimum effects of the Aldrich bill. Business is confessedly restricted and reserves abnormally large, and to say that therefore a given amount of money may be permanently locked up without detriment to the country is unwarranted.

"The intention of the Aldrich bill is to increase cash reserves in all banks outside of central reserve cities, and this intention Mr. Dawes approves and the resolutions of Chicago national bankers oppose. The provisions of the national banking act in this respect have stood unchanged since the system was established. There is less need to increase reserves in country banks now than at any previous time, for there are more reserve cities, transportation facilities are better, and the telephone places the country banker in close communication with his reserve agent.

"The only argument for a change is the fact that two or three times in the last forty-four years the reserve agents have not been able to respond to the calls on them. This has occurred in times of panic, when the country banker has been moved to fortify himself because he knew our inelastic system was unequal to such emergencies. If the reserve agent were enabled, on the basis of his ordinary commercial assets, to obtain an additional supply of currency from a legalized clearing house or central bank, no other remedy would be required."

Mr. Dawes Makes Statement.

The following was received from Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust company and former controller of the currency:

"In connection with my former statement, to which Mr. Roberts and others took exception, that the passage of the reserve provisions of the Aldrich bill, requiring stronger cash reserves in country banks, will not necessitate disastrous contraction of national bank loans, I have official figures just received from T. P. Kane, acting controller of the currency, the calculations having been made by the treasury department from the Feb. 14 call by states and the reserve cities separately. This statement shows that the banks as a whole have a large surplus of lawful money on hand over the requirements of the Aldrich bill."

Important Fact Overlooked.

In this connection there is an important fact which neither Mr. Dawes nor Mr. Roberts has yet brought out. The report of the controller for Feb. 14 shows among the resources of the national banks the following investments, apart from bonds held to secure circulation or government deposits:

Bonds, securities, etc	$714,043,089
Held by central reserve cities	178,799,737
Leaving amount held by reserve cities and country banks	$535,243,352

It is not improbable the banks would change a sufficient amount of these investments into the securities called for by the Aldrich bill, so that lawful money reserves need not be disturbed.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

LOW GRADE RAIN HALTS THE CUBS.

Record of Two Weeks' Ball Playing Weather Broken at Evansville.

M. WALSH SAYS GOOD-BY.

"Candy Kid" Furnished Transportation Back to His Virginia League Berth.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

Evansville, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—An outburst of low grade rain, the first the Cubs have seen since leaving Vicksburg two weeks ago, halted the pastime here today. The drizzle soused things from daylight until dark and chased the river rats—i. e.: the local ball team—from the lowlands to the highest peaks of Evansville.

While parching in the dry and arid wastes of Alabama and Georgia certain of the athletes yearned for the moisture of their native land north of the Ohio river. Now that they are here they howl about too much wet. Did you ever see the beat?

Nor is the outlook any too good for doings tomorrow at Terre Haute, which is in the heart of the Corn Droppers' league and our next stop. According to the public prints of this well known literary state, rain has swamped all the spring practice games billed at Terre Haute to date.

Brown Goes to Investigate.

Mordecai Brown is ashamed of his home town and has gone on ahead to see about the weather. Indiana's favorite three fingered son started off on a diplomatic errand soon after the Cubs arrived this morning. Mordecai will mingle freely with the natives of Terre Haute and if necessary call out the coal miners to help him put a head on the weather man. The great pitcher has been saving his hurling stem on purpose to appear with the Cubs at his home town, and to be knocked out of the box by rain is considered the heighth of meteorological impropriety. However, the champions for the most part are in excellent condition and a day or two of rest on native soil will not injure their pennant prospects.

Manager Chance rang the starting gong at the heels of Martin Walsh this afternoon. The "Candy Kid," self-named, was the first of the recruits to go over the high hurdles. The big chap found an order for transportation to Danville, Va., awaiting him here and he said his last farewell, toot, toot, good-by at 2 o'clock.

Owing to his sunny disposition many of the athletes hated to see Martin depart. Mr. Schulte could have wept, Walsh's friendship for him was so touching, with or without quotation marks. Treasurer Williams advanced the price of railroad fare, a Pullman berth, and eat money for Martin, the whole of which reached the appropriate total of $23. The prodigal son of Danville has abandoned all hope of pitching against Brother Ed in the next world's series, but he looks forward to a prosperous season in the Virginia league, where he is a popular idol and a star pitcher.

Evans at Last Resigned.

When the Wichita (Kas.) proposition was sprung on him last night Mr. Evans at first took the bit in his teeth and backed up against the dashboard. In other words, Arthur balked because Kansas is so far away from a lot of other places. He contended, too, that Mr. F. Isbell's team assays one grade lower than the one Mr. Evans came from, whereas he desires to advance in his chosen profession instead of going ahead backwards. Another point that bothered Arthur is that his new $13.50 medicine chest is on the blink from the bottles bumping around inside, and it may not survive the voyage to Wichita. After listening to all of Mr. Evans' pros and cons the Peerless Leader pulled out his persuasive eloquence stop and talked the backstop into going west. He will disperse in the general direction of Kansas tomorrow morning, bearing with him the well wishes of the entire community.

In speaking of his blighted prospects Arthur said four big clubs were after him last fall—New York, Pittsburg, Detroit, and Chicago—and that he landed on the only lemon in the bunch. But he bears no malice. He says Vincent Campbell is a nice young man and he wishes him success as utility catcher for the Cubs. The warning legend Mr. Evans has pasted on his baggage is worthy of special mention. It reads: "Notice—Please handle with care. You broke my other trunk. Value $600,000." Maybe that won't throw a scare into the baggage smashers between Evansville and Wichita!

Notes of the Cubs.

Mr. Ruelbach ran over to St. Louis tonight and will step back to Terre Haute tomorrow in time for the game, if any.

By 6 o'clock this evening Mr. Kling had acquired a severe attack of author's cramp directing souvenir post cards. John was on the job nine hours.

Mr. Sheckard's delight at returning to the prune belt was unanimous. The prunes of Dixie are not to be compared with those on the northern hotel circuit.

Mr. Howard was delighted to hear that Kenney, Ill., was voted into the dry belt, a condition the Gentlemen's club has been striving for years to bring about. Mr. Howard is a great admirer of Evangelist B. Sunday.

Attention is directed to a highly complimentary reprint notice of Mr. Fraser in this issue. We are indebted to Mr. Fraser himself for the clipping, which came direct from Park Ridge in a special delivery letter.

Owing to the weather conditions the Cubs did a lot of indoor shopping today. Among the more important purchases we noticed three hair cuts and one man's size briar root pipe. The latter was seen protruding from the popular countenance of Mr. Slagle.

Prof. Semmens has been so busy repairing the athletes and capturing mad dogs that he neglected a wound on his own leg incurred in the Vicksburg skating rink a month ago. If oxygen cream is at fault, there is an illustrated oil in circulation that might do some good.

Mr. Chick Fraser, the object of admiration of our entire sporting world, is showing himself to be in the finest of condition and is pitching great ball on his southern trip with the Cubs. You will also note that he is not only popular as a ball player, but is also mentioned in the personal items. From sporting page of Park Ridge, Ill., Weekly Herald.

SAYS GIANTS WILL LICK CUBS.

Traveling Towards Broadway, Mike Donlin Makes Confident Prediction—Rain Prevents Toledo Contest.

Toledo, O., April 8.—[Special.]—Rain and wet grounds caused Manager Armour to cancel the Giant game this afternoon. All members of the New York squad under the leadership of Bresnahan left tonight direct for New York, with the exception of Hannifan, who will join the regulars at Columbus. Mike Donlin says the Giants this year, in his opinion, are the strongest club in the National league, and the Chicago Cubs will have more than they can contend with when they meet the Giants.

Rain Balks St. Louis Game.

St. Louis, Mo., April 8.—[Special.]—The game scheduled between the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns in the spring series today was called off on account of rain.

No Contest at Philadelphia.

New Player for Cardinals.

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—Manager McCloskey of the St. Louis National league club today purchased Catcher Ludwig of Springfield for $1,000.

Chicago Men on Fort Wayne Team.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—Nine members of the Fort Wayne Central league baseball squad are Chicago men. They are: Jack Hendricks, manager and outfielder; Tommy Mee, third baseman; Frank Conroy, outfielder; William Gorman, infielder; Nicholas Larsen, third baseman; William Reilley, pitcher; Joseph Safford, outfielder; William Gibson, catcher. The departure of Claude S. Varnell, owner of the Fort Wayne team for Cincinnati, has revived a rumor that he is to sign two or three men who are to be turned loose by Ganzel.

South Bend Signs Tobias.

South Bend, Ind., April 8.—[Special.]—Pitcher Tobias of Nappanee, Ind., who was given a trial by the South Bend Central league team against the Chicago White Sox, will be signed by the local management, his showing being unusually strong for an amateur.

Cornell College, 8; Clinton, 1.

Mt. Vernon, Ia., April 8.—[Special.]—Cornell college defeated the Clinton Three Eye league team today in the first of a series of four practice games by a score of 8 to 1. Batteries: Cornell, Hermence, and Rosebery; Clinton, Pinckney, Zoe, and Wall.

TWO CENTRAL Y. M. C. A. FIVES WILL MEET IN THE FINALS.

Cardinals and Comets Gain Victories in Contests for Secondary Championship and Will Decide Issue Tonight.

Central Y. M. C. A. basketball fives, playing in the secondary championships, last night went into the final round by shutting out visiting teams by good scores.

In the opening game the Central "Y" Cardinals took first honors from the Lincoln Methodist Episcopal church five by a count of 29 to 21. The Cardinals encountered trouble with the Lincoln five and the battle was nip and tuck nearly all the way. Renz and Vrabek starred for Central and Mennie for the Lincoln quintet. Lineup:

Cent. "Y" [29].		Lincoln M. E. church [21].
Vrabek	Right forward	Mennie
Parker	Center	Dempsey
Hogland	Right guard	Yundt

Baskets—Vrabek, Renz [4], Mennie [3], Dempsey [3], Parker.

Central Comets had little opposition in the game with the Central Park A. C., and registered a clean victory, 42 to 16. Evidently the Comets played a style of game unknown to the Central Park boys, who could not stop the fast team work and long passes of the downtown five. Lineup:

Comets [42].		Central Park A. C. [16].
Kneip	Right forward	Erickson
Harder	Left forward	Harding
Barrett	Center	Gregg
Barnett, Green	Right guard	Gilmore

Baskets—Kneip [6], Harder [5], Barrett [3], Utz, Harding, Erickson, Gilmore [8]. Free throws—Harder [10], Gilmore [8], Whitehouse. Points awarded—Comets, 1; Central Park A. C., 2. Referee—Riley.

The final contestst will be decided tonight when the Lincoln M. E. plays the Central Park A. C. for third place at 8 o'clock, and the Central Comets meet the Central Cardinals for first and second places at 9 o'clock.

HARRY HILLMAN BREAKS DOWN.

Champion Middle Distance Athlete Is Sent to Atlantic City by Physicians—Suffers from Indigestion.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 8.—[Special.]—Harry L. Hillman Jr. of the New York Athletic club, the middle distance indoor champion of the world and Olympic champion hurdler, has broken down as the result of too much indoor running and has been sent away to Atlantic City by his physicians for a prolonged rest. Hillman has been suffering from acute indigestion for several years and too much indoor running aggravated the attack. He will not be able to return to work for more than a month and it is regarded as doubtful whether he can get into condition for the Olympic trials on June 6.

Sporting News Notes.

Louis Franz made a fine record in winning the Cleveland city bowling championship, averaging 201 53-126 for his 126 games.

C. M. Le Jeune, brother of the White Sox player, signed yesterday to play with Rogers Park in the Park Owners' association.

The American chess player, Marshall, was beaten yesterday in the international tourney at Vienna by Schlecter, the leader. Johner drew with Suechting.

Mathues of the West Chester Normal school recently shut out the Central Manual Training school of Philadelphia without a hit. Not a player reached first base. He struck out thirteen men.

RUEHL TEAM WINS THREE FROM THE GLOBE TROTTERS.

Leaders in the Southwest Bowling League Average 1,008 2-3, Becker, Haselhuhn, and Kupfer Starring.

The Ruehl five, leaders in the Southwest league race, last night got away with another fine series, averaging 1,008 2-3 and blanking the Globe Trotters of the second division. Becker, Haselhuhn, and Otto Kupfer were all "double centurions," Houlihan being the best of the losers.

The Cranes took a fall out of the leading Edisons of the Commercial league, wining two games with an average of 927 1-3, Schneider rolling the best average of the night with 225 2-3, having 254 in his last game. Harry Leffingwell rolled a big series with the Progressives in the North American Union league, getting 208 1-3 for his three games. Scores:

LEACH BACK TO THE OUTFIELD.

Pittsburg Star Insists on Condition of His Contract Not to Play Third Base.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 8.—[Special.]—A telegram from Winfield, Kas., tonight says that Tommy Leach, the former star third baseman of the Pittsburg team, who had been sent back to third base in practice this spring, has bolted the base and declared he never again would attempt to play at the infield position. It was one of the conditions made by Leach when he signed that he should not be asked to play shortstop in place of Wagner nor should he be asked to play any other than an outfield position, where he has been for almost two seasons. The team was in such bad shape, however, [illegible] June, when Storke would be out of college. The corner was too trying for the little fellow, who is now in his twentieth year in professional baseball, and he has gone back to the outfield. Leach quit third base in the middle of the game at Winfield yesterday.

TOO COLD FOR SOX TO PLAY A GAME.

Chilly Weather Aids Rain in Canceling Champaign Contest.

TURN TO INDOOR WORK.

Players Need Warmth to Get in Shape; Jones Points Out Flaws in Rules.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Champaign, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—Chilling weather greeted the Sox regulars when they reached here this noon, and it aided and abetted a twenty-four hour rainstorm, which ended this morning, in canceling the first of three games scheduled with the Illinois varsity. Manager Jones did not count another day in the "absolutely lost" column, as he gave the regulars a little—mighty little—outdoor practice and more warming up stunts in the gymnasium and cage, which have been placed at the disposal of the visitors by the university athletic authorities.

So excellent is the drainage of Illinois field that the heavy rain of yesterday and this morning would not alone have prevented today's game. The diamond, although damp, was fit to play on, in spite of the fact that not a ray of sunshine penetrated the gloom of the heavy gray clouds all day. But a strong north wind, which felt as if it was coming straight from Mackinac straits, chilled the athletes to the marrow. Hence no scrap.

Altrock a Fine Track Athlete.

Jones then called for a session of the primitive game "one old cat" to give the players a chance to fill up on fresh air after two nights in a sleeper, and sent them running around the three lap cinder track to strengthen their wind. Three miles apiece was the order given, but Director Huff told Altrock the track was eight laps to the mile, and Nick might have been running yet to make the prescribed three miles but for a friendly tip from a pal. An hour and a half's work on the indoor track and in the cage limbered the Sox to copious perspiration. A plunge and a rubdown completed the day's task.

The barnstormers found Davis, Sullivan, White, Walsh, Owen, Manuel, Olmstead, and Lang here on their arrival. This octet put in the morning at the gymnasium also.

The remaining two games here may be played tomorrow and Friday if the weather warms up, otherwise little outdoor practice is in sight. Five days' hard work in good warm weather would put the Sox in fair shape for the pennant race. That is the best that can be hoped for, as only five days of the training season remain. More likely the players will be fortunate to get two or three good days before the season opens on Tuesday.

Sox Not at Best for Pennant Race.

While none of the regulars is in poor condition save one or two that are a little overweight, none of them is right for the continuous strain of the championship season at top speed. Their work has been too irregular and intermittent to make the continued and consistent hardening process possible. At best they will have to work some of the soreness out in the pennant games, but the Sox are consoling themselves with the knowledge that most of the clubs in their race have had little, if any, better weather conditions of late. The Boston Americans, who were here to play yesterday, could get only indoor work, and left town in the rain.

Secretary Fredericks was called to Chicago by President Comiskey over long distance phone tonight. His job went begging, as "Doc" White, who filled in during Fredericks' last trip home, deliberately sidestepped the chance to be first assistant secretary again. His experience in chasing Pat Dougherty's trunk all over Indiana by wire, only to locate it in Altrock's possession in Cincinnati, cured "Doc" of secretarial ambitions. Manager Jones finally assumed the double duty.

Need More Men on Rules Committee.

The Sox leader furnished justification for Comiskey's claim that more players are needed on the rules committee to inject practical ideas into the playing rules. While watching the rain driving against the windows of the Sox Pullman as it rested on the sidetrack at Sidney for five hours this morning awaiting connections Jones discussed the new rule giving the batsman a sacrifice hit for scoring a runner from third base on a long fly.

"That rule is the direct opposite of what is needed in baseball today," said the Sox manager. "Team work is the goal of every club that wants to become a winner and individual records of players are a handicap in the modern game, although they used to be the whole works years ago. Rules should be formed to encourage team work and discourage individuals playing for records.

"The new sacrifice fly rule will not make more team players. It will do some justice to present team workers by giving them credit for sacrificing themselves, but it will encourage record players to try to make sacrifice flies when not wanted. For instance, with runners on both third and second and only one out no manager wants a long fly, as a rule, when a safe hit will score two runs, instead of one. The same is true when a club is four runs behind in the ninth inning with a runner on third. That one run is worthless, but in either case I have cited the man playing for a batting average will try for a long fly rather than to hit through or over the infield. If he hits a long fly he will get out of a time at bat anyway and a fly may fall safe, giving him a hit, while chances are 3 to 1 he would get a time at bat and no-hit if he tried for a safe hit.

Sacrifice with None Out.

"A rule which would help team work more than anything else would be to credit the batsman with a sacrifice every time he advanced a runner from first to second with none out, no matter how he did it so long as he sacrificed his own chances for a safe hit in order to put the runner down there. Another much needed rule change, I think, is to take the making of ground rules for overflow crowds away from the management of the home club. If no general rule can be made to fit all grounds leave it to the umpire. At present the captain of the home club can make any ground rule, no matter how absurd, which will give his team an advantage, and the visiting managers and umpires are helpless. I've done it myself, but only because all others take all the advantage they can of the present erroneous system."

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

Weather permitting, it is probable the big course at Jackson Park will be thrown open on Saturday, but it all depends on the condition of the grass. The lunch counter at the shelter has been inclosed.

The regular season of the Calumet Country club will open April 18, with the annual "Ridge" tournament, for which Secretary Hobkirk expects there will be not less than seven flights of eight each. Match play rounds will be played on succeeding Saturdays.

Vice President Strawn of the United States Golf association has received a letter from C. B. Macdonald, who assisted in drawing up the changes in the code suggested by the U. S. G. A. Mr. Macdonald has heard from Scotland and writes that the subcommittee of the Royal and Ancient club will meet this week to consider the proposed changes preparatory to presenting its report to the annual meeting of the club in May. A draft of the finding of this committee will be forwarded to the U. S. G. A. for its inspection so that further suggestions may be made if thought advisable.

ONE HIT OFF SOX II. PITCHERS.

Freeman and Miller Too Strong for Knox College Team and "Half Hose" Win, 3 to 0.

Galesburg, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—The White Sox II. defeated the Knox college nine here today by a score of 3 to 0 in a fast, well played game. The Chicagoans scored twice in the first inning on errors and again in the second on a passed ball and a hit. After that the collegians settled and blanked the Sox the rest of the way.

Freeman pitched the first five innings without a hit, Miller, a recent recruit, allowing one hit in the last four. The collegians never were dangerous, not getting a man past second base. Le Jeune starred with the stick, securing three hits. Score:

Soon to Settle West End's Row.

Final disposition of the factional war in the West End Athletic association will be made on April 14. The warring parties appeared yesterday before Judge Carpenter of the Circuit court and the Geiger contingent was given permission to file an amended bill which will be heard next Tuesday. Until the real owners are legally determined both sides are not likely to make any further moves. The Keelin party has called off its game scheduled for Sunday.

FUN AT ILLINOIS A. C. TANK.

Handy Proves Easy Winner in 440 Yards Event with Frizelle Second.

The water show given last night at the Illinois Athletic club demonstrated that, however good the club swimmers may be in contests of speed, Director Sullivan has not given them sufficient coaching for broncho busting. As a result none could mount one of the floating steeds, unbroken to saddle, upon which he was to do battle in the tilting tournament.

The efforts of the swimmers to assume a belligerent position on the refractory barrel were in vain and caused much amusement for the spectators. As none could mount, the event was declared a draw.

The water polo game was conducted along lines diametrically opposed to the New York idea and there was no foul play. Jaeger's team defeated Wilson's 3 to 1 in easy fashion the ball seldom being in proximity to the winner's goal.

H. J. Handy had no trouble in winning the 440 yard race. Summaries:

40 yards swim—Won by H. J. Hebner; F. Bell, second; P. McGillivray, third. Time, :21 2-5.

Horse tilting—Declared a draw between H. J. Hebner and J. J. Mehlem.

440 yards swim—Won by H. J. Handy; Frizelle, second; Weber, third. Time, 6:33.

Mattress race, 80 yards—Won by E. E. McGillivray; C. Michaels, second; H. Michaels, third. Time, 1:19 2-5.

Relay race, 160 yards—Won by Hebner, P. McGillivray, W. McGillivray, and C. Michaels from Mehlem, Bell, Frizelle, and H. Michaels. Time, 1:34 1-5.

Lord Goes to Dubuque.

Dubuque, Ia., April 8.—[Special.]—Ralph Lord, a pitcher from Knightsville, Ind., arrived today to commence practice with the Three Eyes league team. Lord was signed with Dubuque in 1907, but illness prevented him finishing the season. A report that has gone over the circuit that the Three Eyes schedule had been approved by President Loftus is false. A draft of it is expected here tomorrow, when it will be passed upon.

IF WHAT YOU EAT THIS EVENING LIES LIKE LEAD IN THE STOMACH

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour undigested food or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin contains enough 22-grain Triangules to usually relieve the worst case of dyspepsia, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve a sour stomach or indigestion in five minutes. Get a case now and eat one Triangule after your next meal. They are harmless and taste like candy, though each contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood 3,000 grains of food, besides it makes you go to the table with a hearty, healthy appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach prescription, too, if you ever have indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery, and eat just one Triangule.

BROUGHAM WINS ROSEBUD STAKES.

Beats Field of Classy Youngsters in Feature Event at Fair Grounds.

GOES TO POST AT 23 TO 5.

Returns from New York on Anti-Betting Bills Divide Interest with Races.

New Orleans, La., April 8.—[Special.]—The question of 2 year old supremacy was raised again today when Brougham won the Rosebud stakes at five furlongs, the feature of the racing at the Fair Grounds.

Ten fair class youngsters went to the post. Brougham's race was a startling improvement over his recent performances. On his last race he hardly could be given a chance to beat the band he raced against today, and for that reason the bettors passed him up. He went to the post a 23 to 5 chance. Starter Dade got the field away to a fair start, with Yankee Daughter the first to show.

Going around the turn Irrigator rushed into the lead and opened up a gap of a length and a half. About midway of the stretch Brougham came on with a determined rush, and passing Irrigator won easily by a length and a half. Lena Lech, the filly which ran a remarkably good race in her last stake outing, got the place, and Intervene finished third, Irrigator, the early pacemaker, having stopped badly after being bumped by Brougham at the head of the stretch.

Watch New York Vote.

Aside from interest in the stake horsemen here today were bothered most about what would happen with the anti-betting racetrack bills in New York. Bulletins were frequently posted, and when the announcement was made from the telegraph office that the vote had been a tie there was general rejoicing. The tie vote was taken to mean that the reformers had lost the fight, and naturally those who depended upon a continuation of the sport on the Metropolitan circuit were jubilant.

Strangely enough, the news of victory for racing in New York came almost simultaneously with the beginning of the only form successes the favorite players had today. Choices had been beaten in the first four races, but Blagg ran to the notch expected of him in the six furlongs handicap that stood as a secondary feature event, and after being much bothered in the early part ran over Frizette and Al Muller.

Lady Almy in the sixth and Druid in the last repeated for the form players. Night Mist fell out of the clouds to win in the first. Masquerade had an easy time in beating a cheap lot in the second. Sheen ran away with the long end of the purse in the third. Jockey Gaugel, for his handling of Hasty Agnes, was suspended for the rest of the meeting for incompetency.

Fair Grounds Summaries.

First race, 11-16 mile—Night Mist, 110 [F. Burton], 15 to 1, won; Ida May, 110 [Gaugel], 11 to 5, second; Apple Toddy, 107 [Skirvin], 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:08 1-5. Rebel Queen, Sounky, Dick Rose, Uneasy, Agnes Wood, Dandy Dancer, Countess of Melbourne, Fresh, and Gold Quest ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Masquerade, 108 [A. Pickens], 3 to 1, won; Hasty Agnes, 108 [Gaugel], even, second; Financier, 105 [S. Flynn], 11 to 2, third. Time, 1:14 1-5. Orlandot, Lotus Brandt, and Severus ran.

BELDAME HAS FINE BAY COLT.

Youngster Is by the $125,000 English Stallion Rocksand—Hart-Agnew Bill Defeat Pleases.

Lexington, Ky., April 8.—[Special.] — August Belmont's Beldame, heroine of the turf, has a fine bay colt, by the $125,000 English stallion Rocksand, at the Nursery stud. Beldame's only other produce is a yearling filly, by Meddler. The news from Albany of the defeat of the Hart-Agnew bill occasioned rejoicing here. The passage of the measure spelled disaster for scores of men in the blue grass region.

LOCAL FOLLOWERS OF RACING PLEASED BY NEW YORK VICTORY

Defeat of Anti-Betting Bills in Senate Received in Chicago with Joy—Means Much to Sport.

BY HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

Local followers of racing were in high spirits last night, that is as high spirits as could be expected from followers of racing in a city where the sport is tabooed, when the news was received from New York that the anti-betting bills, backed by Gov. Hughes, had been defeated in the New York state senate by a tie vote of 25 to 25.

Because of the firm rule of the Jockey club in New York and the apparently sincere effort to eliminate the objectionable features of betting, especially the withholding of track ods and information from poolrooms, it was felt that if New York abolished the sport the decision would carry vast weight throughout the country and give reformers elsewhere a new argument. It has been a favorite argument with turfmen to say, "Well, betting is permitted in the biggest state in the union, and is probably controlled, too."

Whether Gov. Hughes will make good his threat to call another session of the legislature to act on a new set of restrictive measures, remains to be seen.

Information was received in Chicago on Monday that action similar to that of yesterday at Albany might be expected, although it was thought the vote would be 24 to 26 instead of a tie. The intimation was that several friendly votes had been "loaned" to the reform element in the two previous test votes to give the anti-racing crowd a false sense of security, and that these votes would be "recalled" when they were actually needed for the final test. When the issue looked darkest for the turf interests several bets were placed here that the bills would fail.

The decision means much to the breeding interests of Kentucky, which had given up all hope, apparently not being in touch with the inner circle at New York. Authorities in Lexington stated that the value of all breeding farms would deteriorate fully 25 per cent if the anti-betting bills became a law, and that the value of this year's crop of yearlings would depreciate one-half.

PAJAROITA FIRST TO THE WIRE.

Defeats Gemmell in Carquinez Handicap at Oakland—Two Horses Fall in Youngster Race.

San Francisco, Cal., April 8.—Pajaroita turned the tables on the crack Gemmell in the Carquinez handicap at Oakland today. These two had the race strictly to themselves and the son of Ruinon was beaten on his merits, as he could not concede the weight to Pajaroita. Cloudlight got the show money. The two year old race was marred by a jam. Duke of Milan fell and Angelface fell and turned a complete somersault over the fallen horse. The race resulted in Workbox winning handily from Tom Hayward. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Andrew B. Cook, 120 [Rettig], 10 to 1, won; Husky, 104 [C. Miller], 12 to 1, second; Creston Boy, 107 [W. Miller], 6 to 5, third. Time, 1:14.

Second race, ½ mile—Workbox, 113 [McIntyre], 17 to 10, won; Tom Hayward, 110 [W. Miller], 21 to 5, second; Little Jane, 110 [Sandy], 18 to 5, third. Time, :47.

Third race, 2 miles—Miss Officious, 89 [Buxton], 3 to 2, won; Tetanus, 87 [Charboneau], 35 to 1, second; Talamund, 102 [McLaughlin], 60 to 1, third. Time, 3:29 4-5.

Fourth race, ¾ mile, Carquinez handicap—Pajaroita, 100 [Lycurgus], 9 to 2, won; Gemmell, 125 [W. Miller], 17 to 10, second; Cloudlight, 98 [A. Walsh], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 2-5.

Decatur, Ill., April 8.—[Special.]—George A. Kellar, president of the Great Western Trotting association, says Decatur will be withdrawn from the association and the meeting scheduled for July 27-30 will not be held. He does not consider it possible to run a successful meeting in a "dry" town. Kellar is head of a big wholesale liquor house and expects to remove his business to some other city.

CHICAGO FIGHTER FULL OF GINGER.

McFarland Predicts He Will Have Easy Victory Over Jimmy Britt.

TALKS LIKE NATIVE SON.

Californian in Shorter Meter Hints at Surprise; "Packey" in Auto Smashup.

San Francisco, Cal., April 8.—[Special.]—"I don't want any decision over Jimmy Britt. I want to knock him out, and I think I'll do it before that fight of ours has gone twelve rounds. I'm betting my money I will win, and am wiring my friends in Chicago to bet on me." So says Packey McFarland, the pride of Chicago, who is more full of confidence than any fighter seen here in years.

"I never went into a fight in which I was not a favorite," Packey said, "and it does not bother me because I am favorite now. What's the betting? Ten to nine. Well, I suppose it will be 10 to 7 by ring time. My strength is going to pull Britt down. I think I'll just fight him out and then come along and win. I never had a hard fight, you know. All my battles have been easy for me, but I know I can stand some punching if I have to."

Both Britt and McFarland today cut out boxing for fear of injuring their hands. Britt promises to give Packey a surprise, as he has recovered all his old time quickness.

It was expected Gans would be heard from today and the match with Nelson settled, but nothing came and the forty-five round bout is in the air.

McFarland was in an automobile smashup tonight and was the only one of the party to escape without injuries. Harry Gilmore, his manager, bruised his right hand so he was obliged to have it bandaged and the chauffeur is in bed with a sprained hand and bruised ribs.

The party was out for a short ride over freshly sprinkled roads and the machine skidded on a sharp turn and turned over. McFarland says he was thrown fifteen feet into the bushes, but he has no marks on him.

JOHNSON IS GIVEN DECISION.

Referee Is Hooted After He Awards Verdict Against Mike Bartley in Fight at Saginaw.

Saginaw, Mich., April 8.—[Special.]—Mike Bartley of Chicago lost the decision at the end of a twelve round fight with Billy Johnson of Saginaw tonight. Referee Jimmy Best of Bay City was hooted for his award. The spectators plainly indicated that they thought Bartley ought to have had a draw. The first four rounds were Johnson's, but the balance of the bout was unquestionably Bartley's.

ENGLISH BOXER COMING OVER.

Jim Driscoll, British 115 Pounder, to Fight in Philadelphia and on Pacific Coast.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 8.—[Special.]—"Boys" Driscoll, the English 115 pounder, will start for America on Saturday. He has an excellent offer for two six round bouts in Philadelphia, and a chance to fight on the Pacific coast induced Driscoll to come here. His opponent in this city will be selected from Owen Moran, Jimmy Walsh, and Abe Attel. Attel is now on his way east.

LEWIS BACKS OUT OF BOUT.

Refuses to Meet Gardner at Los Angeles on April 26—Russell Will Take His Place.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 8.—[Special.]—Harry Lewis contracted cold feet and has withdrawn from the scheduled twenty-five round battle here with Jimmy Gardner on April 23. Jim Jeffries has secured Unk Russell to take the place of Lewis. Although Russell has a good record over the short Philadelphia route, many think Gardner will prove his undoing over the strenuous long route.

ATTEL AND SULLIVAN MATCHED.

Featherweights Sign Temporary Articles for Twenty Round Contest at Frisco on April 30.

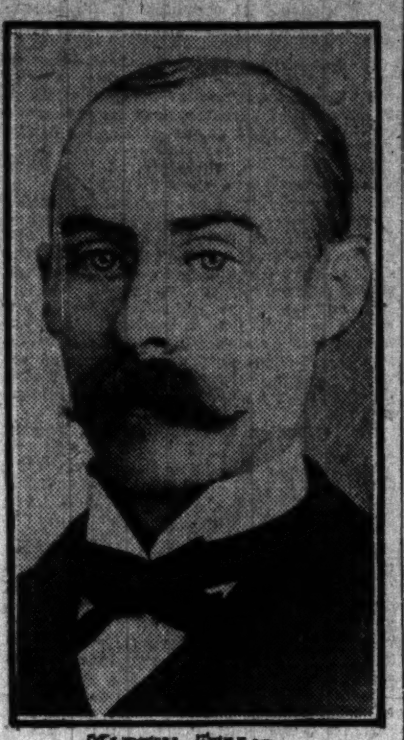
San Francisco, Cal., April 8.—[Special.]—Abe Attel and "Brooklyn Tommy" Sullivan signed temporary articles tonight for a twenty round fight on April 30 at the Coliseum. The men are to weigh 123 pounds at 5 p. m. A preliminary of fifteen rounds is to be between Fred Landers and Johnny Frayne.

AMERICUS THROWS FRED BEELL.

Baltimore Wrestler Pins Wisconsin Expert to Mat at Catch-as-Catch-Can Style.

Baltimore, Md., April 8.—[Special.]—Gus Schoelein, better known as "Americus," of this city, tonight won the light heavyweight catch-as-catch-can wrestling title by defeating Fred Beell of Wisconsin in two straight falls. Americus won the first fall in twenty-one minutes with a back and half nelson hold, and the second fall in two minutes with a crotch and half nelson hold.

Only Local Entrant in Pool Tourney.



MARTIN FEY

PELLETIER SCORES VICTORY IN THE POOL TOURNAMENT.

Defeats Lean by a Count of 125 to 62 in Contest at Recital Hall—Allen Winner Over Fey, 125 to 102.

Edward Pelletier of Canada defeated Horace Lean of St. Louis, 125 to 62, in the ball pool championship tournament at Recital hall last night. In the afternoon game Benny Allen, the Kansas City 18 year old youngster, beat Martin Fey of Chicago, 125 to 102.

In his match with Pelletier Lean started off like a winner and holed 24 balls in the first two frames, but lost two of them by scratches. That was the only time during the game that he had a chance, as his best break thereafter was 10, which he gathered in the ninth frame.

Pelletier took the lead in the third frame, pocking fourteen, while Lean tabbed a scratch. The latter played poorly after that, missing a number of easy shots and "falling down" on combinations that invariably left the balls spread for the Canadian, who generally took advantage of the layout. He had it on Lean on long shots, but his position play was poor. Scores:

Pelletier—4, *1, 14, 7, *12, 14, *6, 9, *4, 12, 13, *13, 14, 2. Total, 125.
*Scratches—Lean, 6; Pelletier, 5.

The game between Allen and Fey was the closest and best contested of the tourney thus far, and the winner was not in sight until the last three frames. Fey assumed an early lead, but seemed nervous when Allen scored 26 of the 30 balls in the second and third frames. He, however, got a good break in the fourth, and again slumped, permitting the youngster to forge to the front with a short lead.

It was nip and tuck for several frames. Allen took the twelfth frame and Martin the next, and that was the local man's good effort. Scores:

Allen—5, 3, 12, 14, 4, 12, 11, 5, 8, 4, 9, 15, 0, 9, 7, 7. Total, 125.
Fey—*0, 12, 3, *0, 11, 3, 4, 10, 7, *10, *5, 0, 15, *5, 8, 0. Total, 102.
*Scratches—Fey, 5.

Sherman and Fey play this afternoon and Allen and De Oro tonight.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS

Sam Langford's hurried defeat of Jim Barry at Boston Tuesday night deprived big Jack Johnson of the pleasure of trimming Barry at Milwaukee on April 17, as Manager Tom Andrews of the Badger club declared off the match yesterday. Barry held Langford better than even in their bout at Los Angeles and thought he surely would beat him in Boston, then hike to Milwaukee and clean up Johnson. The report that Barry "quit" in the second round surprised his Chicago admirers, who had been touting him as the coming heavyweight champion.

◆

Ad Wolgast's excellent showing against Owen Moran in their six round tilt in New York Tuesday night probably will net him a match with Abe Attel, to take place at Milwaukee in the near future, as Attel and Tommy Sullivan have been matched to fight before the Pacific Athletic club of San Francisco on April 30.

◆

Phil Brock, who defeated George Memsic at Los Angeles last Friday night, is after "Packey" McFarland, Batling Nelson, and Rudolph Unholz, first come, first served.

◆

Johnny Coulon is willing to match with Tommy Scully at 108 pounds ringside for a side bet of not less than $300, the battle to take place before the club offering the best inducements. "Pa" Coulon also will match Johnny against any boy in the world at 105 pounds and a side bet of $1,000, and his other boy, George, against any 118 pounder in the country, weight to be made at 3 o'clock.

Race on Roller Skates.

Eighteen skaters have entered for the one mile handicap race to be held at the Riverview rink tomorrow night. In the list are Richard Anderson, Ben Sangman, Paul Zurr, and Frank Bork. The Western Skating association has granted a sanction.

TIE VOTES BEAT ANTI-BET BILLS.

against the bills. Telephone calls for republican senators were frequent all day and senators wore worried looks most of the time the debate was in progress.

During the debate the galleries were crowded. Among the spectators for whom special seats on the floor of the senate were provided was the proprietor of one of the most notorious gambling establishments and poolrooms in Albany.

Racing Commissioner John Sanford of Amsterdam, who owns a large horse breeding establishment, occupied a seat on the senate floor also.

Bookmakers and racetrack hangers-on swarmed to the capitol during the session and a majority managed to get in on the senate floor, a courtesy accorded to persons who have friends at court.

Chanler Spoils Grady Plan.

Senator Grady, after having made such a splendid fight, was robbed of the fruits of a complete victory by Lieut. Gov. Chanler. After the vote had been announced on the bill to amend the penal code by making betting on race tracks a felony, Senator Agnew, who was in charge of the bill, moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was defeated and that the motion lie on the table. He would have had to have twenty-six votes to carry the motion to reconsider the vote if it was put to a vote then.

Although Lieut. Gov. Chanler cannot vote on a bill for final passage, he has a deciding vote on a motion, and he cast it against Grady.

It was admitted in advance that if Senator Grattan would not vote against the bills they would pass, for no other republican senator would vote against them. Senators Burr, Cassidy, and Wilcox made it known that they would not vote against the bills unless Senator Grattan did. When Grattan came into the senate chamber this morning he refused to make known his position. A week ago he had voted in favor of the amendment to have the penal code bill take effect on Sept. 1, and at the same time said he probably would vote for the bills when they came up for final passage.

Grattan Brought in Line.

Senator Grattan is a thorough organization man and never disputed the will of William Barnes Jr., so when the latter's paper came out and called uon him to vote against the bills it was taken for granted that he would do so. He went to the telephone just as the senate session opened at 11 o'clock and talked wtih Mr. Barnes. When he returned to the senate chamber it became known that he would vote against the bills.

After the bills had been declared defeated the Rev. A. S. Gregg, field secretary of the International Reform bureau, said a campaign would be waged against every republican senator who had voted against the bills.

During the debate on the bills today Senator McCarren created some amusement by reading a letter from a man who said he is a mechanic and that on account of working men having a right to bet on the races they were kept from strong drink.

Grady Attacks Hughes.

Senator Grady again made a second attack upon Gov. Hughes and criticised him for the speeches he had made. He wanted to know why the governor did not ask for legislation to stop Wall street gambling.

"You cannot find in all the state," he said, "a pharisee who is not supporting these bills. The holier than thou element without a single exception can be found behind the bills. I denounce the governor to be the most unfair and the most unworthy in his office.

"It is only because the governor is such a good man," said Mr. Grady, sarcastically, "that he thinks the only kind of gambling extant is that of racetrack betting. No word comes from him saying anything about stock gambling, which the president of the United States says is the ruination of the country."

Tonight about the hotels senators say the governor will not help himself by calling an extra session. They say if pressure of this sort is brought to bear by the executive a couple more republican senators will vote against the bills.

The bullet struck the child in the abdomen, causing her death yesterday.

HOPPE SURRENDERS TROPHY.

Billiard Expert Believes Present Conditions for Championships Are Not a True Test—Wants Longer Game.

New York, April 8.—Willie Hoppe, champion at 18-2 balk line billiards, yesterday followed the example of Jacob Schaefer, champion of the 18-1 game, and surrendered to the donors the trophy emblematic of the championship. Hoppe took this step because he thinks the conditions of a match for the trophy as laid out by the donors are not a true test for the championship. In giving up the trophy, Hoppe announced he would willingly play a 1,500 point match in blocks of 500 points a night for the championship, but not a 500 point game.

Steffens Retains Title.

New York, April 8.—Fred Steffens of the National Athletic club of Brooklyn won the all around gymnastic championship of the Amateur Athletic union at the Savage institute tonight. Steffens won his title a year ago and retained it tonight by taking first place in the horizontal bar and long horse events and finishing second in the side horse and parallel bar contests.

THE COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

Efficiency is the only thing which should be considered in making up the council committees for the coming year. Politics should cut no figure in the matter. Nearly two-thirds of the aldermen are classified as republicans, but in the committee assignments every democrat who has it in him to do first class work should be given the preference over every republican who has not. The weak sisters should be given seats on the back benches.

The bulk of the important work of the council falls on a comparatively small number of committees. It is by them that measures are fully discussed and ordinances framed. The council is disinclined, except in unusual cases, to debate or to modify the handiwork of its committees. That makes it all the more necessary that each of the leading committees should have on it a majority of the strong men in the council.

Take the committee on local transportation, which has made so excellent a record in the past. It still has the elevated loop problem on its hands, and will have a much more serious question to deal with—that of the subway. It will not do to have that committee weakened, for the public depends on it for some fine constructive work. Neither partisanship nor personal favoritism should influence the selection of the members of this or any other important committee.

The number of such committees is increasing steadily as municipal problems multiply and become more perplexing. If every ward were to send two of its most competent citizens to the council steady work could be found for all of them. It should not be necessary to put one man on two leading committees when one of them would furnish him sufficient occupation. It would not be necessary if some of the wards displayed a little better judgment on election day. In spite of the progress made in recent years there is still room for an improvement in the personnel of the city council.

MILITANCY AND MARTYRDOM.

An English woman of prominence in the suffrage movement is exhorting her sisters in America to be "militant." The word is inspiring. The note of triumph is in it. Paired with martyrdom, it has an alliterative splendor. Sweet and fitting is it to die for one's country or one's cause, especially if one dies fighting.

But the American woman, while she feels the poignant allurement of the call to arms, will consider well before she inscribes "Militancy and Martyrdom" on her banner and courts the violent issues of physical conflict. No lack of courage or devotion will stay her. A certain profound and masterful knowledge of the American man will do so.

If militancy and martyrdom meant being burnt at the stake or trampled by the charging battalions of tyranny the American woman would give herself to the cause unflinchingly. But what the suffragette seems to have accomplished chiefly is her removal from noisy and ill ventilated political meetings by perspiring policemen in an agony of embarrassment and smothered laughter. Zenobia must have been an inspiring vision in her chariot mowing down the foe. But Mrs. Pankhurst wrestling catch as catch can on the curb with two apologetic policemen only makes matter for a quarter page half tone in the illustrated weeklies.

It would not be polite to admit a doubt as to the effectuality of these tactics in England, although the results are as yet obscured from us. But in America, it may be explained to the English visitor, the sense of the ludicrous is the most destructive element operating in our social and political life. It may be reprehensible. It certainly is un-British. But a joke is our high explosive. It isn't merely effective. It is conclusive.

The moral of this is: Be militant if you must. But study your conditions and make your tactics fit them. Above all do not become ridiculous. Martyrdom is inglorious and ineffective when it merely moves the spectators to laughter.

HEARKEN TO THE KEENES.

Foxhall Keene, who is esteemed as the best polo player in this country, says he does not want Gov. Hughes to be president of the United States. Because Mr. Keene is our best polo player, or has reputation as such, he should be listened to seriously. There are not so many good polo players here that they can be disregarded. Polo players should be encouraged, and when Mr. Keene says he does not want Mr. Hughes it becomes a serious matter for Mr. Hughes.

James R. Keene doesn't want Mr. Hughes for president, and this also is a serious matter for Gov. Hughes. The Keenes do not admire the way in which the governor is endeavoring to lower the standards of horseflesh by making it impossible for gentlemen to have a difference of opinion, involving a transfer of coin of the realm, regarding the speed at which certain distances can be covered by certain specimens of horseflesh on certain occasions. It seems perfectly apparent to both gentlemen that unless such differences of opinion can be encouraged there soon will be no horses—nothing but automobiles.

Hence it is even more apparent that Gov. Hughes, who wishes to restrain gentlemen from the natural financial expression of their difference of opinion, is a dangerous character and they do not want him for president. Mr. Foxhall Keene evidently is a better polo player than a politician. He should know that his objection to Mr. Hughes is to him as governor of New York and not as president. He should take steps immediately to have Mr. Hughes made president, within a week or ten days if it be agreeable to the republican party and the rest of the country. If Mr. Hughes could be shelved instantly or dropped into an obscure corner as president of the United States he would not be able to press that awful anti-racing bill which now is up to the New York senate.

Mr. Keene should revise himself before going to press again. He does want Mr. Hughes as president. He does not want him as governor. It has been this way before, but usually they try to make them vice presidents.

THE FLOW OF ORATORY.

There is to be no dearth of campaigns, massmeetings, and eloquence in 1908. The fight between the "wets" and "drys," which has stirred up the greater part of Illinois outside of Chicago, will be over soon for this year, and then politics will occupy the stage. The primaries are to be held the 8th of August and soon after the nominations have been made the ante-election campaign will begin.

Missouri has a direct primary law and the contest for the democratic gubernatorial nomination already has begun. Three of the candidates have taken the stump and will not leave it until they have proclaimed in every part of the state the measures which they favor and which they think should give them popular support. Three other candidates will soon begin their extensive tours. Every democrat in Missouri will have an opportunity to see the candidates, hear their principles, and make an intelligent choice.

Missouri has more square miles than Illinois, but nothing like so many people. If the republican and democratic candidates for governorship nominations wish to give all the voters a chance to listen to their appeals and promises they should set out in good season. There ought to be a great outburst of argument and eloquence in Illinois this summer. The men who wish to be governor should not be the only ones to tour the state calling the farmers from their fields and the city people from their firesides.

The men who wish to be nominated for other state offices should show themselves. The Egyptian who would like to be lieutenant governor or secretary of state should exercise his vocal cords in northern and central Illinois as well as in his own neck of woods. As the people are to make all the nominations they should be enabled to inspect the men who are asking for their suffrages. It is essential that candidates for the minor state offices should stump the state if they wish to get votes outside of their local spheres of influence. If there should be many candidates for an office and each should get at the primaries no votes except those from his own section, the man at the head of the poll might get only a small percentage of the total party vote.

It may be hard on some of the ambitious citizens of Illinois to talk all the way from the Ohio river to Lake Michigan and from the Indiana state line to the Mississippi. Many of them may prefer the old fashioned way of going into convention with a batch of delegates and making a trade, but there is a new dispensation. All the candidates have to go directly before the people, and the sooner they begin making out their itineraries the better. In a few weeks the people will be in readiness for the great talkfest which is to be held in Illinois this summer.

PATIENCE WILL BE REWARDED.

The appeal to the school board for an increase of compensation for principals undoubtedly is just. Taking into consideration the difficult and important duties of the headship of a public school and the by no means common qualities of temperament, mind, and education required for their successful performance, the pay of these men and women has been too small.

If it were simply a question of desert the school board probably would act favorbly without great delay. But unhappily the board cannot do all that it would like to do. Financial limitations are not to be argued with. They do not yield to claims however equitable. The wisest outlay involves adjustment and compromise. It has therefore been decided that increases of pay should begin with the smaller salaries, and the elementary teachers already have profited by this. Other changes will be made as it becomes possible and expedient to make them.

As to the principals, the disposition of the trustees is entirely sympathetic and there is little doubt that some increases will be made next year. They cannot be granted now because funds are lacking. Details, such as a fixing of a minimum, say, of $1,500 or $1,800, and a maximum of $3,500 and the establishment of groups, will be worked out on lines favorable to the teachers.

There is a growing recognition, in Chicago as throughout the country, among those sufficiently interested in educational affairs to consider conditions, that teachers of almost all classes are underpaid. We have idealized the public school; we have not realized sufficiently that the value of the school depends on the teacher or that the teacher must be maintained and justly dealt with if we are to have what we expect from our great educational establishment.

The principals should find in this fact substantial encouragement. Chicago will not fail them as far as its means allow.

CHICAGO'S ORIENTAL TRADE.

There is evidence on every hand of the quickening of pulse in oriental life. The visit to America and to Chicago of a company of sixty Japanese travelers is but one of the signs of the times. The coming of this group of wideawake, eager tourists is symptomatic. The orient is interested in the occident. The occident has a great opportunity to influence the peoples of the far east.

There are suspicious souls who predict a coming conflict in that part of the world. There is a more profitable field for discussion. That is the possibility of extending still further the trade relations of the United States with the nations of the Asiatic Pacific. Mr. Taft's recent utterance upon this subject is still fresh in mind. He showed the advantageous situation of the country in connection with such an extension. At the same time he pointed out clearly the manifest limitations under which American competitors for the oriental trade work.

In one of his suggestive paragraphs the secretary of war called attention to the fact that the trade of the United States in China has increased until it is second only to that of Great Britain. This result, he declared, has been attained "without any direct governmental encouragement, without any real intelligent, studied effort to secure the patronage of these possible oriental customers, without the energetic, enterprising, intelligent advertising methods which so characterize American competitors in our own markets."

The inference is plain. Whether anything comes from the movement in the Illinois Manufacturers' association or not, there is a great opportunity for boundless expansion of American trade. If a company of live representatives of such an organization were to make its way around the world, meeting leading men, making careful inquiries, studying the situation, the eventual outcome would be sure. There would be a marked increase in American trade in which Chicago would have its fair part.

It is easy enough to picture a future rich in promise. The difficult thing is to make the picture a reality. That is the real problem. The awakening orient is a present day certainty. The opportunity for the United States is just as sure. What is now wanted is the breadth of vision and the wise commercial diplomacy which will enable the country to use its opportunity to its own material development.

PRINCE JOACHIM ALBERT of Prussia, who was recently cashiered by the kaiser from the German army and deprived of all his military honors and dignities in consequence of his persistence in his intentions of marrying the notorious café chantant divette, Baroness Liebenberg, has just inherited a fortune of nearly $2,000,000 from his grandfather, the old sovereign duke of Altenburg, who died the other day.

He was already before this bequest a rich man, as one of the three sons and heirs of the late Prince Albert of Prussia, regent of Brunswick, and celebrated in his day as one of the wealthiest scions of royalty of the old world.

The possession, therefore, of this great wealth renders him virtually independent of the kaiser, providing he keeps out of Prussia.

The emperor, as chief of the family, has by virtue of the statutes of the house the power to deprive him of his share and his annuities from the entailed property of the reigning family of Hohenzollern.

He can also, as generalissimo, deprive him of his military honors and dignities, and, finally, if the prince happens to venture on to Prussian soil, he can be arrested and imprisoned by order of the emperor, and during the latter's pleasure, without any legal process.

But as long as he remains out of Prussia he runs no risk of loss of liberty, and he has already shown that he is indifferent to the docking of his annuities from the Hohenzollern family property and to his virtual expulsion from the army.

Prince Joachim Albert's brother, Prince Frederick Henry, who has also inherited a large fortune from his grandfather, the late duke of Saxe-Altenburg, has likewise been dismissed by the emperor from the German army on account of scandals in which he had become involved, and only Prince Frederick William remains of this particular branch of the house of Hohenzollern who has kept himself relatively free from trouble and has retained his place on the roster of the army, although he does not enjoy to any degree the good will of his kinsman the kaiser.

The father of these two princes, the late Prince Albert of Prussia, regent of Brunswick, a pious, God fearing man, of the most strict Lutheran orthodoxy and principles, was a half-brother of the two Counts Frederick and William Hohenau, who have each of them incurred the well merited displeasure of the emperor and become involved in unsavory affairs, thus keeping alive the traditions according to which the morganatic issue of old world royalty is always a source of discredit and even disgrace to the latter.

Apropos of the house of Hohenzollern, it may be mentioned that the castle of Hohenzollern, from which the reigning dynasties of Prussia and of Roumania take their name, and which is their cradle, is situated on a steep, conical shaped hill, which is an outlying spur of the Suabian Alps, and rises above the surrounding country to a height of some 3,000 feet.

So precipitous are its sides that an irreverent American tourist once likened it to a candle extinguisher surmounted by a Gothic ornament.

It passed into the possession of the junior and Prussian branch of the Hohenzollern family in the middle of the nineteenth century, when King Frederick William IV. of Prussia caused the castle to be rebuilt at his own expense, as a pious tribute to the memory of a long line of ancestors.

It has been restored on the lines of the old medieval castle, of which the chapel alone remains, is used not as a residence but as a military station, and is the garrison of a battalion of Prussian infantry.

Carlyle gives a brief description of the castle in the first volume of his "Frederick the Great," and suggests that "zollern" is equivalent to "tollery" or place of tolls, and that "Hohenzollern" meant the "high or upper tollery," where the peddlers in olden times coming from Italy and Switzerland into Germany unstrapped their pack horses and were wont to pay their customs dues.

◆

In this Carlyle was probably wrong. "Zollern," or "Zolre," has from time immemorial been the name of the hill on which the castle stands, and the word "high" was subsequently added thereto.

The castle was in existence there as early as in the ninth century. In 1423 the then owner, having incurred the enmity of the three imperial cities of Suabia, their forces besieged it, took it by storm, and razed it to the ground, leaving only the chapel standing.

A few years later, in 1454, the Margrave Albert Achilles of Brandenburg came to the assistance of his cousin of Hohenzollern and caused the castle to be rebuilt.

In the thirty years' war it was considered a stronghold of sufficient importance to be taken and retaken by the Würtembergers, the Bavarians, and finally by the imperial forces in 1650.

This was the last time that it stood a siege. But several succeeding emperors were so assured that its unique strategic position, if they held it, would materially assist them to be paramount in that part of southern Germany that they paid to the princes of Hohenzollern a heavy rental in order that they might garrison it with their soldiers.

This they continued to do until after the French revolution, and it ceased only by the shuffling of the political cards, which ended by France, under Napoleon, becoming the paramount power in southern Germany.

◆

Lord Armstrong, who has just come to financial grief, and who has been obliged to effect a compromise with his numerous creditors, is the grand-nephew and heir of the first Lord Armstrong, who founded the great Elswick iron works, and who may be described as having been the English Krupp, since for many years he was the so-called cannon king, not only of England but also of many other nations, and the inventor of the coiling and rifling principle in the manufacture of ordnance.

It is not true that the late lord was a self-made man, in the sense that he was of plebeian origin.

For his father was a wealthy corn merchant of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who served a number of terms of office as mayor of that city.

Yet Lord Armstrong never claimed any ancestors, nor added any gems of mythical genealogy to the pages of "Burke."

His "shield" and supporters bore reference only to his trade, the latter being two stalwart smiths, armed with sledge hammers, while the motto, "Fortis in armis" (strong in arms), in allusion to his name and to the excellence of his artillery, is probably the most appropriate to be found in the entire record of the Heralds' college.

◆

Lord Armstrong was created a peer of the realm in 1887 and died without issue in 1900, when his barony became extinct. All his affections were centered in his grand-nephew, William Watson, to whom he bequeathed his entire fortune, his ownership in the great Elswick iron works and shipyards, as well as his country seats of Cragside and Bamburgh castle in Northumberland, and of Jesmond Dene, near Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The late Lord Armstrong's only sister married Sir William Watson, judge of the Court of Exchequer, and a veteran of the peninsular war and of the battle of Waterloo.

His son was John Watson and his son in turn William Watson, who, three years after the death of his grand-uncle, Lord Armstrong, had the latter's title revived in his favor.

It is unfortunate speculation which has brought about the shipwreck of the superb fortune which he inherited from his grand-uncle, and which has had the effect of completely alienating the famous Elswick iron works, which have turned out so many men-of-war, great guns, battleship armor, steel bridges, and railroad material during the last half century to well nigh every government and country in the world.

The present Lord Armstrong is a man of about 45, is married to a daughter of the late Gen. Sir John Adye of Tel-el-Kebir celebrity, and has two children.

A year before his grand-uncle's death he obtained, at the latter's suggestion, the authority of the crown to assume the latter's patronymic of Armstrong, in addition to his own surname of Watson.

SCHOOL SITE BUY ITSELF?

Inquiry Into the Mystery Makes Less than No Progress.

ALL DENY APPROVING IT.

Contradiction Between A. C. Honore and John Guilford.

School Trustee Guerin's investigating committee spent another afternoon yesterday trying to find out why the Dunne board paid $25,000 for a crippled children's school site said to be worth less than $10,000 and then left the land unoccupied. When the committee adjourned it found itself just about where it began.

In the process of reaching this position, however, the trustees and other investigators had a strenuous session. First Business Manager John Guilford got into a heated altercation with Adrian C. Honoré, who represented the Potter Palmer estate, owner of the land, in the original deal.

Then Dr. J. F. Chvatal, a former member of the board, admitted that he had signed the report recommending the acceptance of Mr. Honoré's price without having seen the site or having the slightest idea of what it was worth, and the committee, foiled again just as it thought it was going to fix a part of the responsibility, plunged hopelessly on in its search.

And finally one of the trustees demanded an executive session and proceeded to discredit the one definite thing the committee had to work on—the appraisal report of a special committee of the real estate board, which fixed the value of the land at $8,750. He called attention to the fact that on Jan. 28, five weeks after the appraisal report was signed, Ernst Woltersdorf, one of the appraisers, made overtures to the board for the purchase of the land, presumably at the low figure named in his report.

This moved the committee to order another valuation by a new committee of experts—and thus the investigation went back to its starting point.

Mr. Honore's Story of the Sale.

Mr. Honoré, who appeared before the committee to explain the circumstances of the original deal, said Business Manager Guilford had notified him, as a trustee of the Palmer estate, of the board's intended purchase and asked him to name a price.

"He said," Mr. Honoré added, "that if I didn't name a low price—which I had better do—the board would condemn the property. I named my price, and Mr. Guilford told me that the board had sent its own experts out there, that they had valued the property at a higher price than I set, and that it had been decided to accept my offer."

"Were these experts named?" asked Trustee White.

"I didn't know them at all," replied Mr. Honoré. "I dealt entirely with Mr. Guilford."

Mr. Guilford was called into the committee room and Mr. Honoré repeated his statements.

"Did you get this report from the school board experts?" the business manager was asked.

"I certainly did not!" Mr. Guilford retorted.

"You told me you did," said Mr. Honoré.

"I did nothing of the kind!"

"Then it is a question of veracity between you and me, sir!"

"Yes, sir! I positively deny it."

This continued for fifteen minutes, Mr. Honoré going through his version of the transaction in detail and Mr. Guilford denying at nearly every point. Mr. Honoré intimated that a trade had been made and closed and that "there seemed to be nothing further to be said." Then as soon as possible he left the room.

"Handed To" the Committee.

"I would like to ask Dr. Chvatal how he can explain this report signed by him and Drs. Weil and Kuflewski, recommending that this price be accepted," suggested Dr. Guerin, turning to the former trustee.

"Well," said Dr. Chvatal, a bit nervously, "the only way I can explain it is that it must have been handed to us to sign on the recommendation of some one else."

"Didn't you see the property?" persisted Dr. Guerin. "What was the use of appointing a committee?"

"No, we didn't see it. I supposed we were appointed to concur in the recommendation of the architect in regard to the site," and Dr. Chvatal joined the exodus from the committee room.

Then Mr. Post tried to learn, from various stenographers and other employés, who was responsible for the original draft of the report, but nobody knew.

RAISES THE PAY OF FIREMEN.

School Board, After Hard Fight, Votes an Increase from $75 to $90 a Month.

A contest in which Trustees Sonsteby and Harding argued for an hour and a half to raise the pay of eleven civil service firemen from $75 to $90 a month was the "feature" of the school board meeting last evening. Through sheer persistence the trustees won their fight, although three separate committee reports—one from the buildings and grounds committee and two from the finance committee—had opposed the measure in previous discussions.

On the final vote the two trustees, to their own surprise, found that they had won just enough votes to carry the measure, eleven votes being necessary, under the rules, to authorize a measure involving the expenditure of school funds.

The progress of the debate resolved itself, part of the time, into an interchange of personalities between Mr. Sonsteby and Mr. Spiegel, chairman of the finance committee.

The vote stood as follows:

YEAS.

O'Ryan,	Guerin,	Mills,
White,	Miss De Bey,	Post,
Mrs. Blaine,	Robins,	Harding—11
Miss Addams,	Sonsteby,

NAYS.

Spiegel,	Morrun,	Gartz,
Urion,	Kohn,	Schneider—8.
Robinson,	Greifenhagen,

The board directed an official investigation of the statements reflecting on the character and official conduct of R. M. Smith, supervisor of manual training. Trustees Urion, Griefenhagen, Post, O'Ryan, and Mrs. Blaine were appointed as an investigating committee and instructed to report its findings to the finance committee at its meeting on April 15.

On the motion of Mr. Urion the measure accepting the proposal of one of the three claimants to ownership in the "sixty-six foot strip" on which the normal school power house was built, was sent back to the buildings and grounds committee. Trustees Urion, Dawes, and O'Ryan were appointed to investigate the situation with the school attorney and present a general report.

The "prohibition rule" providing for the immediate removal of engineers and janitors who "use intoxicating liquors or drugs" was sent to the buildings and grounds committee for further discussion.

ASQUITH APPOINTED PREMIER BY EDWARD VII. AT BIARRITZ.

Prime Minister Declines to Talk in Regard to New Cabinet—Will Reach London Tomorrow Night.

LONDON, April 8.—The vacancy in the office of prime minister of Great Britain, caused by the resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, was filled this morning at Biarritz, France, during the audience between King Edward and Herbert H. Asquith.

Mr. Asquith first tendered to his majesty his resignation as chancellor of the exchequer and was immediately appointed prime minister and first lord of the treasury.

The new premier received many congratulations on his appointment. He had several audiences during the day with the king, lunching and dining with him. It is understood that some details as to the personnel of the cabinet remain to be settled in London.

Mr. Asquith declined today to divulge anything with regard to the new cabinet.

Cissie Loftus Back in Vaudeville.

Pride and ambition are fine things—but they will not pay hotel bills or transportation rates on a summer vacation. Neither will they buy Merry Widow hats or Mrs. Osborn's marcelle waves. Therefore in a contest with real money they are hopelessly handicapped. Cecilia Loftus knows that much. Hence Cecilia of the theater has again become Cissie of the 'alls; the proud and ambitious leading woman has been absorbed by the talented imitatrix.

This week Cissie is appearing in the Majestic. She is the headliner and she comes in between Smith and Campbell, sidewalk conversationalists, and the four Parros—three large ladies and one large gentleman, who throw weights at and to each other.

"Some imitations," announces Cissie in an almost pathetically resigned tone, when she makes her appearance. "My first will be that of Emma Janvier singing 'Of Course I Don't Know, but I Guess,' in 'The Spring Chicken.'"

It is a good imitation of the angular Miss Janvier, a copy in detail of her peculiar vocal inflections, her pointed shoulders and twisted mouth. Then she gives portly Marie Dressler singing "A Great Big Girl Like Me," Hattie Williams and her "Experience" song, Caruso as he sings in a phonograph, George Walker singing "Bon Bon Buddie," Ethel Barrymore reading the letter from the boys in "Sunday," Bert Williams singing "Nobody," and dancing the ludicrous figure that is appended, and finally Nazimova in a scene from "A Doll's House" follow in order. The Caruso and Williams and Walker studies are the newest in the list and they are especially good.

On the bill with Miss Loftus are the Hengler sisters, who are doing more and better dancing than they have done in some time and are as daintily costumed as usual, and Henry Horton in an amusing rural sketch. The audiences are large this week and as appreciative as vaudeville audiences invariably are when they are pleased.

New Play by Chicago Author.

Basing his story on certain incidents and developing it with several characters taken from the novel of "Anna Karenina," Otis Colburn has written a melodrama which he calls "The Path of Thorns," and which is this week being presented by the stock company in the Bush Temple.

Mr. Colburn has not, as might reasonably have been expected of a young writer, taken the love of Anna and Capt. Vronsky as his theme, but has been attracted rather toward the love of Anna for her child, and her ultimate regeneration through that strong and pure affection. In consequence his play is given a dignity and a thematic solidity that it probably would have lacked had his effort been only to transfer the love story from the Tolstoi novel to the play. For the same reason he has found it difficult to concentrate the interest of his audience and to keep it from wavering between the child and the hero.

As a melodrama "The Path of Thorns" is a decidedly creditable undertaking. The faults disclosed—and no first play of an inexperienced playwright is without faults—are principally those that can easily be corrected by a skillful and intellignet stage director, working in sympathy with the author. Awkward entrances and exits, an experience with a nihilist's bomb that is oddly accepted by the czar and his official family as a mere incident in the day's work and play, and a book reader's tendency to introduce too many incidents at the expense of the continuity of the story—these shortcomings can be readily seen and eliminated now that the play has been given a trial production, and Mr. Colburn's future work as a dramatist may reasonably be anticipated with confidence and pleasure.

◆

Miss Lillian Lawrence, an actress who is a great favorite in the stock company circles of the east, makes her Chicago début as the heroine of "The Path of Thorns." She discloses a confidence and technical proficiency that is unmistakably the outgrowth of wide practical experience. In the emotional scenes she is impressive without being either noisy or excessively hysterical; her speaking voice is pleasant and her stage presence graceful and reassuring. Edward Haas appears to advantage as the handsome Vronsky, Miss Howard plays the child well, Robert Lowe is a comedy breeding Judge Oblonsky, Will D. Corbett a convincing noble, Florine Arnold a sympathetic mother, and an actor named Clifton a dignified Baron Karenin.

"Miss Hobbs" will be the bill next week, and this will give the new leading woman an opportunity to display her comedy style. As Mr. Haas is shortly to return to his old berth as king of the west side and incidentally leading man of the People's theater, Henry Kolker is being considered as his successor at the Bush Temple.

◆

In the College theater this week the bill is "Home Folks," the rural melodrama written by C. T. Dazey, the author of "In Old Kentucky," and produced originally in McVicker's theater. Manager Marvin's company is happily cast in this play, and James Durkin is returned from his sick bed to receive the nightly receptions his friends give him. The theater will be closed Holy week.

Viola Allen to Try New Play.

On Saturday, April 16, in the Grand opera house, Viola Allen will present for the first time in America a new play entitled "Illusions." It is a play of some importance, being an adaptation of Henri Bernstein's "Le Bercail." Bernstein is the young Frenchman who is the author of "The Thief," the conspicuous success of the present season in New York, where it is being played by Kyrle Bellew and Margaret Illington. The new play has just been placed in rehearsal by Miss Allen, under the direction of Hugh Ford.

Theatrical Notes.

George Ade's newest musical comedy, which he wrote for the Harlequin club of Purdue university, and which is called "The Fair Co-Ed," is to be staged by the college boys in Lafayette Monday and Tuesday nights, April 20 and 21. George Herbert has been directing rehearsals, and the piece is considered of sufficient importance to warrant the attendance of Madison Corey and William F. Connor, theatrical managers. The music has been written by Mr. Ade's nephew, George Ade Davis, and L. H. Lipinsky, Purdue grads.

On Thursday afternoon, April 23, students of the Chicago Musical college school of acting will give the first performance of a new three act farce comedy entitled "The Lady in the Kimono." The author is Miss Helen Baggs of Chicago.

Arnold Daly will not repeat the triple bill in which his company scored a success in the Studebaker last week until next week, when it will be substituted for the Wednesday and Saturday matinées of "The Regeneration." May Robson is to return to the Studebaker with "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" Easter week.

Sothern Lauded as Don Quixote.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—E. H. Sothern added the incomparable knight errant Don Quixote to his gallery of dramatic portraits tonight in the Lyric theater.

The appearance of the actor in this dramatization of Cervantes' story is one of the most ambitious of his long and successful career, and it is an experiment to which Mr. Sothern has given more time than probably to any other of his impersonations with the exception of Hamlet.

If the presentation does not find a place in Sothern's repertory with "Dundreary," "If I Were King," and his list of Shakspearean parts it will not be the actor's fault, for tonight he was at his best, depicting, with sure strokes, not only the comedy but the tragedy of Don Quixote.

Mr. Sothern has expended much thought and labor upon this production. Seldom, indeed, is a play as lavish in dress. At times the color effects were almost dazzling.

Paul Kester, who is responsible for the dramatization, must be moved to gratitude by the liberality of Sothern as producer. Sancho Panza was seen in Rowland Buckstone, who had the advantage of improving as the performance progressed.

It cannot be said that Kester's dramatization is wholly satisfying, still, in view of the difficulties of the task, it is surprising how much good use he has made of the unwieldy story.

SWEDENBORG'S BODY MOVED

Buried in England in 1772, Is Taken to Sweden.

NOTED MYSTIC AND AUTHOR.

Claimed to Have Free Access to the Spiritual World.

DARTMOUTH, England, April 8.—The remains of Emanuel Swedenborg, mystic and author, which were exhumed yesterday in London, where they had lain since 1772, were embarked here today on board the Swedish cruiser Fylgia for conveyance to Sweden for final burial.

There was an imposing procession from the railroad station to the water front, the coffin being escorted by delegations of Swedish and British naval officers and blue jackets and deputations from Swedenborgian churches and Swedish societies. The band of the Fylgia played funeral marches.

Sketch of His Career.

Swendenborg was born in Stockholm Jan. 29, 1688. His father was Jasper Svedberg, bishop of Skara. The family was ennobled in 1719 and the name changed to Swedenborg. Biographies of Swedenborg divide his life into two distinct periods, the first ending with his fifty-fifth year, being devoted to business, science, and philosophy, and the second of nearly thirty years to theology and spiritual communion.

King Charles XII. appointed Swedenborg an assayer in the college of mines and the scientist subsequently served the monarch at the siege of Frederikshall as military engineer.

Swedenborg published three massive volumes under the title, "Opera Philosophica et Mineralia," in which he described the best methods in the manufacture of iron, copper, and brass. The first volume he called "Principia, or the First Principles of Natural Things, Being New Attempts Towards a Philosophical Explanation of the Elementary World." His next work was called "Philosophical Argument on the Infinite, and the Final Cause of Creation; and on the Mechanism of the Operation of Soul and Body." In this he treated the soul as one in substance with the sun.

Becomes Spiritual Seer.

Following the issue of studies on the mineral kingdom, Swedenborg entered on his career as a spiritual seer, which was the most interesting portion of his life, his diary for 1743-44 recording a variety of curious dreams and strange communings, in which he professed to enjoy free access to the spiritual world.

Toward the end of his life he spent his energies in attacking orthodox theology, which resulted in the establishment by the Swedenborgians of "the New church, signified by the New Jerusalem in the Revelation."

The Swedenborgians have more than 100 societies in the United States, chiefly in the northern states, and many in Sweden, England, Germany, France, and Russia.

KING GIVES ABRUZZI CONSENT?

Member of Duke's Household Says All Arrangements for Wedding Were Made on Tuesday.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, April 8.—A Turin correspondent reports an interview with a member of the duke of the Abruzzi's household in which he says he received positive assurance that the marriage between the duke and Miss Elkins has been arranged. The king gave his consent at yesterday's family reunion, it is said, when the engagement was announced to the royal family, and the date and place of celebration of the marriage were fixed and financial arrangements connected with the division of the private estate of the three brothers, Aosta, Turin, and Abruzzi, were made.

Miss Elkins' Brother Likes Duke.

Seattle, Wash., April 8.—"I know the duke of the Abruzzi. He is a mighty good fellow, a gentleman, and a thorough sportsman. He is better than the average of the titled foreigners they send over here for American wives," said Richard Elkins, brother of Miss Katherine Elkins, today. With A. B. Slaighter, a fellow-graduate of Princeton, and C. Little of Victoria, young Elkins left home on a three months' hunting trip in Alaska.

BIG VICTORY FOR ROYALISTS.

Result of Elections in Portugal Greatly Strengthens Throne and Position of New King.

LISBON, April 8.—The general opinion is that the royalists have gained a sweeping victory at the polls. Irrespective of how this was attained, it greatly strengthens the throne and affords an opportunity for the rehabilitation of the monarchy.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

BERLIN—Crown Prince Frederick William, following the requirement of the house of Hohenzollern that each prince shall be skilled in some trade, is becoming an adept in wood turning.

RIO JANEIRO—Count Munster, a nephew of a former Brazilian ambassador to Germany and France, committed suicide in an insane asylum in the state of Sao Paulo.

DO YOU KNOW?

At the meeting of the ways and means committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday Edwin S. Conway, chairman of the civic-industrial committee, gave the following as the third chapter of his "Do You Knows" on Chicago:

Do you knw—

That Chicago ranks fourth (possibly third) among the cities of the world, the others having been founded from 285 to 1,000 years ago, while Chicago, as a city, is now only seventy years of age?

That in 1833—within the lifetime of several persons then and now living in Chicago—the 600 acre tract bounded by State, Madison, Halsted, and Twelfth streets was sold for $6.72 per acre?

That more than 60 per cent of the manufactured product of the state of Illinois is made in this city?

That only five states in the entire union, including Illinois, manufacture more goods, in value, than the city of Chicago?

That seventy years ago Chicago had not a rod of street car track, while in 1908 it had, in surface and elevated roads, 1,508 miles, capitalized at $163,788,300, and carrying over 1,500,000 passengers daily?

That the first manufactory of any note in Chicago was erected in 1847, while in 1905 there were 8,150 establishments, the finished product of which was valued at $955,036,277, employing 241,984 wage earners, who were paid $136,404,686?

That the first wholesale store was opened in 1844, but in 1906 the wholesale trade of the city was conservatively estimated at $1,700,000,000?

That in 1848 the grain shipments of Chicago amounted to 3,001,740 bushels, while now it equals 300,000,000 bushels?

That this grain, if shipped in cars at one time, would make a train 4,240 miles in length?

That in 1840 150 vessels entered the port of Chicago, but in 1906 7,017 vessels came here?

That in 1837 there were 398 dwelling houses in Chicago, but in 1907 there were 225,000?

That in 1837 we had ten hotels, but in 1907 we had 468?

That in 1837 we had five churches, but in 1907 the number had increased to 1,077?

That a New York magazine, in its January issue, said: "Long a popular subject for the humorist of the eastern states, as well as those of Europe, was the supposed lack of culture and education of Chicago. As a matter of fact, whatever may have been her earlier shortcomings in this regard, Chicago today puts New York, Boston, and Philadelphia fairly to the blush"?

That as late as 1868 a large sign stood in the middle of Fifth avenue, then Wells street, just south of Madison street, bearing this legend: "No bottom here"?

That in 1848 the total enrollment of pupils in the public schools was 410, and the number of teachers was five, while in 1907 it was 273,050 pupils and 5,981 teachers?

That no city in the world has accomplished so much in so short a time as Chicago?

Y. M. C. A. TO SHOW ATHLETIC SCOPE.

Physical Exhibition Popular Feature of Semi-Centennial Anniversary.

EXERCISES ON APRIL 25.

Details Announced of Program Which Will Be Held in First Regiment Armory.

Plans have just been completed for the physical work exhibition, which will probably be the most popular, and certainly the most spectacular, of all events in connection with the semi-centennial anniversary of the Y. M. C. A.

Nearly 1,000 members of the four city departments will participate in the physical drills and athletic contests which will be held in the First Regiment armory the evening of April 25. Arrangements are being made as regards the seating capacity of the building to accommodate a record attendance. It is anticipated that this will be the largest attended of the functions of the anniversary celebration.

It will be an exhaustive demonstration of the type of physical education for which the association stands, in which scientific body building is the aim and purpose. There will be drills, games and athletic contests, both for men and boys. To the victors in the various contests gold medals will be awarded. Other prizes are offered for excellence in special lines, and very participant will receive a souvenir medal.

Details of Program.

The exercises will open with a band concert at 7:30 o'clock, and half an hour later several hundred boys, members of the Central, West Side, Wilson Avenue, and Hyde Park departments, will take the floor. Free drills will be followed by maze running, which will be accompanied by music. Two simultaneous basketball games then will be played in two periods of five minutes each. This will be followed by a relay race, in which eight boys from each department will be entered.

At 9 o'clock an exhibition of gymnastic dancing will be given, and then there will be men's drills and exercises with apparatus. Wrestling contests are scheduled for 9:50 o'clock and these will be going on in many parts of the inclosure, while on the center mat demonstrations of holds, breaks, stops, and falls will be given. Tumbling, pyramid work, and fencing will follow the contests of the wrestlers, then the exhibition will be brought to a spectacular close by a series of interdepartment contests. These will consist of entries in a 40 yard dash, a running high jump, a running high dive, and a one mile race. An interdepartment relay race will be the closing feature.

Selecting the Entrants.

Preparations for the drills and contests are going on in the Y. M. C. A. physical departments and selections of the entrants from each department will be made soon. The plan is to give prominence to the scheme of physical education being worked out day in and day out in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. During the last year the total participations in athletic events was 2,200. There were 92,000 participations in the regular physical work.

The association maintains four gymnasiums equipped with modern apparatus; it has bowling alleys and ball courts; it devotes large floor areas to running track for group and squad work, as well as for group games, for basketball and indoor baseball.

SUE TO PREVENT SIGNBOARDS.

Occupants of Buildings in Sheridan Road and Clarendon Avenue Ask Injunction.

H. P. Halle, M. C. Toole, Anna Kaehler, and E. H. Gordon, in a petition filed in the Circuit court yesterday, ask that Charles G. Drueck be enjoined from leasing space for advertising on buildings occupied by them in Sheridan road and Clarendon avenue. The places were leased by the defendant to the complainants for stores, and at the time, it is averred, there was an agreement that nothing should be done by either that would tend to deterioration of the appearance of the structures.

CROWDS ON STOCKYARDS LINE OF THE SOUTH SIDE ELEVATED.

Opening of New Branch Attracts 25,000 Passengers During the Day on the Road to Packingtown.

There was a general celebration in the stock yards yesterday—the occasion being the opening of the new branch of the South Side Elevated railroad.

Judging from the first day, when approximately 25,000 persons were carried from 5:12 o'clock a. m., when the guard on the South Side "L" announced for the first time, "Change cars here for the Union stock yards and Kenwood" at Indiana avenue and Fortieth street until the night rush from the yards had been attended to, the new branch was voted a success, especially from a stock yards standpoint.

Many of the livestock men took advantage of the fact that they could get on at Exchange, the first stop at the yards proper, and make a trip around the loop through the yards for only one fare.

After their trip the dealers were unanimous in the opinion that the ride was worth the money and said that it had the 5 cent twenty mile ride beat and that 5 cent theaters were not in it. This phase of the situation appealed to many and is expected to bring many visitors to the yards.

PLAN BUILDING OF INFIRMARY.

President Busse of County Board Issues Call for Committee Meeting Tomorrow Noon.

The committee on the new Cook county infirmary will meet tomorrow noon. President William Busse of the county board issued a call for the meeting yesterday. This action is a result of the indorsement at the elections Tuesday of the proposed issue of $2,000,000 bonds for the construction of new buildings on the $25,000 site purchased a few months ago. The first action, according to Mr. Busse, will be the selection of an architect.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially, and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy, and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

WHEAT RECOVERS BIG LOSS

Sharp Rise Follows Break to New Low Level for Crop Year.

CORN SHOWS MUCH STRENGTH

Offerings of Coarse Grain Are Tight Despite Brisk Upturn.

Wheat values indulged in exciting speculative acrobatics yesterday, happenings in the arena being unusually active and much more interesting than for a long time. An enormous amount of business was done, although the character of trade was almost entirely professional. Prices covered a range of 2¼c, early displaying marked weakness, with a burst of strength in the final hour. Soon after the opening gong the May price was hammered down to 89c, or 1½c under the previous low mark for the crop year. The nearby future was the principal object of interest, it showing the pronounced firmness in the late operations. Final quotations, within ⅛c of the session's top, represented ⅝@⅞c higher for May, unchanged for July, and ⅛c easier for September.

Weakness in Early Trading.

An early decline of about 1½c was based principally on general rains in winter wheat territory, continued sluggishness of the cash markets, a mass of glowing crop advices from all the important sections of the belt, and heaviness of foreign markets. The break, however, was of short duration, heavy and general covering by shorts lifting values out of the dumps and starting them on the trip upward. For a long time the market moved within narrow limits, prices not being far away from the Monday finish at any time. The harder spots witnessed realizing by scattered longs and considerable selling by shorts who early had pocketed profits and who figured that the strength could not last. The late upturn came with a suddenness that shocked the shorts and started a general rush for shelter. Offerings on the bulge were much lighter than those on the early decline.

Elevator Concerns Support May.

The May received its soundest support from elevator interests, who sold the deferred months against purchases of it. The Armour people took on an enormous amount of the May, much more than was handed out of the July, which, according to pit detectives, also received some support from them. The steadiness with which the big elevator concerns have been buying the May against sales of the July and September has aroused much uneasiness in the ranks of the general trade, and yesterday the air was full of all kinds of guesses as to the purport of this class of trading.

April Report About as Expected.

The government's April report on the condition of winter wheat was about what the conservative element had expected, showing a condition of 91.3, against 91.1 last December. The more rabid pessimists, however, had looked for a still better showing. On the basis popularly used in computation the statement indicated a yield of about 482,000,000 bu. B. Frank Howard figured out about 494,000,000 bu. The yield last year was approximately 409,000,000 bu.

While the more important sections of the west and southwest reported beneficial rains, the western counties of Kansas still complained of drought, wiring that the plant was losing color and halting in growth. Some of the advices from those counties bordered on the alarming. Parts of Nebraska also pictured a situation far from satisfactory. Temperatures in the domestic northwest were low enough to check seeding operations in some parts, but the weather in Alberta province was warmer, with seeding progressing favorably. Snow and ice prevailed in that province up to May 1 last year.

Primary Arrivals Continue Light.

Primary receipts continued to run light, but the trade apparently paid little attention to them. Duluth and Minneapolis had 383 cars, against 977 cars the corresponding day last year. Primary arrivals aggregated only 642,000 bu for two days, compared to 1,239,000 bu for the corresponding period in 1907. The two leading southwestern markets had 93,000 bu for two days, against 177,000 bu a year ago. Clearances at the seaboard were 474,000 bu, wheat and flour.

The recent break improved the cash demand some, although the improvement was not what had been expected. Some of the late covering by the more timid shorts was prompted by the export sale at New York of about 100,000 bu red winter, durum, and low grade Manitobas. St. Louis reported fair sales of wheat to Texas millers, and Kansas City noted a little better call from interior flourmakers. Advices from Minneapolis indicated no improvement in the painfully quiet demand for flour. Closing prices abroad showed net declines of 1¼@1½d at Liverpool, 1c at Paris, 2⅞c at Berlin, 1¼c at Budapest, and 1@1¼c at Buenos Ayres. Antwerp wound up unchanged. Cargoes off the English coast were offered at declines of 1½d to 3d, with the demand dull.

Pronounced Strength in Maize.

After selling a little lower in the first few minutes, largely in sympathy with the sharp break in wheat, corn values materially improved their position. The market was as tight as a drum, the congested condition being much more apparent. Prices responded readily to the slightest buying, and the least effort on the part of the shorts to cover was a stimulant to the market. Offerings were tightly held throughout, even the hardest spots failing to bring out much. Sentiment was strongly bullish, and the big leaders in the campaign seem to have easier sailing than at any time in the past. The more rabid optimists are going so far as to see close to 75c a bu before the May delivery becomes a matter of history. Final pit quotations represented net advances of ⅝@1c for May and ⅛@⅝c for July and September. Although business at the sample tables was not active, prices for the cash article showed materially higher for the better grades.

Private Elevators Are Active.

Bears pointed to the activity of private elevators in turing out contract grain. The out inspection over the holiday showed 135 cars of contract, 126 of which was No. 2. Local receipts were 289 cars, of which 84 graded contract, against 281 expected, and 153 received the corresponding day last year. Primary arrivals aggregated 751,000 bu for two days, compared to 1,176,000 bu for the similar period in 1907. Seaboard clearances were much more liberal, at 347,000 bu. Shipments hence were 376,000 bu. Plowing of corn land is progressing satisfactorily, weather generally being favorable for breaking the soil. Acceptances of bids sent to the country over the holiday brought few responses, farmers evidently being too busy and too bullish to sell freely at prevailing prices. Estimated local receipts for today were 210 cars. Liverpool closed ⅛d easier.

Oats Recover Early Declines.

In the early trading oats values lost ⅛@¼c on selling, prompted largely by excellent seeding results, favorable progress of the early sown grain, generally optimistic crop advices from the principal producing localities, generous receipts, and the desire of some of the fatigued longs to reduce their holdings. When the other grains began to strengthen, however, oats presented a bolder front, recovering all the loss and winding up unchanged to ⅛c over the Monday finish. Early selling was directed against the new crop futures principally, although floor longs sold rather liberally of the May. Some of the pitsters discerned quiet unloading of the nearby future by the leading longs.

Arrivals here were 311 cars, against 304 expected, and 141 received the similar day last year. Primary arrivals were 1,109,000 bu for a brace of days, compared to 1,342,000 for the corresponding period last year. Clearances were light, at 2,000 bu. Business at the sample tables was light, the better grades ruling a little firmer and the poorer stuff showing weakness. Offerings were made up largely of the lower grade grain.

Rye Mart Rules Steady.

Rye was quiet and steady. The government made the condition of rye 89.1, against a condition of 92 a year ago. Receipts were nil. No. 2 free on board was quoted 76@78c; No. 3, 70@74c; No. 4, 63@70c.

Barley was steady at recent prices. Feed was quoted 65@68c; malting, 70@85c; screenings, 40@67c. Receipts were 69 cars.

Flaxseed was 1c higher. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.18; No. 1 from the northwest, $1.16½; No. 1 southwestern, $1.07.

Timothy seed was dull and featureless. Contract was quoted $4.60, and country lots, $3.00@4.25.

Clover seed was called steady, with contract $22.50 and cash seed $13.00@20.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

The April government report, which was issued yesterday at 10 o'clock, was about the same as had been expected, showing a condition of 91.3, compared to 89.9 a year ago. The crop suggested by the condition given, using a par of 17¼ bu to the acre, is 493,898,000 bu, against an indicated yield a year ago of 484,000,000 bu. The promise last year was reduced by the June report to 77.4, which suggested a yield of 370,000,000 bu, but this was again raised at harvest, when the final report placed the crop at 409,434,000 bu. The average April 1 condition for the last ten years is 86.2. The report caused little excitement on the floor, the figures bearing out the expectation of a moderately improved condition, although it is unusual to have the December condition raised the following April. This has happened only a few times, but the last winter has been favorable in every way for the growing wheat plant. The trade as a rule does not consider the April report seriously at the best, as the crop outlook at this time is hard to ascertain, and there is too much room for changes in the situation during the next few months before the wheat reaches maturity. About the only surprising thing about the report was the enormous crop suggested for Kansas. With a condition of 95 and an area of 5,930,000 acres the total yield indicated is 106,740,000 bu. This compares with a total yield last year of 65,600,000 bu. The condition of winter rye was estimated at 89.1, against 92 a year ago. The following table gives the wheat acreage by states, indicated yields, and condition on April 1, 1908, April 1, 1907, and at harvest:

"From a milling standpoint we think the Argentine oats recently contracted for will prove superior to the domestic article," said James C. Murray of the Quaker Oats company, who was back from a business trip in the east. "We bought several small lots and are figuring on some good sized round lots, but these have not been closed yet. The oats were bought on the basis of 53¼c c. i. f. New York, duty paid. More Argentine oats are available at this figure, and if prices hold around the present level or higher undoubtedly quite a few oats will be imported. Several other parties in the east are figuring on importations. Trade conditions in the east are quiet, but dealers are expecting a better trade soon. The flour trade is especially light and consumption of nearly every grain is being much restricted on account of high prices. In regard to the Argentine oats, our experiments have proved satisfactory. The oats weigh about 36 lbs and are of the yellow variety. It would be an easy matter to engage two or three million bushels if prices here warrant. Our advices from the country do not indicate that the farmers' oats bins have been swept out yet. The farmers, as a rule, have been bullish and I do not think they have marketed closely, as our advices are about normal for this time of year."

The decrease during march equaled 4,738,000 bu, compared with an increase of 6,923,000 bu during February, and a decrease of 7,090,000 bu during March, 1907.

A little better inquiry was reported for cash wheat on the break, but sales were not large, and the demand was not at all urgent. Millers continue bearish in their views, and are not inclined to purchase heavily, as long as crop advices are as favorable as at present. Kansas City reported the highest premium for No. 2 hard, so far on the crop, that grade selling at 96c, or 10c over its May delivery. Sales were moderate. St. Louis had a better inquiry and sold 75,000 bu. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 25,000 bu for three days. No. 1 northern was 1½@2c over the May, with millers moderate buyers. The flour trade was slow in the northwest as well as elsewhere. No demand to speak of was reported at the seaboard, but 50,000 bu No. 2 red winter were reported sold for export, with 25,000 bu each of Manitoba wheat and Duluth spring wheat. Cash corn was ½@1c up, with fair sales. Offerings were light. Kansas wired Wagner that there was a big demand for corn there and that half of their stock would be shipped out this week. Oats here were steady to ½c lower. Eastern firms were bidding more freely for oats here, but were trying to get concessions in prices. Local sales were 55,000 bu wheat, mostly No. 2 red winter, 110,000 bu corn, and 125,000 bu oats.

Buying of May and selling of July was the main feature in the trade in wheat. Armour & Co. were credited with buying about 2,000,000 bu May and selling July, and some estimates were above this figure. Their own brokers were doing considerable of this changing, and Clement-Curtis were doing the same kind of changing, which was credited to the Armour concern. Peavey changed about 600,000 bu from 4¼c to 4⅝c difference, and Canby also bought the May and sold the July. Chapin, Gillett, Barrell, Pringle, and J. Rosenbaum were good buyers of the May. Selling was scattered, except at the start, when nearly every commission house in the trade had selling orders. Bartlett-Frazier, Knight-McDougal, Barrell, and Wagner were the leading buyers of corn. Wagner and Buckley sold on the advance. Buying was principally of the May, which was relatively stronger than the other options. Buckley, Bartlett-Frazier, Peavey, Shearson-Hammill, and shorts bought oats. Selling was scattered. The Cudahy Packing company bought a little lard, and Schwarz, Hately, and commission houses bought moderately. Offerings were light.

About the only dissenting message in a large number of generally optimistic crop reports from the southwest was one from P. S. Goodman, the special crop correspondent of Clement-Curtis, who wired from La Crosse, Kas.: "Dry weather and high winds impairing wheat prospects. The western third of Kansas is damaged 15 to 30 per cent. Went over Barton, Rush, Lane, Ness, and Scott counties the last two days and found surprisingly bad conditions. Weather cold, no rain." Ware-Leland had a message from Salina, Kas., saying there had been no rains west of that place. Another message to the same house from Olathe, Kas., said: "Heavy atmosphere this morning. Looks like rain. Plenty of moisture here and crop looks good. Pastures well advanced." George M. Le Count wired Barrell: "Wheat looking splendid. Plenty moisture. Weather favorable."

The Northern Grain company has discontinued the commission part of its business. This is done in order that it may devote all of its attention to its elevators and cash grain interests. It yesterday transferred all of its open commission trades to Pringle, Fitch & Rankin. The Northern Grain company operates the Great Northern elevator at Minneapolis, with a million and a half bushels in capacity; also its elevators at Manitowoc, with a capacity of 3,000,000 bu, and also operates a line of seventy-five country elevators located throughout the west.

The members of the state railroad and warehouse commission will hold a meeting at the office of the commissioners at the state inspection office in the Continental National Bank building this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Members of the board of trade and those interested in the general question of inspection and other matters pertaining to the trade are invited to be present. It is understood that the McCumber bill providing for federal grain inspection will be discussed.

Sales on the call were: Corn—No. 3 white, May (by the 15th), 1,000 bu at 66c Illinois proportional. Oats—No. 3 white, April, 26,500 bu at 51c transmississippi; No. 3 white, May (by the 15th), 1,500 bu at 50⅝c transmississippi. Wheat—No. 2 hard, April, 1,000 bu at 95½c Illinois proportional.

Sales of barley from Russia are increasing sharply. During the greater part of the year this country has not been a free seller of this grain, but during the last week or so offerings have increased and Russian exporters have been selling it right and left in European markets.

Assistant Vice Consul St. Laurent of the French consular office at New York, with Mr. Tienet, a French merchant of Algiers, were guests of Z. P. Brosseau here yesterday. They are on a tour of this country investigating commercial conditions.

The Kansas wheat crop this year promises to break all records, the condition of 95 on an acreage of 5,930,000 acres suggesting a yield of 106,740,000 bu. The increase in the acreage was unexpectedly large.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, 1¼@1½d off; Paris, 1c off; Berlin, 2⅞c lower; Budapest, 1¼c off; Antwerp, steady; Buenos Ayres, 1@1¼c lower.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 19 cars; corn, 210 cars; oats, 236 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 61 cars; hogs, 24,000.

W. C. Comstock was back yesterday from Florida, where he had been for several weeks.

Winnipeg received 121 cars of wheat, against 58 cars a year ago.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, April 8.—That the consumptive demand for dressed meats has been badly crippled by the recent advances in values, was amply illustrated in the orders for all live stock and, despite disappointing arrivals, the entire list showed declines of 10@25c at the close. In cattle a fresh supply of 1,600 proved ample, whereas a like run two weeks ago would have sent prices soaring. Shippers and exporters were in the market early and for a time it looked as though prime steers would sell at firm to a shade higher prices, but they did not prove to be as aggressive buyers as expected, and the market turned weak soon after a steady opening, and at the finish prices were 10c lower than on Tuesday. The best steers offered topped at $7.25, against $7.20 on Monday, but there was only one load at that figure, with few sales at about $7.00. Hogs topped at $6.15 early in the day, weakened until they were 15c off from Tuesday, and then rallied slightly and finished at about the early level, or 10c under Tuesday's best time. Sheep declined 10@15c, and lambs were off 15@25c. It was strictly a buyers' market in the bovine department and even at the reduced prices an unsatisfactory clearance was effected.

CATTLE.

A short flurry at the opening was followed by a weak, draggy market, and although early sales reached a steady level, at the finish 10c declines were recorded in every department. Shippers and exporters had a few orders and packers were in the market for whatever they could get at reduced prices, but all classes of buyers seemed to have plenty of time and paid as much attention to the new elevated trains as they did to the supply of cattle brought in for their special benefit. Best steers offered were taken by Doud & Keefer at $7.25, and a few lots sold at $7.00@7.15. The bulk of the most desirable offerings sold from $6.75@7.00, and prime yearlings made $7.05. Shippers paid $5.80@6.50 for suitable offerings. Cows and heifers sold at strong to a shade higher prices early, with prime spayed heifers topping at $6.75 to Swift & Co. Other choice heifers made $6.00@6.25. Morris bought the best cows offered at $5.90, and the bulk of the good cows and heifers sold at $4.40@5.15. After the cream of the offerings had been taken the market weakened and closed 10c under the best time of the day. Butcher bulls were firmly held, but bolognas had a hard time making steady prices. Calves were uneven, sales being up to $7.00 early and $6.00@6.25 taking the bulk of the strictly good kinds at the close. Good feeders were 10c higher, sales being up to $4.90. Canners and cutters, weak and easy. Quotations:

Good to prime fat steers	$6.50@7.25
Fair to good steers	5.90@6.50
Common to fair steers	5.00@5.90
Canners and cutters	1.50@3.25

Cattle at six western markets, 33,600, against 37,000 a week ago, 32,800 a year ago, and 37,900 two years ago. Total for 1908 to date, 2,113,000, against 2,339,000 the same period in 1907.

HOGS.

Shippers opened the market with purchases of light weight hogs at $6.10@6.15, or about 10c under Tuesday's level, but their orders were of a limited number, and when packers had their inning $6.00@6.05 took the bulk of the desirable hogs. The fresh supply of between 25,000 to 26,000 was not burdensome, but with 6,511 left over from Tuesday offerings were plentiful. Packers paid $5.90@5.95 for assorted lots, and were good buyers at that level, Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. taking 2,500 each, while Schwarzschild & Sulzberger led the list with purchases of 2,800. Shippers bought about 10,000, and the close was strong, with only about 4,000 left over, and these mostly of an undesirable quality. Little change was made in the pig department, 120 to 130 pounders clearing at $5.40@5.65, and lightweights, 100 lbs and under, at $4.50@5.00. Considering the light receipts, the quality of the hogs received was exceptionally good, and all weights sold within a narrow margin, with packers paying $6.00 and over for numerous lots. Quotations:

Bulk of sales	5.95@6.10
Selected butchers	6.05@6.15
Fair to good butchers	6.00@6.10

Average price of hogs at Chicago, $6.01, against $6.09 Tuesday, $6.02½ a week ago, $6.72½ a year ago, and $6.47½ two years ago.

Eleven markets received 76,800 hogs, against 82,100 a week ago, 81,600 a year ago, and 67,100 two years ago. Total for 1908 to date, 9,517,000, against 7,051,000 the same period in 1907.

Hog purchases for the day follow: Armour & Co., 2,500; Swift & Co., 2,500; Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, 2,800; Anglo-American, 2,000; Boore & Co., 700; Boyd-Lunham, 900; Hammond, 1,700; Roberts & Oake, 350; Morris & Co., 1,500; Western Packing company, 1,500; butchers, 800; shippers, 10,000; total, 27,250; left over, 4,000.

SHEEP.

Receipts were 14,000 and consisted largely of wool lambs, which led packers to make a concentrated effort to force a sharp break in this department, and at the finish losses of 25c were recorded in some instances, while declines of 15c were numerous. Trade dragged all day and many of the packers did not appear in the market before noon. Best Colorado wooled lambs sold to a shipper at $7.65, but the bulk of the strictly fancy offerings sold at $7.60, both local and outside buyers paying that price. Good quality lambs went over the scales at $7.30@7.55. Clipped lambs topped at $7.35, but the bulk of the choice clippers was disposed of at $7.00@7.25. A consignment of spring lambs and ewes from Kentucky were on the market. The ewes sold at $6.50, while buyers wanted the lambs at about the same level as the Colorado lambs were selling and holders put them under cover. Sheep were largely 10@15c lower, with shorn western wethers at $6.10@6.80; yearlings, $6.65; and yearlings and wethers mixed, $6.50@6.65. Colorado wooled wethers topped at $6.65 and yearlings at $7.15. The quality of the offerings continues of high standard, and traders said at the close that there were more desirable sheep on the market than the demand required. Quotations:

Fed western wethers	$6.00@6.90
Clipped wethers	5.65@6.65

Receipts for April 9 are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 19,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 4,299 cattle, 15,646 hogs, and 14,757 sheep for Thursday, April 11, 1907.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

The Farmers and Drovers' Journal's British cablegram on foreign markets for dressed beef said: "New high spots for the last four years were made in the London beef trade. American beeves selling up to 14c per lb., the highest price since 1904. Liverpool prices were ¼c higher than Monday, sales being at 13@14c, against 12¼@13¼c a week ago."

Average price of hogs, $6.01, was the lowest average in ten days.

Although the London market for American beeves is at the highest point since 1904, it is evident that it is still out of line with cattle that cost $6.50@6.75 here. Exporters were moderate buyers of cattle here and have been taking hold sparingly all week, many of them preferring the sacrifice of contracted ocean room than pay the high prices.

A falling off in the shipping demand for hogs has given packers better control over the market, and much higher prices are not looked for just at present. Receipts so far this week are about 10,000 head less than for the same period a week ago, but the number of hogs shipped out so far shows a decrease of more than 8,000 head. This circumstance, with the fact that packers have no urgent orders from their fresh pork trade, has led the killers to make energetic efforts to break prices, and trades are commencing to feel gratified when they succeed in getting $6 or more for their stock.

J. Frandsen of Battle Creek, Ia., had a drove of 51 hogs on the market, which, although only 11 months old, weighed 341 lbs. Mr. Frandsen secured $6.02½ for his hogs, which left him a pretty good margin or profit for his trouble in feeding them.

Packers had about 2,400 hogs from outside markets. Armour & Co. received 500 from St. Paul, Anglo-American company had 1,300 from Milwaukee, and Hammond & Co. received 600 from the latter market.

North's prime butcher hogs cost $6.00@6.05, Schwarzschild & Sulzberger paid the same, Boyd-Lunham put up a drove of butchers at $6.05, and Anglo-American paid $5.95 for light weights.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

More active support from outsiders, less pressure from speculative longs and packers, and the strong tone to corn were factors foremost in bolstering the general provision list. There was some effort in the early trading to weaken the market, but the softer spots witnessed such eagerness on the part of the trade to absorb that offerings quickly dried up. Closing prices, which represented the session's top, showed net gains of 17½c for pork, 10c for lard, and 5@7½c for ribs. The Cudahy Packing company was credited with taking a fair amount of lard, and some of the western packers who recently have been sellers were accounted moderate buyers. All of the leading commission houses had buying orders to execute on breaks, and general sentiment appeared to be veering more to the bull side, although few on the floor are looking for much of an improvement in prices at this time.

Some of the market observers believe that there will be a shortage of beef and mutton before the year is ended, and they expect the general demand to be sufficient to take care of the huge holding of hog products at the principal distributing centers. Farmers are said to have "cleaned up" nicely on the recent sharp upturn in hog products, and they are now buying back on the recessions. Many of the advices received from the country indicate that the movement of hogs from now on will not be burdensomely heavy, and this expectation, with the ruling lightness of weight of animals received, is a strong argument advanced by the market optimists. The western run of swine was 72,000, against 81,000 the preceding Wednesday and 70,300 the similar day in 1907. Shipments of meats hence for forty-eight hours were 4,514,000 lbs, against 5,433,000 lbs the corresponding time last year; lard, 2,963,000 lbs, compared to 3,277,000 lbs a year ago. Liverpool was unchanged to 1s off for bacon, 1s lower for hams, and 3d higher for lard.

Chicago Horse Market.

Country requirements for farm chunks and lightweight horses have been supplied and the inquiry from that quarter has been reduced. There are numerous orders on the market for heavy horses suitable for commercial purposes, ice companies having representatives in the market looking for desirable sorts, and orders for cavalry mounts are to be filled, which keep the volume of trade of good proportions and maintain the level of prices. More liberal orders for heavy feeders also have been received, and the trade in this branch is more active. Drafters range from $175 to $225 for heavyweights and $125 to $200 for lighter sorts. Farm mares and chunks sell at $100@150; heavy feeders, $160@215; expressers, $150@200; cavalry horses, $125@150; carriage pairs, $225@675; and actors and coachers, $125@350. Receipts, 400.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Reports of extensive damage to the California fruit crop by frost resulted in vigorous ordering of canned fruits for future delivery and strengthened the market for all kinds of dried fruits, so that the downward tendency of prices has disappeared and been replaced by anticipations of higher prices should future advices confirm the reports of crop losses. Opening prices on sardines for the coming season were given out to the trade and show about 10 per cent higher than the initial values a year ago. The flour market is in a precarious position and lower values are expected.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Weakness in the market for raw sugar has not been reflected in prices for refined goods, and the market continues strong and active at full prices. Following are the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb. lots: Granulated, beet and cane, $5.47@5.57; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.30; standard powdered, $5.70; canary, $4.68; extra C, $5.18; chemically pure milk sugar, 18c per lb, in brl lots.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points in response to steady cables. Total sales were reported of 51,500 bags. Spot quiet; No. 7 Rio, 6c; Santos, No. 4, 8⅝@8½c; mild coffee dull; Cordova, 9⅝@13c. Quotations on futures:

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Active buying by consumers has been reflected in the increased interest evinced by retailers in the market for all seasonable goods, and, although the weather has not been as desirable as merchants expected, the few days of warm, sunny weather disclosed such energetic buying by the trade that dealers have no apprehension concerning the future, and are making no special effort to rush the trade along, as they feel that business so far this season warrants anticipations of an immense spring and summer trade.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The dry goods market was generally quiet and unchanged for the day. An auction sale of 2,500 pieces of silk was well attended, and the goods were disposed of at fair prices. Underwear and hosiery in the primary markets continue quiet, as jobbers are still restricting their orders. The mail reports of business from the large centers show a continuance of the buying only for immediate needs.

Oils.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Following is the latest from Lenders & Co. of London on the foreign linseed situation: "There is practically no change in linseed prices since our last review. Meanwhile arrivals have been heavy and the large quantity afloat is gradually getting into consumers' hands. Notwithstanding this seed has been pressingly offered by nearly all the large shippers, and contrary to expectations a large business has been done, some thousands of tons having been sold daily to the chief continental ports. This, in face of the heavy arrivals, seems to show that the price of linseed must be on a fairly safe level, as a further decline was looked for as soon as the heavy shipments began to get into consumers' hands. On the contrary, however, we find seed still pressingly offered and prices well maintained. Of course we have had absolutely no support from India, where the seed is firmly held and at prices far above European values. Whether we may expect later on pressure of new Calcutta seeds remains to be seen, and a great deal will, of course, depend on the position that they take up."

Conditions in the local oil market show no notable change. The demand for paint oils continues brisk, the country ordering more freely. MINING STOCKS

Gold stocks are showing relatively greater strength than the Coppers, Black Mountain, Goldfield Consolidated, Florence Mining all strong under good buying.

The condition on leading Coppers is very strong. Apathetic sentiment for the past two weeks has led to a considerable short interest, and we advise purchase Utah Consolidated, Copper Range, Calumet & Arizona, North Butte and Amalgamated at present prices.

Crop Outlook and Erie Situation Are Factors.

Little Change in Money Status as Result of Developments.

[FROM THE NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—The chief influences at work upon sentiment and in control of prices on the stock exchange today came more from the Erie situation and from the government's April report on the condition of the winter wheat crop. Expectations of a favorable crop showing have had much to do with the strength of the market for several days and today forecasts of this nature were borne out by the document itself with its condition figure of 91.3, against 89.9 a year ago and a ten year average at this time of 86.2.

While the general feeling that the Erie's financial plans would go through without a hitch this was not officially confirmed before the close of the stock market. There were, however, a number of happenings which pointed so strongly in this direction. Maturing Erie notes after selling in the curb market at 89 in the forenoon rushed up just before the close of trading to 97 and $100,000 worth of the securities changed hands at this price.

Exchange Notes for Cash.

This sensational advance was enough in itself to indicate the success of the plan, but in addition to this it became known that holders of notes unwilling to exchange for the new issue had been invited to present their holdings and had received cash through measures put into effect by Mr. Harriman. With this assistance on the financial side the operating department of the Erie, having already effected large economies in operation, is confident of weathering the present business depression.

As regards the April crop report, the indications from today's condition figures are for a yield of some 494,000,000 bu, and this susceptible of a diminution of 85,000,000 bu before it falls below the actual harvest of last year. It is an important fact in connection with the report that the surplus states hold an exceptionally strong position, the area producing over 60 per cent of last year's yield showing a percentage well above 90.

Metal Situation Factor.

Other matters to which attention was directed during the day include a further reduction in the price of copper metal and statistics of pig iron production for the month of March, the output being 1,228,204 tons, as compared with 1,077,740 tons in February, a short month. At the opening of April, however, the weekly capacity was nearly 2,000 tons under that of March 1. The stock market closed firm after a day of light business.

Money rates underwent practically no change, while foreign exchange crept up an additional five points. Paris exchange on London rested at the level of the previous day, and all the important European markets displayed strength. One of the causes for the firmness in London was the successful offering of $13,750,000 of London county 3½ per cent bonds, late cables reporting that this issue had been subscribed for ten times over.

Money on call easy, 1¼@1¾ per cent; ruling rate, 1¾; closing bid, 1½, offered at 1½. Time loans steady; sixty days, 3 per cent; ninety days, 3@3¼ per cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4½@5¼ per cent. Sterling exchange firmer, with actual business in bankers' bill at 4.8655@4.8660 for demand and at 4.8415@4.8420 for sixty day bills. Commercial bills, 4.83⅞. Bar silver, 54⅝c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, April 8.—The better tone prevailing at yesterday's close was fully maintained on the stock exchange today. The reinvesting of dividend money resulted in an improvement in home rails and other first class securities, while more cheerful advices from Paris assisted foreigners and Kaffirs. The settlement is progressing easily. American shares were carried over at from 2½@3½ per cent. The dealings in American railroads were narrow, but the tone was firm in anticipation of a favorable crop report, while rumors of a favorable settlement of the affairs of the Erie railroad helped the cheerfulness in the forenoon.

REVIEW OF METAL TRADES.

Manufacturers of Steel and Iron Favor Maintenance of Present Prices—Furnace Output Reduced.

NEW YORK, April 8.—[Special.]—In its review of the metal trades for the week just ended the Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"The feeling among manufacturers of iron and steel is that prices should be maintained, although it is admitted that this is likely to be more difficult during the next few months than during the period after the panic, because merchants and consumers have now worked off stocks purchased at old prices, for which they claimed and got protection.

"The production of pig iron in March was 1,228,204 gross tons, as compared with 1,077,740 tons in February, a short month. Still we entered the month of April with a reduced capacity at work, it being 265,500 tons on April 1, as compared with 267,437 on March 1.

"The iron trade is watching with keen interest and some misgiving as to their success, the efforts being made to bring about greater coöperation among the pig iron manufacturers.

"Outside of a round lot of steel rails for shipment to New South Wales, the week has been barren of new business in the rail trade. New orders for billets are scarce. The outlook for structural material is fair. The trade in iron bars, both east and west, is not in a satisfactory condition, and sharp competition is waging for what little new business is coming up."

NEW YORK BALANCES GROW

Chicago Banks Increasing Credits There $500,000 a Day.

MAY EXTEND OAK PARK "L."

Murry Nelson Jr. Elected President of Canal and Dock.

Chicago banks are increasing their credit balances with New York institutions at the rate of from $500,000 to $700,000 a day. The demand for exchange on New York is greater than the supply, and yesterday the price advanced to 50 cents premium. This is the currency shipping rate, though no reports have been made of the actual transfer of currency.

Banks of Chicago have contributed in large part to the increase in the deposits of New York institutions. The former have been gaining in actual currency from the country this year as against losses last year, and, rather than break the local money market, credits are increased in New York and surplus funds are loaned at call rates prevailing there.

The banks of Chicago are still cautious. They prefer to hold down loans in Chicago and lend on call in New York in order that their resources may be liquidated to the extent of the business done in the east.

Local interest rates rule from 5 to 6 per cent. Commercial paper is offering at a rate of interest which the banks will not accept. Inasmuch as there is no pressure from borrowers and the banks hold out for good rates, there is nothing of consequence doing in brokers' paper.

New President for Canal and Dock.

Directors of the Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock compapny met yesterday and elected the following officers:

President—Murry Nelson Jr.

Vice president—W. J. Watson.

Secretary and treasurer—William A. Rawson

Hopes for Oak Park "L."

The Chicago and Oak Park Elevated railroad management is still planning for the extension of its surface line from Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, to Elmhurst, a distance of five miles.

It is hoped that this extension will turn the tide of the company's revenues to the favorable side. There is not a street railroad property in Chicago that has had as much patience, intelligence, and profitless effort spent upon it as the Oak Park. The original owners failed to make it pay, the Yerkes people failed to make it pay, and Blair & Co. have failed to make it pay. At the present time its earnings are falling below those of one year ago.

Retirement of Bank Notes.

In the April circular of the National City bank attention is called to the volume of bank note circulation retirement. No more than $9,000,000 each month may be canceled. One of the Chicago banks made application as early as last January. The National City bank, which keeps in touch with treasury operations, says that the full $9,000,000 has been reserved for April, and adds:

"The engagements in this respect for May amount to $8,000,000. Reservations for other future months are small. Although the full privilege was engaged for March, a number of the banks at the last moment refrained from making the necessary deposits, with the result that only $4,660,500 in circulation was retired, as against a reservation of $9,000,000.

"It is the intention of the treasury department to give closer scrutiny hereafter to reservations, and all applications from this time on will be acknowledged and filed as usual in the order of their presentation, but special notice will be given to banks making such reservations, and as the law requires a deposit of lawful money for the retirement of circulation, to be accepted in the order of the receipt of deposits, it will be necessary for the banks to make the deposits as promptly as possible during the month for which the reservation is made, as deposits must be given preference over applications to retire circulation unaccompanied by lawful money."

To Close Good Friday.

The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange voted yesterday to close on Good Friday, April 17, and the following Saturday.

Chicago Stocks.

The market for Chicago securities was unusually broad yesterday and trading fairly active. A feature was the transactions in Kansas City Railway and Light common, the price declining from 45 to 42. There was no special news concerning the stock.

Swift & Co. shares were firm, while Street's preferred was inclined to sell off.

In the bond department the friends of Chicago City railway 5s gave them a good advance, the price moving up from 97 to 97⅝. This rise puts the City railway issue ahead of the price of Chicago railways 5s which topped the former on Monday. If the contrast goes on there ought to be a fair profit for some of the early purchasers. There will be plenty of bonds of both issues during the coming three years.

The following were the sales on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday:

HARRIMAN BUYS ERIE SCRIP

$5,500,000 in New Paper of Road Taken by Rail Magnate.

OLD NOTE HOLDERS SAFE.

Morgan Announces They Will Be Paid in Cash if Desired.

New York, April 8.—[Special.]—J. P. Morgan & Co. announced today that the holders of the Erie railroad notes, amounting to $5,500,000, which matured today, would either be paid par in cash for their notes or given the option of taking a new three year 6 per cent note and 5 per cent of the new notes in cash.

This announcement followed the acceptance, by the Erie directors, of an offer by Edward H. Harriman to furnish the funds to meet the obligations of the Erie company by the purchase of a new large issue of notes.

In his letter offering to purchase the new notes, Mr. Harriman required that this offer to the stockholders be made a condition of the transaction. He also stipulated that the payments and deliveries to the stockholders be made out of the cash to be provided or out of the new notes receivable by him.

The directors immediately accepted these terms and authorized Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. to receive and hold and deliver the notes, cash, and collateral involved in the deal.

This was followed by an announcement from J. P. Morgan & Co., as follows:

"We are now prepared to pay to any noteholder presenting notes or our receipts for notes already deposited par for the said notes, or, at the option of the holder, until and including April 15, 1908, to deliver a new three year 6 per cent note and 5 per cent in cash, less accrued interest on the note."

SEEK TO REPEAL FRANCHISE OF "HOT AIR LINE" AT GARY.

Citizens Denounce Interurban Road as Stock Jobbing Scheme and Doubt That Cars Ever Will Run.

Denouncing the Gary and Interurban railroad as a stock jobbing scheme, the Gary Commercial club took steps yesterday to wrest from the company its fifty year franchise in the streets of Gary. This branch has been considered one of the chief assets of the "paper" Chicago and New York "air line."

Fifty citizens of Gary attended the meeting of the Commercial club, and many told what they thought of the railroad in plain language. They said they did not believe the line ever would be built; that if cars were running in three weeks, as had been promised, the route would resemble the "rocky road to Dublin," and that under present conditions the company could induce no one in Lake county to invest a dollar in the enterprise.

A committee of five, including three lawyers, was appointed to investigate the status of the railroad, in connection with the town trustees, and if possible institute legal proceedings for repealing its franchise.

The United States Steel company, which built the town of Gary, is opposed to the street railway and at a meeting of the town trustees Attorney Kemper K. Knapp, acting for the steel corporation, presented an ordinance repealing the franchise of the line because its cars were not running in the city as provided for in the grant and because its roadbed did not comply with the franchise requirements. The ordinance was tabled.

Pacific Coast Borax Company Acquires Frontage on River.

GUNTHER PURCHASES HOME.

Pays $25,000 for Title to Residence Property in Michigan Avenue.

The Pacific Coast Borax company of Oakland, Cal., has purchased from Frederick R. Babcock the property occupied by it on Lumber street, between Twenty-second street and Twenty-third place. A consideration of $10 is given in the deed, but the actual price is said to be around $125,000. The company secured $90,614 of the purchase money by a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, five years, at 5 per cent. The property has been occupied by the company under a five year lease, which is about to expire, and which contains an option to purchase, which the company has exercised.

The property has a northwest frontage 226 feet by 314 feet on the east line and 249 feet on the west line, and a southeast frontage of 368 feet on the south branch of the river, except the part conveyed to the sanitary district. It lies about 560 feet east of Halsted street, and has a warehouse on the river and several other buildings.

Pays $25,000 for Home.

Charles F. Gunther has purchased from Mrs. Harriet Blair Borland the residence now occupied by him at the southeast corner of Michigan avenue and Thirty-sixth street for $25,000. The house is a three story stone structure containing fifteen rooms and occupies a lot 59x143.7 feet. The property figured in the recent deal between Mrs. Borland and Frederick H. Bartlett & Co., and while acquired by the latter, together with several big flat properties, the conveyance was made direct by Mrs. Borland, title being taken by Jennie B. Gunther, wife of Mr. Gunther.

Julius Heidecke has sold to Margaret A. McManus the property at the northwest corner of Walnut street and Homan avenue, 50x129 feet, with brick improvements, for $22,500.

Buys Residence Property.

Samuel L. Weber has bought from Benjamin Mason Jr. the residence property at 4836 Grand boulevard, with 24x150 feet of ground, east front, for $17,500.

Anton A. Jankowski has sold to Hattie K. Straus the property in Central Park avenue, 170 feet south of School street, 30x125 feet, east front, with brick improvements, and other property, for a nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $18,000.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $25,000, five years, at 5½ per cent, to Ole H. Kolseth, on the property at the northwest corner of Humboldt boulevard and Whipple street, 60x141 feet.

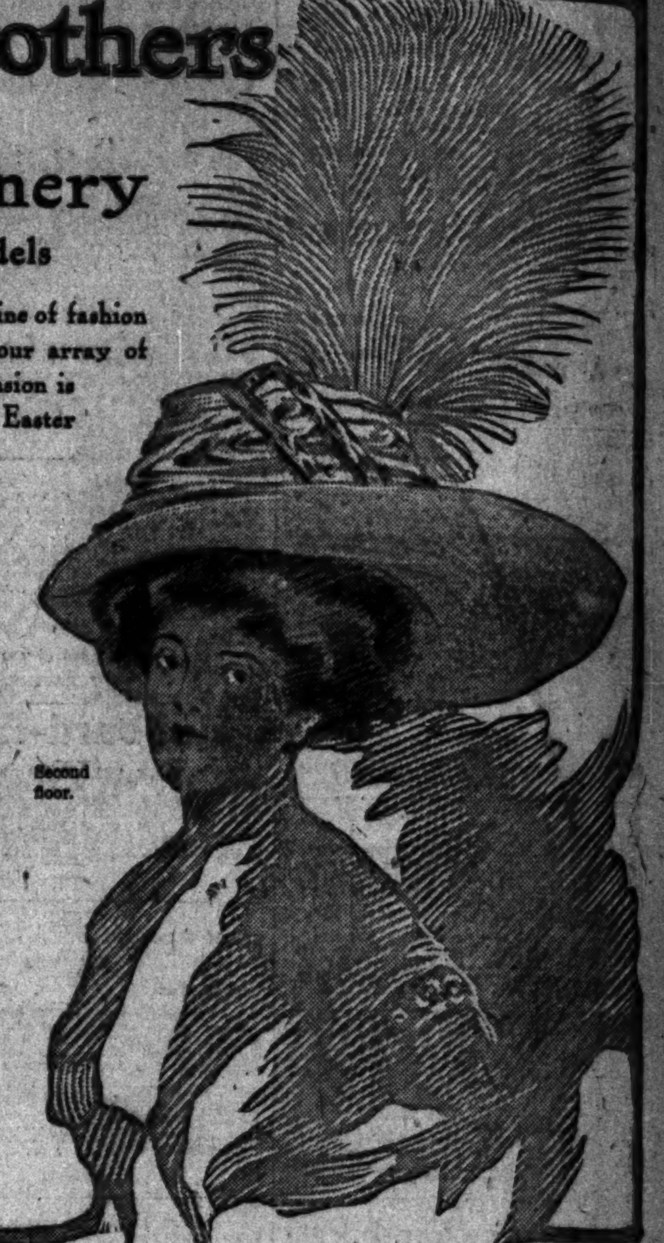
Mandel Brothers



Easter millinery

Typical foreign models

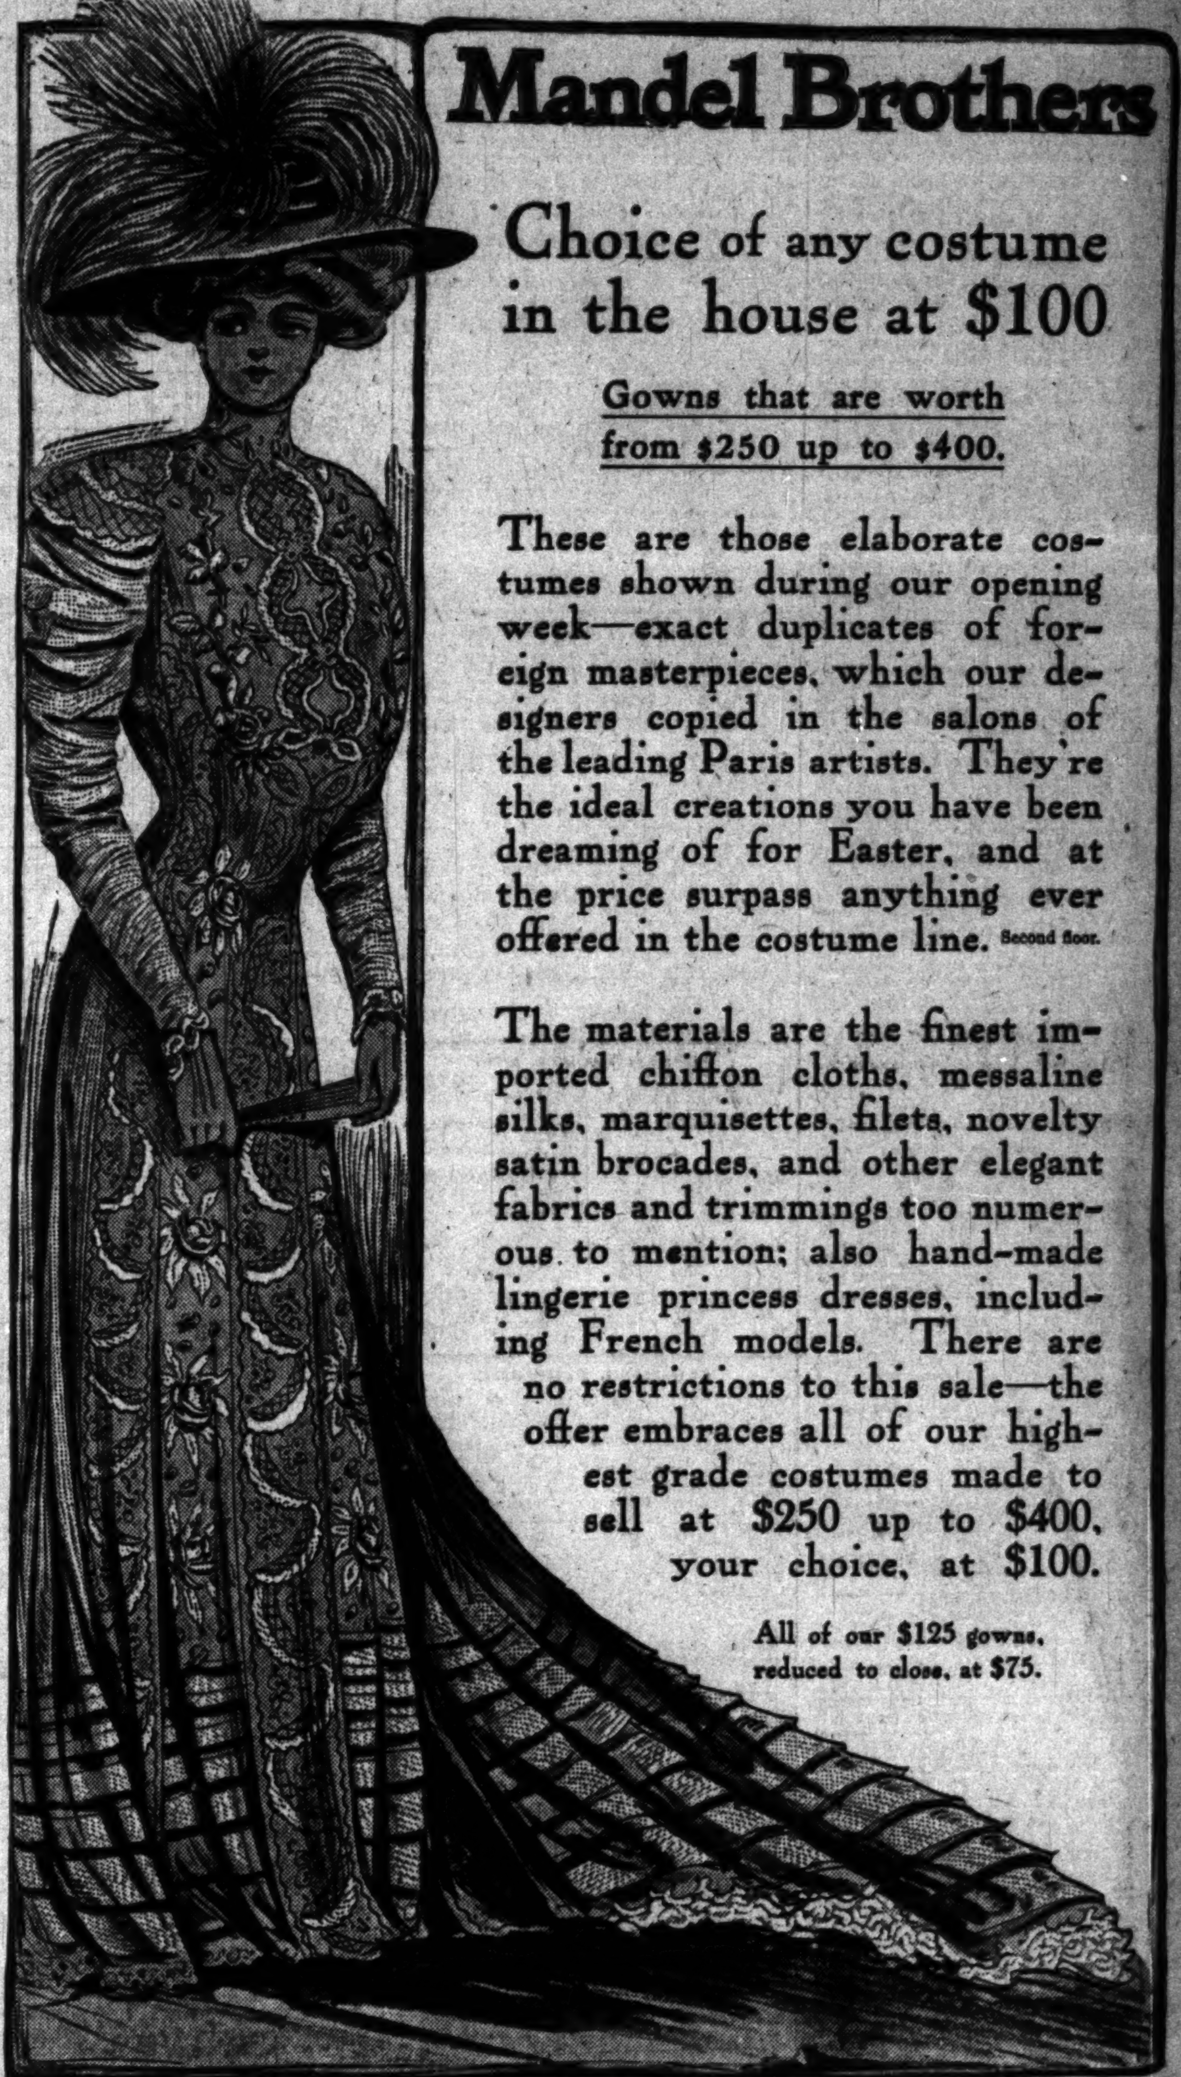
Those who pay their homage at the shrine of fashion will take pleasure in looking over our array of imported models. On no other occasion is fashion so imperious as during the Easter season, when the question of correct selection must receive an answer.

We have chosen our styles to represent every type of face, including in our display the most ultra Paris conceptions.

The less extreme models enjoy greatest favor, but all hats this season have a tendency to amplitude that is unwise to resist. High crowns and wide brims, with long, sweeping, graceful curves similar to those you see in portraits by the old masters, are the vogue. Plumes, flowers and foliage fairly burden the most approved Easter models. Colorings are rich and beautiful, scintillating opalescent shades predominating.

Second floor.

Mandel Brothers



Choice of any costume in the house at $100

Gowns that are worth from $250 up to $400.

These are those elaborate costumes shown during our opening week—exact duplicates of foreign masterpieces, which our designers copied in the salons of the leading Paris artists. They're the ideal creations you have been dreaming of for Easter, and at the price surpass anything ever offered in the costume line. Second floor.

The materials are the finest imported chiffon cloths, messaline silks, marquisettes, filets, novelty satin brocades, and other elegant fabrics and trimmings too numerous to mention; also hand-made lingerie princess dresses, including French models. There are no restrictions to this sale—the offer embraces all of our highest grade costumes made to sell at $250 up to $400, your choice, at $100.
